

6,000 Mass as Detroit Showdown Nears

District Bill To Transfer Hospitals to Health Board

Shift Provided in 1938 Measure Soon Going to House.

Funds for Center,
Nursing Provided

Recommendation of '29
Preble Report to Be Carried Out.

By Gerald G. Gross.

Transfer of municipal hospitals from the Board of Public Welfare to the Health Department is provided for in the 1938 District supply bill which will be reported to the House in a few days.

This development, fulfilling one of the recommendations of the celebrated Preble report of 1929, was learned yesterday on unimpeachable authority.

The bill culminating many weeks of hearings before the House subcommittee on District Appropriations headed by Representative Ross A. Collins (Democrat), of Mississippi, also gives the National Capital its first health center and grants funds for substantial expansion of the Health Department's food inspection and public nursing division.

By placing Colling Hospital, the Uphur Street Tuberculosis Hospital and the children's tuberculosis sanitarium at Glenn Dale, Md., under the Health Department, the Collins committee would give Washington a consolidated health-hospital system similar to that adopted by St. Louis, Detroit, San Francisco, Milwaukee and numerous other large cities.

Change Often Urged.

Frequently urged since 1929, when such unification was emphatically recommended by Dr. Paul Preble, of the United States Public Health Service, in his report to the House District Committee, the plan would permit a continuity of service to the benefit of the individual and the greater protection of the public against communicable diseases, its sponsors claim.

The switch will be effected simply by delivering hospital appropriations to the Health Department instead of the Board of Public Welfare, with an enabling act to authorize the transfer. The former agency, headed by Dr. George C. Ruhland, will be empowered to maintain the institutions and co-ordinate their activities with those now under its jurisdiction.

An inkling of the proposed reorganization, which received general approval when it was put forth following an exhaustive survey undertaken by the Public Health Service at the request of the now defunct Bureau of Epidemiology, was given by Chairman Collins himself just one month ago.

Collins for Change.

"I can see no reason," he said at that time, "why each establishment as the Tuberculosis and Colling Hospitals should come under the Department of Public Welfare. To me the management of these institutions is clearly a function which should be under the supervision of the District Health Officer's department."

"I don't think there is any question about whether or not we can make such a change. The money ordinarily carried in the appropriation bill for these items under welfare department could be placed easily under the Health Department."

As reported to the House floor.

Continued on Page 5, Column 1.

Demand Is Brisk

As Lee, Jackson

Stamps Go on Sale

Thousands of men and women—those fathers followed either Grant or Lee in the Civil War—yesterday bought stamps bearing the portraits of Gen. Robert E. Lee and "Stonewall" Jackson at the postoffice yesterday.

It mattered not whether sentiments were those of "Johnny Reb" or "Yankee," the sale went on briskly. The picture of Lee cost 4 cents, that of the other general 3 cents, the new Army commemorative stamp. The Jackson stamps went at the same price and the same gait.

Both stamps were colored in Confederate gray and they will go on sale elsewhere throughout the Nation today. Both Lee and Jackson, in their portraits, wear Confederate uniforms.

Only recently the Georgia and South Carolina legislatures protested the sale of 3-cent stamps commemorating Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. But last night, according to Roy M. North, Deputy Third Assistant Postmaster General, nobody had protested the sale of the Lee-Jackson stamps.

Scarcely less demand was in evidence at the city postoffice yesterday for stamps honoring the Naval heroes of the Spanish-American War—Admirals George Dewey, William T. Sampson and Winfield S. Schley.

Wirephoto: Labor's 'Show of Strength' Blocks Detroit Streets

According to police estimate, more than 60,000 persons gathered in the broad concourse of Cadillac Square yesterday when labor groups assembled to cheer officials of the United Automobile Workers protesting against police evacuation of sit-down strikers from store and shoe factories. Speakers stand, mounted on truck, can be seen in center under long banner.

Bone Finds Neutral Bill 'Joker,' British Want U. S. in Spain Pact

Senator Says Clause in Measure Nullifies Its Intent; Plans Fight.

By Sidney Olson.

Senator Homer T. Bone (Democrat), of Washington, will "expose" in the Senate today a "concealed joker" in the McReynolds neutrality bill by which the President would be unable to embargo war-time trade in such contraband commodities as steel, oil, cotton and wheat, he told The Post last night.

Senator Bone, a vigorous advocate of mandatory neutrality, insisted that the insertion by the House of the six-word phrase "other than personal goods and effects" in the cash provision of the McReynolds bill completely nullifies the intent of the legislation.

"The President would be tied hand and foot," he said. "He would be unable to embargo the shipment of almost any material you can mention. This cunning phrase strips the heart out of neutrality legislation while allowing the public to believe we will be able to keep out of war-time entanglements through trade."

When the surplus verbiage of section 4 (b) of the McReynolds bill is stripped away, said the Senator, the law says in effect:

Whenever the President shall have issued a proclamation under Section III . . . and thereafter restrictions on exportation of commodities from the United States to the belligerents . . . is necessary to promote the security and preserve the peace or neutrality of the United States, he shall so proclaim and it shall thereafter be unlawful . . . to export or transport from the United States to any belligerent state . . . any articles or materials whatever other than personal goods and effects.

The joker, according to Senator Bone, is that since personal goods and effects are not defined in the context of the measure, they must be judged from law definitions in the courts. All such law definitions that he has found thus far hold that personal goods and effects are movable property of some person.

Under such an inevitable definition, he said, and will say on the Senate floor today (and he predicts that every lawyer in the Senate will agree with his definition, as taken from Corpus Juris) such articles as wheat, flour, cotton, oil, gasoline, steel, copper, nickel, pig iron, rubber, trucks, corn, automobiles—articles vital in wartime to belligerents—may be shipped freely without interference from the President.

Definition Is Cited.

Bone, holding that "personal property" in law and in practical usage means estate and property other than real estate—movable things or chattels, cited 48 Corpus Juris 1046, as follows:

"As used in wills its meaning may be derived from descriptions of articles and classifications immediately preceding, but when not restricted by the context it may mean everything embraced within the definition of personal property."

He also cited U. S. v. Moulton (U. S. 27 Fed. Cas. 11, 12 (citing Perry vs. Coates, 5 Mass. 537) as follows: "Personal goods as used"

Continued on Page 5, Column 2.

Blum 'Appeals For Confidence Vote on Riots'

Warns France Will Crush
Fascism by Force
If Necessary.

By the Associated Press.

London, March 23.—Europe's long and stormy efforts to isolate the Spanish civil war took an unexpected turn tonight with a move to poll the 27 nations adhering to the "hands off Spain" pact on the question of inviting the United States and other non-European states to join.

The Spanish government declared it would not submit to a patrol of nations it charged with openly intervening in behalf of the insurgents, and declined to concede patrol boats the right to search Spanish ships.

The subcommittee of the 27-nation group announced it would ask the full membership to state their views about extending the roster outside Europe, with the idea of obtaining action, perhaps world-wide, to smother the inherent danger of the Spanish conflict spreading.

Will Poll 27 Nations on Extending Invitation to America.

The subcommittee's decision coincided with the statement of Count Dino Grandi, Italian delegate, that Italy refused at this juncture to participate in any discussion regarding the withdrawal of foreign volunteers now fighting in Spain.

(The Spanish government at Valencia has charged that 30,000 Italians are fighting on the Guadalajara front.)

While Britain accepted tonight an Italian explanation that only medical aid had gone to Spanish insurgents since the ban on volunteer enlistments, official circles here expressed fear Premier Mussolini still might scrap the Spanish nonintervention agreement.

There was some speculation II Duce might dispatch new volunteer contingents.

English newspaper stories reporting defeat of Italian forces in Spain, usually informed sources said, had prompted Mussolini to adopt an uncompromising attitude that some felt might endanger the whole nonintervention scheme.

Deny Landing Troops.

The Italian explanation, following British inquiry, was that a medical unit landed at Cadix, Spain, March 5, two weeks after the nonintervention scheme.

Continued on Page 5, Column 2.

Lamb Quits as Traffic Head; Capper Praises Post's Articles

Bureau Reorganization
Forecast as Result of Inspector's Act.

By Howard F. Wentworth.

(Winner of first prize in the National-wide C. I. T. Safety Contest with his 1936 series appearing in The Post.)

Reorganization of the traffic division of the Metropolitan Police Department was forecast last night when it was learned that Inspector Benjamin A. Lamb has made application to be relieved as its commander.

Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, said last night that he has received a written application from Inspector Lamb requesting another assignment. Lamb said that in the interest of health he was seeking a less arduous post.

Maj. Brown, who himself formerly commanded the traffic division, may take the opportunity afforded by the change in command to effect new policies in the division in an effort to strike at the city's mounting death toll, it is understood.

The traffic division is the arm of the Police Department most vitally charged with making the streets safe. To it are assigned all motorcycle policemen and footmen who control traffic at the city's busiest intersections.

Three Considered for Job.

Three men are being considered for Lamb's post, it was learned. They are Inspector W. E. Holmes, Capt. Harvey Callahan and Capt. Lloyd Kelly.

Because in the past the division always has been commanded by an inspector, Holmes, who now is in charge of precinct supervision, probably will get the post, it was said at police headquarters.

However, both Callahan, who is in command of the First Precinct, and Kelly, who commands the Eighth Precinct, are strong possibilities, it was said.

Blame for the existence of dangerous unsafe automobiles on Washington's highways was placed squarely on the Bureau of the Budget by District officials yesterday.

Refusal of the Budget Bureau to report on a proposed bill to require compulsory annual inspections of motor vehicles has made it impossible for the Commissioners to cope with a situation which was described as "a traffic disaster."

Continued on Page 5, Column 3.

Continued on Page 5, Column 3.

Continued on Page 5, Column 3.

Continued on Page 5, Column 3.

Lewis, Chrysler, Speed to Parley With Governor

C. I. O. Chief Angered by Michigan Executive's
Curt Telegram.

Feels Auto Maker
Has Upper Hand

Asserts Participation in Talk Today May Be
'Under Duress.'

By the Associated Press.

Detroit, March 23.—John L. Lewis, labor chieftain, and Walter P. Chrysler, auto manufacturer, tonight sped toward a dramatic face-to-face peace conference at Lansing tomorrow, while the State, headed by Gov. Frank Murphy, stood ready to "employ all necessary and available means" in enforcement of a court order that strikers evacuate Chrysler plants.

Lewis, resentful of the tone of the Governor's message inviting him to the conference, had wired acceptance, though asserting that "your message suggests that I confer under duress."

Chrysler had notified the Governor that while he would attend, "we will not enter into any trade to get the men out of the plants." He insisted that execution of the court order "is not a proper subject for negotiation between Mr. Lewis and myself."

Peaceful Departure Sought.

Into this tense feeling Gov. Murphy was preparing to suggest a plan for peaceful surrender of the company's property by 6,000 sit-down strikers who have held the plants for 18 days. What the Governor might suggest was closely concealed.

Murphy had notified Lewis and Chrysler that "the State government cannot forsake its responsibility and will employ all necessary and available means in this and similar cases to uphold public authority in this State and protect property rights of the interest of the general public."

Following his first angry reply, Lewis, taking a more conciliatory attitude, issued a statement aboard his train bound for Lansing, saying:

"Gov. Murphy's invitation to Mr. Chrysler and myself to meet with him is intelligent procedure."

Parley This Morning.

"The tone of the Governor's invitation perhaps reflects the great weight of the responsibility which he bears, but will not prevent me from seeking the settlement so earnestly desired by every one."

"I shall be constructively continuing toward that end."

The conference was scheduled for 11 a. m. (E. S. T.).

James F. Dewey, Federal Department of Labor's mediator, who aided the Governor in bringing about a settlement of recent General Motors strikes, hastened to Lansing tonight to discuss Murphy's proposals to end the Chrysler dispute.

Terms Lewis 'Helpful.'

Murphy, saying Lewis' presence had been "helpful" during negotiations that ended the General Motors strikes, added that the labor leader "need not fear any efforts will be made to enforce court orders against him during his presence in the State." Lewis and two other C. I. O. leaders were named by the Chrysler Corporation in the injunction proceedings against the strikers on which the writs for their arrest were based.

Lewis' announced route to the Lansing conference, bringing him through Detroit at 8:05 a. m. tomorrow, would take him into the jurisdiction of Circuit Judge Allan Campbell of Wayne County, who issued the injunction.

Murphy did not indicate what means might be adopted to prevent service of the order on Lewis. Chrysler attorneys have said union leaders could be arrested on the writs of attachment obtained from the court, but have insisted the principal aim is to clear the plants. Depots have made no move to arrest Homer Martin, president, or other U. A. W. leaders who have been in Detroit since the injunction was issued.

Hudson Deadlock Continues.

No break appeared in the strike deadlock between the U. A. W. and the Hudson Motor Car Co. here, whose 10,000 workers are idle because of a sit-down that started a few hours before the Chrysler strikes. Nearly 20,000 Briggs Manufacturing Co. workers are idle because the Chrysler body demand has ceased.

"Definite progress" toward settlement of the strike affecting 1,200 employees of the New Motor Car Co. at Lansing was reported today by Mayor Max A. Tamm, of Lansing, after a conference between company and union representatives.

Estimates of production in the industry continued to reflect the strike.

Continued on Page 10, Column 2.

Continued on Page 10, Column 2.

Ford Next, Martin Says
as Crowd Boos City Officials.

U. A. W. Head Calls
Force Unnecessary

Lashes at Supreme Court as Stumbling-Block of Democracy.

Special Dispatch to The Post.

Detroit, Mich., March 24.—Organized labor massed the greatest throng of demonstrators in its history here tonight, a crowd great as those turned out for European dictators, to listen while the evangelistic leader of the Detroit sit-down strikers declared "we are going to get everything that is ours."

It was a demonstration unique in labor history—a demonstration by a union engaged in a bitter struggle with the automobile manufacturers of America, one urged tonight to "stick together" in an effort to tie up that industry, one unit at a time, with "Henry Ford next," as one speaker put it.

The speaker, the youthful Homer Martin, former Baptist preacher, spoke with all the fervor at his command. A cheering, waving mob yelled its approval of his attack on Ford on the Supreme Court, on the mayor and police commissioner of Detroit.

250,000 Believed Present.

Estimates of the size of the crowd varied. Police Superintendent Fred Framm said 60,000 packed themselves into Cadillac Square in the heart of the city to take part in the protest which was called against police eviction of all-downers in small plants here.

Union officials, however, said more than 250,000 were in the throng. They said further that the union, only a few years old, but with 300,000 members, would have 800,000 members "a year from today."

Martin centered his attack on "industrialists" on the Supreme Court, which he called "the greatest threat to democracy in the United States outside police fascism," and on the police, whom he called "downers, the order which was responsible for the mass meeting."

The meeting was scheduled for 8:45 p. m. (E. S. T.). The crowd began arriving an hour before the time. Speaking began some 15 minutes before scheduled time. The demonstration continued for slightly more than an hour.

Crowd Orderly.

It was an orderly crowd. There was little or no trouble, aside from the cheering and shouting which permeated the handling of that heavy traffic in a downtown metropolitan district.

Hundreds of police were on duty, but took no part beyond directing traffic.

Many in the crowd wore working clothes. The crowd sang and cheered, and chanted lustily to references to Mayor Frank Couzens and Police Commissioner Heinrich A. Pickett.

The speakers used a platform mounted on a truck.

During the meeting and before the mass of people tangled traffic within a half-mile radius of the square, an oblong area 200 feet wide extending two blocks between the city and county buildings.

Automobiles Detoured.

On some streets motorists were detoured as far as half a mile from the outermost fringe of the meeting. A squad of police stood at every entrance to the city hall.

The low hum of thousands of voices carried for blocks while the crowd awaited the speeches. Songs and cheers occupied early arrivals. Banners criticizing Pickett and others and calling for "solidarity" dotted the assemblage.

Martin, who ordered the demonstration in protest against police eviction of sit-down strikers in two small labor disputes Saturday, told the crowd:

"Reason and justice shall be in."

Continued on Page 10, Column 1.

Today's Index

	Pages
Amusements	8
Bridge	9
Classified Advertisements	24, 25, 27
Comics	28
Crossword Puzzle	24
Death Notices	24
Editorials	6
Financial News	32, 33, 34
Hollywood	9
Night Clubs	12
Pegler's Column	17
Pictures	13
Radio	12
Society News	10, 11
Sports News	10, 20, 31
The Post's New Yorker	14
Woman's Page	16

Crop Insurance Bill for Wheat Before Senate

Passage in 10 Days Predicted as Committee Gives Its Backing.

By Russell Smith.

Strong endorsement was given yesterday by the Senate Agriculture Committee to a $100,000,000 wheat crop insurance bill which its author admits is of doubtful constitutionality.

A striking feature of the bill is its provision that the employees who administer it will be placed under a merit system independent of the civil service if they are temporary workers who would be under no career regulations otherwise.

Cotton, corn and tobacco growers, and their representatives in Congress, are resigned to enactment of the bill solely for wheat farmers, Senator Pope (Democrat), Idaho, said last night. Consequently, he predicted the Senate will pass the bill within ten days.

Await Wheat Experiment.

Actuarial data are lacking for the three crops other than wheat, or have been obtained insufficiently to justify embarking on an insurance program, AAA officials said yesterday. Agriculture committee members interested in protection for growers of the omitted commodities yesterday agreed with this view, hence Pope anticipates no floor fight against the bill on this score. He is strengthened in this conviction by inclusion in the bill of a clause providing for continued research to obtain needed data for cotton, corn and tobacco, for which a similar insurance plan will be provided if the wheat experiment succeeds.

The bill will dovetail with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's ever-normal granary bill, but constitutionality of both is clouded. Pope said last night that the farm bill is dubious, so far as the Supreme Court is concerned, since that body's ruling in the Moosac Mills case that agriculture is a local matter.

The corporation which the bill sets up would utilize its $100,000,000 appropriation to enter into voluntary contracts with farmers and build up a reserve of some system which will cover 100,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Premiums in Wheat.

Farmers would pay premiums in wheat or cash, preferably the former, and indemnities in years of crop loss would be paid back also in wheat. A percentage of the crop would be guaranteed. It is planned to scale premiums and insurance locally, so that rich areas would not be penalized to aid poor.

The object of the merit provision, said Pope, is to insure that a career service of some sort will cover employees who otherwise would not be reached. Such employees are crop appraisers, buyers and sellers, warehousemen, night watchmen and a variety of experts not susceptible to civil service, principally because they would be temporary employees. "We hope to develop as rapidly as possible a merit system which will cover all employees of the corporation set up by the bill, even for temporary workers not covered by civil service," Pope said. He added that about 75 per cent of the staff would not be subject to civil service, according to committee estimates.

The Senator remarked that such a proportion exists in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, machinery of which will be utilized as far as possible in the crop insurance bill. His remarks gave the inference that the AAA likewise is hopeful of extending a career service through its elaborate organization.

Virginia Realty Head To Address D. C. Forum

Robert L. Rush, Richmond, chairman of the Virginia Real Estate Commission, and C. C. Collins, Norfolk, president of the Virginia Real Estate Association, will address a forum meeting of the Washington Real Estate Board last evening at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

They are visiting Virginia real estate boards and will come here following a meeting with the Alexandria-Arlington-Fairfax group. Mr. Collins has just succeeded to the presidency of the Virginia association, following the death of C. Shelburne Spindle, Norfolk. Francis A. Murray, second vice president of the local board, will discuss "Property Management," subject of the forum.

Georgia House Defeats Race Track Betting Bill

Atlanta, March 23 (AP).—The Georgia House of Representatives yesterday defeated a bill to legalize race track gambling after Floor Leader Clement Sutton charged lobbyists for the bill operated a "free night club" for legislators.

The bill would have authorized pari-mutuel betting, and created a State commission to supervise horse and dog racing.

AUNT HET

By ROBERT QUILLLEN.

"I don't think much of this new doctor. When I pay three dollars to get a little sympathy, I want a doctor to act like he cared."

(Copyright, 1937, Publishers Syndicate.)

Half-Size and Extra Sizes to Fit You

Slender Shop

New Faces In Congress Boys, Baseball and History Are Hobbies of Rep. Voorhis

REPRESENTATIVE JERRY VOORHIS.

Young Congressman From California Is Yale Phi Beta Kappa; Unemployment of Youth Is His Chief Interest.

By Hope Ridings Miller.

Among the younger intellectuals on Capitol Hill is sober-faced, studious 36-year-old H. Jerry Voorhis (Democrat), of San Dimas, Calif., whose chief interest at present is the unemployment problem.

"We must treat the situation on a permanent, rather than on an emergency basis," he declared yesterday. "We must improve distribution of purchasing power and break the hold of financial monopoly. We must make over our relief system."

How? Well, chiefly by establishing a program of public works, including low-cost housing, to take the place of useless WPA projects; by training of youth with needs in industry; by keeping accurate and continual tab on the extent of unemployment — believes Voorhis. Boiled down, the solution as he sees it is three-fold: "A youth program that will keep our deserving young people in school and give them the type of training that will insure them jobs when they get out; a public works program; and an extensive public works program financed out of taxes rather than borrowed money would take us a long way toward our goal."

Kansas-born and Yale-educated, Voorhis became concerned with problems of youth—particularly underprivileged youth—before he finished college. Spent several vacation periods working in an Eastern school for boys of this type. Decided he would one day open such an institution of his own. Finished Yale with a Phi Beta Kappa key in 1923. Then crossed the continent to continue his education in Claremont College, Calif., where he received his M. A. degree the following year.

A good-will tour to Germany for the Y. M. C. A. a turn at cow-punching in Wyoming, and a few months' experience in job ranging from handling freight to working in an automobile assembly plant served to crystallize his desire to establish a school for boys. His father helped to finance the project, and the Voorhis School came into existence several years ago. The Congressman, who has been headmaster since the institution was founded, still nominally holds that position.

A member of the Los Angeles County Board of Directors of the National Youth Administration, he came to Congress with the hope that something could be done to expand the educational aid program of the NYA. The American youth act, which he is sponsor, would answer this need, he believes.

Married, and the father of a son and a daughter, Voorhis lists his hobbies in the order of preference as follows: "boys, baseball and American history." His name is unpronounced "before he finished college." Spent several vacation periods working in an Eastern

Jailed, Impeached; Mayor Continues City Power Fight

Huntington, Ind., March 23 (AP).—Long in jail and now impeached, Huntington's utility-fighting mayor, Clare W. H. Bangs, served notice today from his cell, "I'm still the mayor." He added he had no intention of giving up his battle for municipal electricity.

"I'm still the mayor of Huntington," he said emphatically, "and intend to appeal to the circuit court from the city council's (impeachment) action. I'll remain in office until that finally is affirmed, if ever."

The city council last night convicted Mayor Bangs, who has been in jail for contempt of court since last July 6, on 14 of 19 impeachment charges alleging misconduct in office.

He said he thought it "entirely possible" that Judge Huber M. Devoss would order his release from jail "within a few hours." Inasmuch as all commercial consumers have been disconnected from the municipal light plant.

He went to jail because he would not obey a court order to disconnect all consumers from the plant. The order was obtained by the Northern Indiana Power Co., which claims exclusive rights to operating in Huntington.

'Charge Account' Dog Dies After Over-Eating

Huron, S. Dak., March 23 (AP).—Duke, 8-year-old Springer Spaniel who gained Nation-wide mention a year ago as America's only dog with a charge account, is dead at the home of his master, E. C. McKenzie. A veterinarian attributed death to plain overeating.

Duke attracted much attention a year ago last January when it became known that every afternoon he entered a grocery store and received a portion of hamburger which was charged to his account. The bill was paid monthly.

ARCADIA SUNSHINE

WASHINGTON'S COMPLETE CLEANSING INSTITUTION

Columbia 8010

24.75

S. & N. Katz

1114 F ST. N.W.

New Taxation Laws Opposed By Roosevelt

Possible Credit Expansion Watched Keenly, as Is Strike Situation.

By the Associated Press.

Warm Springs, Ga., March 23.—President Roosevelt expressed the hope today that no new taxes would be enacted at this session of Congress.

At the same time he hinted the Administration was watching keenly the possibility of an undue credit expansion. Asked to comment on possible moves to control credit, he told a press conference the situation was evolutionary at this time. Sitting behind the wheel of his open car in front of the press cottage, he replied to a series of questions that embraced every current topic of importance.

Watches Strike Fronts.

He said he was keeping in close touch with developments of sit-down strikes, particularly in the automobile field, but that he was doing so indirectly through conversations with officials in Washington.

His tax assertion was in reply to a request for comment on a statement by Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, that income and profits taxes should be raised, if necessary, to balance the budget. Eccles also had warned against a possible price inflation.

Except to say he hoped there would be no additional taxes this session, the Chief Executive would not discuss the subject. Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee last Thursday said existing tax schedules would not be increased this session and that if any new steps were necessary to balance the budget he favored retrenchment in spending.

Aides Foresee Balance.

Harrison said the tax bill of the current session would extend most of the present "nuisance" or excise levies and possibly modify the undistributed corporate profits taxes of last year where they fall too heavily on debt-burdened companies.

As far as the budget is concerned, officials close to the President predicted if relief expenditures for next fiscal year do not exceed the $1,500,000,000 mentioned in the President's budget message, the Government's books would show an approximate equalization of income and outgo by June 30, 1938.

The figured expenditures under the pending low-cost housing and farm tenant bills and other unestimated expenses might throw the budget off $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 "on paper," but contended estimated spending always falls below appropriations.

U. S., England to Cancel Long Leases in Japan

Tokyo, March 23 (AP).—Informed sources said today that Ambassadors of the United States and Great Britain would sign notes March 25 with Foreign Minister Naotake Sato abolishing perpetual land leases held by American and English Nationals in Japan.

The notes would change holdings into ordinary leases, making them subject to the Japanese taxation and administrative measures.

Ship Sinks, 150 Die.

Yunnanfu, Yunnan Province, China, March 23 (AP).—An overloaded steamer sank today on Kunhu Lake, south of here, carrying to their deaths 150 passengers and members of the crew.

The January marriage of 9-year-old Eunice Winstead to Charlie Johns, 23, stirred wide criticism of Tennessee laws and brought a new statute setting 16 as the marriage age minimum, but that didn't prevent the wedding of 14-year-old Dollie Livesay, mountain neighbor of Eunice.

It was learned today that Dollie and James Brewer, handsome, 23-year-old Hillsdale farmer, were married a week ago in Middleboro, Ky., the State line being less than 10 miles from the isolated homes of the Livesays and the Winsteads.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Livesay of Treadway, have decided to follow the example of the Livesays and "let the children make the best of it."

Young Brewer had been courting Dollie for about a year. He's a high school graduate.

FOR THOSE LAST CHILLY DAYS

Spring

blue coal

THERE is still time to learn about the wonderful heating value of this finest of Pennsylvania's anthracites. When you scrape the bottom of the bin, call for a ton of 'blue coal'. It will keep you warm now . . . but better yet, you'll know all about this famous fuel and can plan accordingly when you order your supply of coal for next winter.

CRIFTH-CONSUMERS COMPANY

1413 New York Ave. ME. 4840

24.75

S. & N. Katz

1114 F ST. N.W.

50c A WEEK Buys Your Gruen

At S. & N. Katz

50c A WEEK Buys Your Gruen

In Congress YESTERDAY.

Senate.

Met at noon and recessed at 2:30 p. m. until noon today. Passed Connally bill to complete the United States Capitol Building. Judiciary Committee continued court reorganization hearing.

Agriculture Committee considered insurance bill. Commerce Committee reported joint resolution permitting appointment of Joseph P. Kennedy as chairman of Maritime Commission.

House.

Met at noon and adjourned at 4:30 p. m. until noon today. Debated State, Justice, Commerce and Labor bill.

Rules Committee considered radio investigation resolution. Appropriations Committee considered McCormack surplus fish bill.

TODAY.

Senate.

Meets at noon. Considers Kennedy Maritime Commission resolution. Banking and Currency Committee considers HOLC bill. Judiciary Committee resumes court reorganization hearing.

House.

Meets at noon. Resumes consideration of Departmental appropriation bills.

Appropriations sub-committee considers War, Agriculture and Interior supply bills.

Interstate Commerce Committee considers Dickstein subversive influence resolution. Immigration Committee considers hardship cases.

Commerce Committee considers natural gas transportation bill.

House Unit Plans Meeting to Amend Bill on Barbering

Ending a hilarious two-session hearing on a bill to regulate barbering in Washington, a sub-committee of the House District Committee decided to hold an executive meeting at some future time to consider amendments.

Representative Quinn (Democrat), of Illinois, who had been the aid of newspaper photographers who had rushed to the hearing when they heard that Representative Shafer (Republican), of Michigan, was going to be given a "decent haircut."

Shafer, however, probably thinking better of his offer to let one of the witnesses demonstrate his art before the sub-committee, failed to show up.

Quinn, author of the bill, not to let the boys down, put on an apron and let Tony D. Duro, secretary-treasurer of the Barbers' Union, take a few clips while photographers' bulbs flashed.

Police last night were searching for three boys who stoned a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train from New York yesterday afternoon breaking several windows. Eight passengers in the train were examined at noon Station for injuries said to have resulted from flying glass.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

New Rules Kill PWA Program, Mayors Assert

Orders That Grants Must Go for Relief Wages Stir-Conferece.

New regulations under which PWA grants will go largely for wages of relief workers were assailed yesterday by the United States Conference of Mayors as "a polite way of killing the present PWA program."

In a statement by Paul V. Better, executive director, the conference said that if the new "proposal" is carried out "it will be impossible for many of them to participate in the PWA programs authorized by Congress."

Pointing out that heretofore the Federal grant has been up to 45 per cent of the total cost of a project, the statement said it will now be impossible for a city to compute just how much the Government will provide "since there is no way of knowing just how much relief labor is used on a project until it is completed."

It said also that due to the great amount of skilled labor required on most projects, and the fact that present relief rolls do not contain a large number of skilled workers, "it is certain the amount of the grant under the new scheme would not even begin to approach 45 per cent."

The conference contended that the Senate had held the "almost unanimous opinion" that the 45 per cent grant basis would have to be maintained if the PWA program were to proceed under the new plan. It said that pending applications were submitted by cities on invitation of the Government on the 45 per cent basis, and many were for projects passed by voters in bond elections. Any change in the basis for the grants, it was asserted, "invalidates these bond elections."

Other cities with projects pending were said to be up to their constitutional and statutory debt limits and any reduction in the grant "makes it impossible for these communities to proceed under the new plan." Of interest in this connection were figures made public yesterday by Secretary of Labor Perkins on the number of workers employed on the Government's works program in February. She reported 2,980,000 so employed, a decrease of $5,000 from January. Of this number, 172,000 were on construction projects financed by PWA, a decrease of 30,000 in a month. The pay roll disbursements of PWA amounted to more than $13,000,000, and orders were placed for materials costing $17,000,000.

Quinn, author of the bill, not to let the boys down, put on an apron and let Tony D. Duro, secretary-treasurer of the Barbers' Union, take a few clips while photographers' bulbs flashed.

Police last night were searching for three boys who stoned a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train from New York yesterday afternoon breaking several windows. Eight passengers in the train were examined at noon Station for injuries said to have resulted from flying glass.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

Those examined were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shayness of New York; Mrs. E. Davis of Yonkers; Mrs. Beck of Larchmont; Mrs. Margaret Caffrey of 3029 M street northwest; and Mrs. Minnie E. Georgens and Evelyn and Jacqueline Georgens, all of Alexandria, Va.

The boys threw stones at the train as it was coming into the yards between the Eastern Branch and Bladenburg road. Railway officials said that other trains have been stoned at the same point.

CORRECT for EASTER

The Hickey-Freeman cut-away and waistcoat will impress you with its authentic styling. Skillfully tailored of Robert's English Cheviot . . . it offers the discriminating gentleman the ultimate in correct attire.

'85

Striped worsted trousers, $15 to $25

Goldheim's
1409 H STREET

EASTER GLOVES
2.95

These kid gloves are getting a big hand . . . and little wonder, too, because they're beautifully fashioned in luscious French kid. Plain and novelty styles in most any color you might desire.

other gloves, $1 to $5

Charge Accounts Invited

BECKERS

Mail Orders Filled

1314 F STREET N.W.

Easter Candies

BY MARTHA WASHINGTON

Here are the DIGNIFIED candies . . . the wholesome treat for little folks and grown-ups, to whom Easter is an "event." The Aristocrat of family and gift candies. Fresh and Pure.

NEW EASE

NEW DISTINCTION

NEW FLATTERY

NEW PROPORTIONS

NEW QUALITY

Come in and try on this new Fashion Park styling . . . Shown in cloths of exceptional quality. $50

The Mode
F at Eleventh

CHOCOLATE SHELL EGGS
Beautifully decorated . . . filled with assorted candies. In Easter box, tied with ribbon. $1.50

ORDER NOW!

These fresh, delicious candies go quickly as Easter draws. Make sure of yours . . . place your order now. By Special Post everywhere. Mail and wire orders for local delivery to and from Martha Washington Shops Coast to Coast.

Special Easter Ice Cream Roll
Lemon Custard Ice Cream Center, with outer layer of Pistachio Nut Ice Cream rolled in whipped cream. Makes a gay color combination of yellow, green and white. 80¢ qt.

Elie's
Martha Washington Candies

507 12th St. N.W. NEt 1931

3507 Connecticut Ave. Clv. 2502

THE FAMOUS MARTHA WASHINGTON CREAM CENTER CHOCOLATE EGGS AND BARNIES—ALL FLAVORS AND SIZES 8¢ TO 35¢

Post Classified Ads Bring Results

Couple Found Dead of Gas in Rooming Home

Notes Indicated Woman Killed Taxi Driver and Herself.

Norris A. Shelton, 32-year-old taxi driver, was murdered while he slept with his 25-year-old wife in a room at 1345 L street northwest yesterday.

One of the notes which Inspector Bernard W. Thompson, chief of detectives, said indicated suicide bore the signature of "Virginia Shelton."

This note stated: "We still love each other. We both love the baby. Give the picture to mother, Virginia." The picture was found in the room.

Shelton and the woman were found dead in the third floor rear bedroom by occupants of the rooming house, who traced the odor of escaping gas. Both were found on the bed partly clad.

Detective Sgt. Clyde N. Strange, of the homicide squad, said several gas jets were open, and a nearly empty liquor bottle was on a table. The crudely written notes also were found on the table.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald viewed the bodies at the house and ordered them removed to the District Morgue for an autopsy. He said he based his murder and suicide verdict on the theory the man apparently had not moved while he breathed the poisonous gas, and returned to die.

Dr. MacDonald said the woman apparently had moved from the bed, scrawled the notes, and returned to die.

All the windows and doors were plugged with towels.

The signed note was addressed to Mrs. L. F. Lampe, of Marion, Va., mother of the 25-year-old woman. Her father, F. L. Lampe, last night was on the way here to claim the body.

Relatives of Shelton in Seat Pleasant, Md., will claim his body today. Nellie Obits, landlady of the rooming house, said the couple had taken the room Sunday. Both registered from Seat Pleasant.

10% of Population Held Poor Always

At least 10 per cent of the people will be impoverished during an entire year, regardless of prosperity, Dr. John A. Lapp, labor adviser of the WPA, asserted yesterday. This portion of the population must have agency help, the speaker said.

His statement was made yesterday at the meeting of the newly organized Federal Community Chest Forum, held at the Harrington Hotel.

Justin Miller, member of the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals, is temporary chairman of this group. The forum voted to meet each Tuesday at the Harrington, until June.

In his talk yesterday, Dr. Lapp pointed out that vast expenditures of public funds for relief have been given the headlines in recent years and that the Federal Government, private agencies has, as a result, been overlooked.

Bill Is Reported For 12 D. C. Cadets

The Senate Naval Affairs Committee voted yesterday to report out the bill introduced by its chairman, Senator Walsh (Democrat), of Massachusetts, according to the District an increase from 4 to 12 in the quota of Naval Academy appointments.

An amendment was adopted, however, to limit the appointments to four a year at the beginning so as to stagger the increase and prevent a lapse of several years between appointments.

Senator Walsh said that by spreading out the appointments more boys will be given an opportunity to contest for them.

'Billy' Sunday's Widow Addresses Church Unit

Mrs. William A. Sunday, widow of "Billy" Sunday, addressed 100 members of the Business Women's Council at the Covenant-First Presbyterian Church last night on "Condition of Acceptable Prayer."

There are five conditions of the heart, she said, necessary for acceptable prayer—an undivided, clean, forgiving, obedient and believing heart. Deploring the lack of faith of many, she said there are three kinds of faith—positive, active and overcoming. "We are warned," Mrs. Sunday said, "to take heed, lest there be an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God."

'Sunshine' Loses Plea As 'Daddy's' Sole Heir

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—The court of appeals rejected today the claim of Mrs. Dorothy (Sunshine) Browning Hine to be sole heir to the estate of her foster father, the late Edward W. (Daddy) Browning.

In an unanimous decision the court upheld the right of Mrs. Frances Heenan (Peaches) Browning Hine to recover dower rights in the wealthy New York City real estate operator's estate. The amount involved was not stated.

Crew of 17 Rescued From Sinking Ship

New York, March 23 (AP)—The Coast Guard announced today that the cutter Chelan had taken off the 17 members of the crew of the Norwegian steamer Bjerkli, foundered about 500 miles east of Nantucket lightship.

4 Japanese Fliers Die As Ships Crash in Fog

Tokyo, March 24 (Wednesday) (AP)—Dispatches from Hsingking, Manchukuo, today reported four Japanese army aviators were killed when two planes, caught in a fog, crashed near Hungchuling, Kirin Province.

Picket Italian Embassy Protesting Aid to Rebels

Members of the Workers Alliance of America yesterday picketed the Italian Embassy on Sixteenth street protesting Fascist aid to Spanish insurgents. Picketers had a permit for the demonstration.

Texas Planning Memorial Rites Easter Sunday

Evidence Lacking to Base Charges in School Blast; Safety Drive Opens.

New London, Tex., March 23.—Convinced there is no evidence upon which to base prosecutions for the London school blast with its 455 deaths, public officials marshaled technical and legal preventives tonight against any such future disaster.

This saddened community, where nearly every family was bereft of one or more members, planned a great Easter Sunday memorial service for the child and teacher victims, as residents returned slowly to everyday routine.

"There was no evidence at all on which to base a prosecution," Secretary of State Edward Clark reported to Gov. James V. Allred at Austin upon his return from New London. As a National Guard captain, Clark sat in the military court that investigated the disaster, an accumulation of escaped natural gas.

United States Bureau of Mines experts continued an investigation, drilling 400 holes in the oil-derrick section of the wealthy school's grounds to test subsoil for possible gas seepage.

D. J. Parker, Salt Lake City, district engineer of the mine bureau, said the official finding would be forwarded to Washington. Authorities privately expressed the opinion gas seepage through the ground was not a factor in the explosion.

Rigid inspection of every rural school in the East Texas oil area was expected as a precaution. In the military inquiry it was testified escaping gas was found in a nearby school building. Several schools were closed for a day to permit a thorough inspection.

The Red Cross disaster relief officials said today their casualty list showed 455 dead and 53 injured. Forty-nine of the injured still were in hospitals, many of them critically hurt.

Man Held in Girl's Death Hangs Self

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 23 (AP)—Lonnie Wright, 25-year-old Allegheny County man, who was arrested for questioning in connection with the mysterious assault and slaying of 16-year-old Elva Brannock, was found hanging in his cell here today, a few hours after he had convinced officers he was not implicated in the death of the mountain school girl.

Jail officials said Wright hanged himself with a noose made from his underwear. He was dead when an attaché found him.

Sheriff Walter Irwin of Allegheny County questioned Wright last night, and announced later that the prisoner had convinced him he was in jail in Miami, Fla., when Elva Brannock was killed.

Kidnaping Feared For Spreckels Girl

Los Angeles, March 23 (AP)—Mrs. Roxana Spreckels, former wife of John D. Spreckels, 3d, left with her 2-year-old daughter, Elsie, for an unannounced destination tonight because she feared a kidnaping plot. Her attorney, S. S. Hahn, said she would remain in the retreat until she considered it "safe" to return home.

Mrs. Spreckels became fearful of a kidnap plot when she noticed two "suspicious looking men" watching the girl at a beach outing. On another occasion, she became suspicious of woman following the child. Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were called.

Workers Picket Italian Embassy, Protesting 'Invasion' of Spain

Alliance Sends Note to Soviet Assailing Policy; Communist Secretary Addresses Crowd Gathered on Sidewalk.

Chanting "Hands off Spain" and "Fascism means war," 25 members of the Workers Alliance of America paraded in front of the flag-bedecked Italian embassy here yesterday in protest against the alleged invasion of Spanish soil by Black Shirt legions.

Under the eyes of Metropolitan police headed by Maj. Ernest Brown, superintendent, the placard-carrying paraders marched and counter-marched on the sidewalk, then dispatched a committee of five to present a written protest to Ambassador Suwich.

Unable to gain entrance at the front, the committee then called at the chancery. There a clerk, who refused to identify himself, said Ambassador Suwich and his aides were celebrating an Italian festa. Yesterday, he later explained, was the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of the Fascist Party.

After leaving their written statement with the clerk, who promised to deliver it to the Italian envoy, the committee, picketers and general public assembled across the street to listen to a short address by Martin Chancery, secretary of the District's Communist Party.

The parade had been approved by a joint conference of State Department and District officials Monday. This was the first time the State Department has been called in by the Commissioners to assist in negotiations concerning the organization of protests before foreign government representatives.

Lieut. Col. Vincenzo Coppola, air and military attaché of the Italian Embassy, took moving-picture "shots" of the paraders, but fled at the approach of news-cameras. The statement delivered to the Embassy read in part:

"The American people, dedicated to peace, fully realize the truth of the statement of Secretary of State Hull—that war anywhere means war everywhere. In our fervent desire to keep our country out of war, we realize that this can only be achieved by immediately halting the war in Europe for which your government is now mainly responsible."

Mother, 4 Girls Burned to Death

Baldwin Harbor, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—A mother and four of her children perished today in a fire that destroyed their two-story frame home.

Three other members of the family were seriously injured when they escaped through a second-story window.

The dead—Mrs. Rose Morse, 42; Rose, 13; Jessie, 11; Helen, 9; and Barbara, 4.

William Morse, 45, husband and father of the victims, was taken to a hospital with his oldest daughter, Lillian, 19, and his son, William, Jr., 16, after jumping from the building.

Mary Arday, 14, Crash Victim, Dies of Injuries

Manslaughter Warrant Issued for Driver of Dance Party Car.

Death for a 14-year-old girl and a charge of manslaughter for a youth, 21, yesterday proved an unhappy ending to a dancing party a group of Arlington County high school boys and girls were to have attended last Friday night.

The girl was Mary L. Arday, 14, of 108 Broad street, Falls Church, Va., injured when two automobiles crashed at Glebe road and the Lee highway in Arlington County. She died yesterday in Emergency Hospital.

A warrant charging manslaughter was issued in the Arlington County Court yesterday for Mark L. Wilson, 21, of North Nelson street, Cherrydale.

Wilson was arrested at his home by Officer Norman Carson. He was taken to the county jail, where he is being held in $2,000 bond.

The girl's father, Henry A. Arday, 68, a retired sugar plantation owner, is at his winter home in Cuba.

The manslaughter warrant for Wilson was sworn out by Lawrence Murdock, 18, of North Taylor street, Arlington.

Murdock, escaped injury in the crash, but Kenneth Hancock, 18, also of North Taylor street, was in Georgetown Hospital seriously hurt. Physicians fear he has a brain concussion.

Others in the dance-party car, Lora Janson, 18, of Military road north; Virginia Schleicher, 17, of Moore street; and Helen Kemp, 16, of North Glebe road, escaped with scratches and bruises.

The young people attended a play at Washington-Lee High School in Arlington County, where they all were students, and crashed en route to the dance.

First Wife Seeks To Invalidate N.Y. Contract Marriage

New York, March 23 (AP)—The first wife of Rudolph Mallina attacked in court yesterday the validity of his novel marriage by contract last December to Dr. Myrtle Bryan McGraw, child psychologist.

Mrs. Gertrude Mallina made the attack in a suit for divorce she filed against the Austrian research engineer, in which she alleged that her Reno divorce was invalid and that she was legally still the wife of Mallina.

Mallina and Dr. McGraw signed their contract of marriage last December 19, under an old New York law providing for such marriages, less than a month after his first wife was divorced in Reno.

The ceremony, conducted without a minister, consisted simply of the signing of a marriage contract in the presence of a Supreme Court judge.

Senate Passes Pay Bill For Per Diem Workers

Per diem Government workers in the District will shortly be paid for the holiday they were forced to take when President Roosevelt took his second oath of office on January 20.

The Senate yesterday passed a bill authorizing the payment and sent it to the White House. It had been approved previously by the House.

Treatise by Dewey Urging Big Navy Is Found in N. Y.

New York, March 23 (AP)—At the moment the world's sea powers are turning again to battleship building after a 5-year holiday, a document by the late Admiral George Dewey, urging a big Navy, has been discovered here.

The document and two letters, all bearing signatures of the hero of Manila Bay, were picked up at an auction for $1 by Emil Hurja, who recently resigned as assistant to Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee to enter private business here.

What Dewey said in this contribution, entitled "Needed: A Powerful Navy," was written at a time when publicists and politicians bitterly debated the unprecedented expense of what were then called dreadnaughts—the modern battleships.

A warrant charging manslaughter was issued in the Arlington County Court yesterday for Mark L. Wilson, 21, of North Nelson street, Cherrydale.

Wilson was arrested at his home by Officer Norman Carson. He was taken to the county jail, where he is being held in $2,000 bond.

The girl's father, Henry A. Arday, 68, a retired sugar plantation owner, is at his winter home in Cuba.

The manslaughter warrant for Wilson was sworn out by Lawrence Murdock, 18, of North Taylor street, Arlington.

Murdock, escaped injury in the crash, but Kenneth Hancock, 18, also of North Taylor street, was in Georgetown Hospital seriously hurt. Physicians fear he has a brain concussion.

Others in the dance-party car, Lora Janson, 18, of Military road north; Virginia Schleicher, 17, of Moore street; and Helen Kemp, 16, of North Glebe road, escaped with scratches and bruises.

The young people attended a play at Washington-Lee High School in Arlington County, where they all were students, and crashed en route to the dance.

Very Suit-able BLOUSES

"Age cannot wither, nor custom stale, the infinite variety of your suit . . . if it has the appropriate number of blouses. We have a wide selection of types for all moods and all occasions."

Sketches: A feminine . . . but not fussy . . . model with a full jabot of just the right length. Eminent wearability, because it fits so well. Crepe in aqua, rose maize, white, blue, this and British tan.

Other blouses, $2 to $1.95

Charge Accounts Invited

RALEIGH HABERDASHER

1910 F STREET

Boy Strangled To Death Near His Home in Pa.

Police Give Theory of Murder; Two Nooses Left in Garage.

Chambersburg, Pa., March 23.—Theories of murder by strangulation were held by police in the death of Floyd Shriver, Jr., 8, whose cut and bruised body was found today between two rental garages near his home. He had been missing since yesterday afternoon when he left home with a toy push car to get coal from a nearby garage, where the family's coal supply was kept.

The body was found by Floyd Sollenberger, one of the searchers. Marks on the boy's neck indicated he had been strangled. There was a mark around the neck and a bruise under the right jaw. Another mark coursed upward along the cheek in line with the larger bruise.

Physicians said he had been dead about six hours. There were bruises and cuts on the face and chest.

The boy was dismissed from school early yesterday afternoon. Shortly afterward he left to get the coal. When he had not returned by 6 p. m. an alarm was sounded and police conducted a search. The partly filled coal bucket was found in the garage.

Two pieces of rope with nooses were found in the garage.

Look Wide-Eyed and Young in a . . . KNOX Off-the-Face

$7.50

FINE (all, soft and light as a feather. Moulded to display a wide expanse of brow and your new coiffure to an admiring public. All colors, in all head-sizes. Charge Accounts Invited

RALEIGH HABERDASHER

1910 F STREET

BEFORE YOU BUY ANY NEW CAR Compare Our Rates!

A substantial amount of money may be saved by financing your new car through First Credit Corporation. Our rates are based on only 5% ($5 per $100 per year of the original unpaid balance plus the cost of insurance at annual rates). Write or phone for monthly payments (up to 24 months) on the car of your choice; or see your dealer and insist upon this low-cost finance plan.

FIRST CREDIT CORPORATION

WASHINGTON, D. C. Henrich Bldg., 1027 K Street, N. W., District 8200

BRANCHES IN OTHER LEADING CITIES

JUST USE THE "PERFECT CLOTHES LINE"—CLEVELAND 7800

"Tolman's Way" WEEK-END LAUNDRY SPECIAL

MONDAY TO WEDNESDAY 8 1/2c lb.

THURSDAY TO SATURDAY 8c lb.

In this service Wearing Apparel is returned damp (starched if desired)—Bath Towels are fluffed softly dry—Flat work is ironed. It saves MOST of the work at a saving of better money and time. When requested, shirts (plain) are finished at 10c apiece, starched collars at 4c apiece.

A completely finished service at a saving. By letting us do your washing and ironing the last three days of the week (Thurs., Fri., Sat.), and delivering it the first of the week, we are enabled to offer our usual high quality at the special rate of 10c lb. for all Flat Work and 24c lb. for Wearing Apparel. Try this service for a month. It has a growing list of delighted users, because there are no "extras"—everything usually sent being included.

Fine DRY Cleaning

Tolman's modern Zoric Dry Cleaning retains the newness of your wardrobe and home furnishings by scientifically treating fabrics while thoroughly cleaning them. And you'll notice that articles cleaned by Tolman stay clean longer. Prompt pick-up and delivery service.

The TOLMAN Laundry

P. W. TRACER, President

5248 WISCONSIN AVE. CLEVELAND 7800

Easter Special!

3 DOZEN Fancy White Selected EGGS

$1.05

Thompson's Dairy recommends these selected Eggs as especially fine for coloring. And don't fail to order generously, for Easter is one time when everybody wants plenty of Eggs.

A Package of Swansdown Pure Food Tints With Every Order of 3 Dozen Eggs!

Six beautiful tints "made to eat" and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Each package contains green, yellow, blue, pink, orange and rose. Mother will be glad to use extra tints for coloring gelatins, cakes, ices, beverages and for other purposes. Order your tints and 3 dozen eggs from your Thompson milkman.

LEADING 100% INDEPENDENT D. C. DAIRY

THOMPSON'S DAIRY

DECATUR 1400

NOW I EAT FRIED FISH

Upset Stomach Goes in Jiffy with Bell-Ans

BELL-ANS

FOR INDIGESTION

BACARDI

MAKES A COCKTAIL

SING

Senior-before dinner—the "Bacardi" gayest, tastiest of all cocktails! And at other times when drinks are in order—"Bacardi" again! Its secret is exclusive.

A Schenley Import

ONLY BACARDI MAKES

BACARDI

RUM—89 Proof

NO IMITATION CAN ACHIEVE ITS FLAVOR

CORP. 1937, SCHENLEY IMPORT CORPORATION, NEW YORK

Moley Calls Court Plan 'Mirage Solution'

Progressivism Being Blocked, Lemke Claims

Sharp Debate Feature of Judiciary Committee Investigation.

Continued from Page 1.

the end, impair those institutional methods and traditions which make progressive evolution possible. I am opposed to this plan because I believe that there is a better way to achieve the immediate and the ultimate objective."

Friends of the court plan were waiting for Moley, armed with stacks of clippings and quotations from the former brain-truster's editorial and magazine comments on each step in the New Deal spread.

Neely Leads Fight.

Matthew M. Neely, West Virginia's nervously active Senator, opened the cross-examination. Quoting from Moley's published criticism of the AAA and other Supreme Court decisions, in which the witness had sided with the court minority, Neely asked if he thought the court would uphold recent farm legislation.

"It would take a wonderful man to answer that question," said Moley. "It would take a wonderful court, too," interposed Senator William E. Borah (Republican), Idaho. Neely asked why Moley was "so concerned" about four court conservatives, when he had criticized them in the press for ignoring facts and exercising legislative functions.

"I am not so concerned about what would happen to those gentlemen," said the witness. "And that's no argument for this plan. I am concerned about what would happen to the court under the plan."

"Well, don't you think something ought to be done about the Supreme Court?" Neely pressed.

"Better Methods."

"I thought something ought to have been done two years ago," said Moley, adding that he didn't mean the present "makeshift" proposal. Senator M. M. Logan (Democrat), of Kentucky, took over the examination.

"It looks to me like you would have to amend and amend and amend," said Logan.

"I'd rather amend and amend and amend than pack and pack and pack," said the witness.

"I agree with you to a certain extent," said Logan. "I don't like this plan. I never have liked it, but I haven't been able to find a better one."

Borah Enters Lists.

One by one, friends and opponents of the court plan took their turn at Moley. Senator William E. Borah (Democrat), Illinois, who said he had not been "convinced" by Chief Justice Hughes' defense of court efficiency, pressed the witness closely.

Senator Borah objected to the rigor of Dieterich's questioning. "This isn't a police court," he said. Senator O'Mahoney asked if Moley's chief objection to the court plan wasn't its modifying effect on the Constitution.

"That's true," said Moley, "to enlarging the court for the purpose of securing a different economic interpretation."

In his opening statement Moley gave four reasons he thought the plan would not "do the job." First, because it was based on an "emergency," second, because it was temporary rather than permanent; third, because it would leave Congress without additional power to act; and fourth, because it would not fill the President's demand for immediate action.

Must Think of Future.

"Must we always have legislation for reform based upon the existence of a crisis?" asked the witness. "Must we always have emergency measures? Shall we never achieve that happy moment when sound and liberal counsel can consider not the immediate future but the longer future?"

Moley said he deeply regretted to see "that golden moment pass" when it would be possible to get a fundamental restatement of the law "to make possible the attainment of the humane objectives of progressive thought."

"The institutions of Democracy grow and strengthen only through use," he warned. "When they are neglected in the interest of quick and easy material gains, atrophy sets in and death ultimately results. Let us make democracy work by working through the instruments of democracy."

Moley endorsed the appeal of Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, for unity of liberals behind the constitutional amendment method, and declared liberals in all walks of life would follow the leadership of Congress and the President in support of an amendment.

"Let there be an attempt to achieve agreement between the Administration and the liberal Congressional opponents of this plan on an amendment or a series of amendments, instead of an attempt to compel unity by contemptuous statements with reference to the company kept by liberals who oppose the plan," said the witness.

Dodds Will Testify.

Representative Lemke, taking the stand in the late afternoon, echoed the views of left-wing Farmers Union executives, who already have opposed the President's court plan. Late today, L. J. Taber, master of the more conservative National Grange, veteran farm organization, will renew the farm assault on the court proposals. The opposition will lead off its witnesses for today with Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University.

Advancing the thesis that Presidents of the United States have "thwarted" the will of Congress more often than the Supreme Court, Representative Lemke said the Court has invalidated only 87 of the 58,353 acts passed through Congress in 148 years. In a comparable period, he said Presidents have vetoed 985 laws, and President Roosevelt holds the record, with 221.

Lemke quoted at length from records of the constitutional convention in support of his contention that the framers of the Constitution intended the Supreme Court to pass judgment on acts of Congress.

AAA Called "Cripple A."

The erstwhile teammate of Father Coughlin referred to the AAA as the "Cripple A," said the farmers never wanted it in the first place, and its re-enactment last session by Congress should meet with another invalidation.

The NRA, he said, "was so clearly unconstitutional that even a layman would have held it so." Nevertheless, he said, the Government would have had more success in the courts on NRA "if the Attorney General had used a little more care in selecting a case."

Lemke had several sharp brushes with court plan advocates, but held his own in the encounters.

Dieterich asked him about his 1936 candidacy for the Presidency, and what ticket he ran on.

"The Union Party," said Lemke. "The same that Abraham Lincoln ran under."

"You're not saying that Abraham Lincoln was anything but a Republican, are you?" asked Dieterich.

"The second time he ran on a Union Party ticket," said Lemke. "And as far as my running for President is concerned, I got four times as many votes as the other minority candidates. If it hadn't been for $4,880,000,000 (relief appropriation) I'd have got a lot more."

Holt Continues Criticism.

"Are you interested in becoming a candidate again?" asked Dieterich. "I don't think that anybody's business," snapped the witness.

At one point during discussion of Lemke's Presidential candidacy, Senator Matthew M. Neely (Democrat), West Virginia, interjected that he "had no fears that you will ever be able to pack the court."

From Chapel Hill, N. C., Senator Rush D. Holt (Democrat), West Virginia, yesterday delivered another radio blast at the court plan, charging that the President and Postmaster General Farley had placed the fight on a "partisan" basis, and appealing for nonpartisanship. Farley previously had spoken at Chapel Hill for the court plan.

"The President and Mr. Farley," Holt said, "by cracking the party whip on this subject, are not appealing to the wisdom of the proposal but to the force that they desire to possess to push it through. The report has gone abroad throughout the land that recognition and patronage will be taken from members of the House and Senate because they dare to differ with the President and Mr. Farley on this question."

LOAN'S
On Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry, Guns, Cameras, Musical Instruments, etc.
Lowest Prices Possible
Unredeemed Flags For Sale
Take Any One Lender 11th and Pa. Ave.

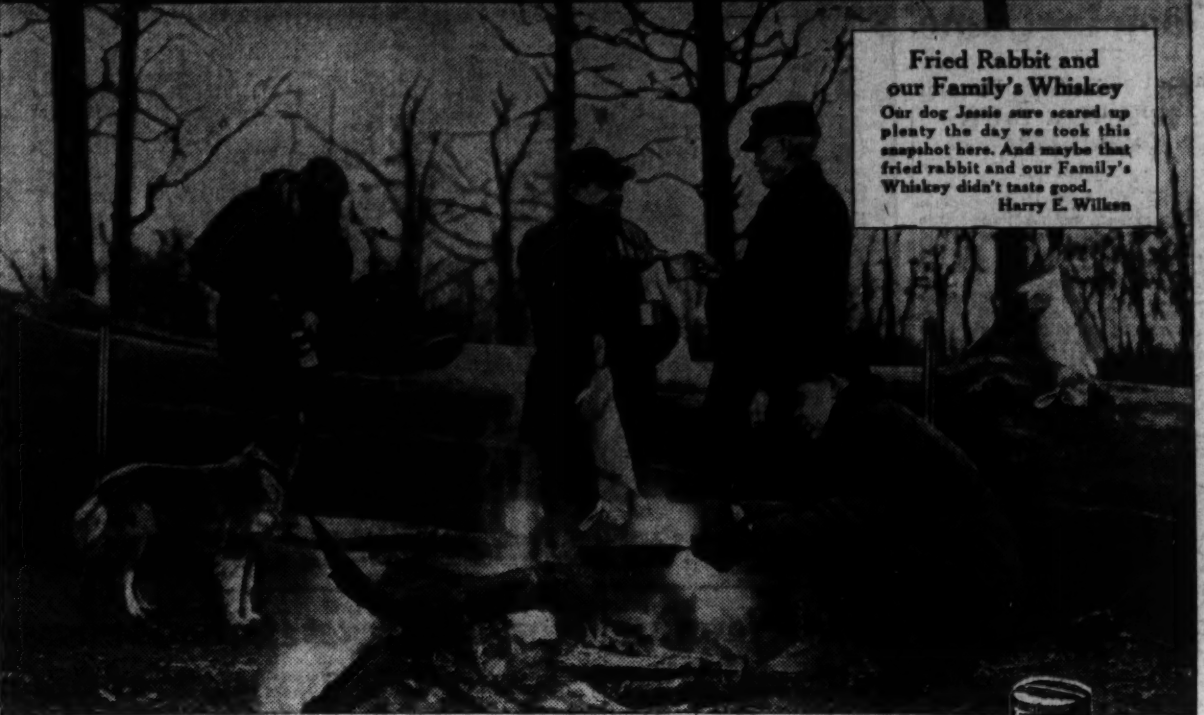

HORNING'S
Opposite Washington Airport

PRIME MEATS
Prime N. Y. Beef 29 Lb.
RIB ROAST
J.B. SPUND'S COMPLETE MARKET
3425 CONN. AVE. COL. 4-400

BARGAIN EXCURSIONS
SPECIAL ROUND TRIP FARES
Good on specified trains only—for details see flyer—small space

Saturday, March 27
$8.00 Boston Providence
$8.00 Boston New Haven
Easter Sunday, March 28
$3.75 New York Newark
$3.75 Atlantic City
Baltimore
$1.25 Every Saturday - Sunday
$1.50 Daily - Good for 3 days
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

It's our family's whiskey, neighbor—and neighbor, it's your price!

Fried Rabbit and our Family's Whiskey
Our dog Jessie sure scared up plenty the day we took this snapshot here. And maybe that fried rabbit and our Family's Whiskey didn't taste good.
Harry E. Wilken

Mild and Tasty and Slick as Velvet —our own Family's Recipe!

I've heard of folks that really like a fairly strong taste to their whiskey. But us distillers enjoy a real mildness to ours when we have a little drink amongst ourselves. And that's what the Wilken Family has always been aiming at—putting up a whiskey that beats all others hollow when it comes to being tasty and mild. We've been picking up all the ins and outs of good whiskey making ever since Grandpa Wilken's time. And this is our own Family's Whiskey—every bottle of it being made according to the personal recipe of us Wilkens. I wouldn't wonder if after trying it you'd say like most everybody else—you've finally got the good old fashioned tastiness you've been missing all the while!

Harry E. Wilken

THE WILKEN FAMILY BLENDED WHISKEY

Copyright 1937, The Wilken Family, Inc., Middle, Pa. Executive Office: N. Y. C. The Wilken Family Blended Whiskey is 40 proof—the strongest whiskey in this product are 15 months or more old. 20% straight whiskey; 75% grain neutral spirits, 20% straight whiskey 15 months old, 25% straight whiskey 6 years old.

SUPERVISED BY THE WILKEN FAMILY

FRIDAY

you'll meet FERNAND GRAVET screen's newest star in "KING & CHORUS GIRL"

Warner Bros. EARLE

When Nature Won't

PHOTO

THE WINNING GOAL!

COSTLIER TOBACCOES

HERB LEWIS (above, left), spark-plug of the Detroit Red Wings, a split-second before he scored! After the game (above, right), between bites of a big hamburger, Herb said: "You bet I enjoy eating. And I'll give Camels credit for helping me enjoy my food. Smoking Camels with my meals and afterward eases tension. I'll second the motion—for digestion's sake—smoke Camels. I enjoy Camels steadily through the training season."

Experience shows that Camel smokers enjoy smoking to the full. It's to Camels they turn for an invigorating "lift" in energy. At mealtimes, it's Camels again "for digestion's sake." Thanks to Camel's gentle aid, the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—speeds up. A sense of well-being follows. So make it Camels—the live-long day. And Camels don't get on your nerves or irritate sensitive throats. Camels are mild!

Capt. S. Thierault goes for days without hot, well-cooked food while his fishing schooner claws through a hurricane. "Hard tack or a big steak," says he, "me for Camels when food comes around. When I smoke Camels it's smooth sailing so far as my digestion is concerned."

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOES... Turkish and Domestic... than any other popular brand.

(Signed) R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY Winston-Salem, N. C.

"JACK OAKIE'S COLLEGE"

Hear "Jack Oakie's College"—a full-hour show with Jack Oakie! Benny Goodman's "Swing" Band! Hollywood comedians and singing stars! Special college amateur talent every week! Tuesdays—9:30 p.m. E.S.T., 8:30 p.m. C.S.T., 7:30 p.m. M.S.T., 6:30 p.m. P.S.T., WABC-CBS Network.

STEER-WRANGLING and bronc-busting are Hardy Murphy's job. "Camels are ace-up with me," Hardy says. "I smoke 'em from sun-up to sun-down. As a cowhand I take what chuck I get and count on Camels to help my digestion."

FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE — SMOKE CAMELS

Hospital Shift To Health Unit Placed in Bill

Change Provided For in 1938 Supply Measure Going to House.

Continued from Page 1.

The 1938 supply bill will not only retain the item providing for a health center, or polyclinic, but increase the appropriation for that project from $150,000—the figure approved by the Budget Bureau—to $200,000.

Furthermore, Representative Collins, who has repeatedly voiced his desire of doing all in his power to improve public health conditions in Washington, is reliably reported to be looking forward to adding centers as finances permit.

Virtually from the beginning of his tenure here in 1935, Health Officer Ruhland has been striving for funds to launch the health center plan, long since adopted by many other cities. These centers, strategically located where the need is greatest, would not only provide diagnostic and treatment facilities for the more common preventable diseases, but also offer prenatal, educational and other services of a public health nature.

Many Provisions Adopted.

Many recommendations embraced in the Prange report, which proposed a five-year expansion program because "the District of Columbia is barely mediocre in the health service," have already been adopted.

A division of public health nursing has been established, some health laws have been revised and modified and a division of public health information has been recently created, to cite a few of the advances urged as the result of a survey 10 years ago.

"Public health authorities appear to hold slightly different opinions with respect to administrative control of municipal hospitals," the report said. "There are, nevertheless, sufficient grounds for recommending that the prevention of disease and the care of the sick should be the undivided responsibility of the medical health officer."

"Responsibility for the control of communicable diseases is logically the function of the Health Department. The care and treatment of those who have contracted communicable diseases becomes equally as important as measures intended to prevent the spread of infection."

"If additional facilities for the treatment of communicable diseases are provided at the municipal hospital under the administrative control of the director of public welfare, this divided responsibility between the director of public welfare and the director of health would be permitted to jeopardize municipal efforts to control these diseases."

Since the survey and report were made, the communicable disease facilities mentioned by Dr. Preble have been provided at Gallinger Hospital, in the form of a modern isolation ward, which is wholly outside the province of the Health Department.

Somerville Estate Tax Held Deficient

The Board of Tax Appeals revealed yesterday that 12 assessments of $75,218 for alleged tax deficiencies had been made by the Internal Revenue Commissioner on the estate of Thomas Somerville, wealthy plumbing firm head.

Somerville died July 25, 1933. When his will was filed for probate it was disclosed that he had left an estate valued at $108,766.88.

The Internal Revenue Commissioner's assessments involved Harrison Somerville, Anna May Somerville, Anna M. Harding, Andrew Jackson Somerville, Margaret Somerville McInerney and Leonard W. Gossomes, all of Washington, and Thomas Somerville 3d, of Kenwood, Md.

Hush-Hush Or Health? Syphilis Causes 10 Per Cent Of Blindness in United States

Dread Venereal Disease Destroys Vision Because of Ignorance; Many Cases Result From Congenital Variety, 99% Preventable.

By Gerald G. Gross.

(This article is one in a series to acquaint citizens with the tragic neglect of the venereal disease problem in the District of Columbia.)

No end-result of syphilis is more pathetic than the blind man or woman, unless it is the sightless child. Washington has many of all ages, tapping their way through traffic, groping about their homes, learning basket-weaving in institutions.

To the anti-venereal clinic of Episcopal Hospital come scores of persons each Monday and Wednesday for "shots" which they hope will save their vision.

The public health committee of the District Medical Society, in collaboration with Health Officer George C. Ruhland, has had a number of articles written especially for The Washington Post which describe the damage caused by syphilis, "the great imitator," on the various parts of the human body. The writers, who have requested anonymity, are all Washington specialists who have had many years' experience in their respective fields.

The first contribution is on the effect of syphilis upon the eyes. It follows:

Syphilis of Eyes.

Few people realize that probably 10 per cent of all blindness is due directly or indirectly to syphilis. This does not mean that every blind person should be suspected of having syphilis, but does mean that early recognition and treatment of this disease would prevent untold mental and physical suffering on the part of these unfortunate. Most of these become blind or have defective vision because "they didn't know."

Do you know that as high as 50 per cent of these persons living in institutions for the blind may blame syphilis directly or indirectly for their condition? Do you know that about 5 per cent of these same people may blame their blindness on their parents because they inherited syphilis? Do you know that about one-third of all those unfortunate confined in mental institutions because of some form of nervous system, either have or will have optic atrophy—that is, "dead nerve of vision." These facts would be very discouraging if we did not know that early recognition and treatment could prevent a large proportion of all these cases.

Infection Indirect.

Syphilis seldom, if ever, directly infects the eye, but after the infection of the body has become general through the blood stream, syphilis then affects the eye as well as the brain, the heart, the stomach and other vital parts. Syphilis has long been called "the great imitator" because it can cause conditions so similar to many other diseases. It can cause a wider variety of inflammations and affections than any other disease known to man, and most of these conditions are very serious. This certainly is true where the eye is concerned.

Syphilis causes paralyzed eye muscles. Late in the disease the poisons of the infecting organism poison the nerve centers, or the nerves themselves, that control the eye muscles and keep the eye from moving properly. The person so affected sees double unless one eye is covered or the disease is cured. Most of these cases clear up promptly when the proper treatment has been given.

Optic Atrophy Cited.

Syphilis causes optic atrophy. Again, late in this disease when the patient's nervous system has been attacked by the poison of syphilis, the "seeing nerve" to the eye is attacked and unless treatment is instituted promptly and effectively, blindness will result. The unfortunate patient who has optic atrophy is that it is not seen by the physician until very late, frequently, and then it is extremely difficult to arrest.

Syphilis causes very serious inflammations of the delicate structures inside the eyes—the iris, the ciliary body and the choroid—and he or she soon seeks medical care. These troubles respond very promptly to good treatment.

Finally, syphilis causes a serious inflammation of the cornea (that is the clear part of the eye in front of the pupil) in children between the ages of 5 and 15 years. This condition is known as "interstitial keratitis," and if the inflammatory process is severe or lasts long, the cornea is no longer clear when healed, but is gray and hazy and the unfortunate victim sees very poorly. Practically all of these children have received this infection from the mother before birth, and it lies dormant until the child is several years old.

Wasserman Tests Urged.

This condition, too, can be treated and much improved, but almost always after it occurs the vision is impaired. Ninety-nine per cent of this type of syphilis (congenital syphilis) can be prevented absolutely if every expectant mother would have a Wasserman test done and take treatment promptly before the baby is born, whenever it is necessary.

Every person, then, who has been exposed to syphilis should remember that early treatment of any case will most often prevent any real damage and lead to a happy and comfortable life. Examination for and treatment of syphilis is not too great a price to pay to avoid optic atrophy, eye muscle paralysis and serious inflammation of the interior of the eye, and to keep the children from suffering from interstitial keratitis and possible blindness when they have their whole lives ahead of them.

Glenn L. Martin Gets $4,300,000 Contract

Baltimore, March 23 (AP).—Glenn L. Martin announced today the Argentine government had awarded his company a $4,300,000 contract for 35 military bombers.

Production will begin at once, with delivery expected late this year, Martin said. The contract brings outstanding orders on the Martin company's books to $12,500,000.

The Martin planes were selected after the Argentine government held a formal competition in Buenos Aires. Manufacturers of three other countries sent demonstration planes for the test. The Martin plane, however, was the only one flown to the test, Martin said—the others were shipped by boat.

England Watches Quota Modification

London, March 23 (AP).—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin disclosed yesterday the British government "attaches the greatest importance" to efforts for the abolition of quota systems and exchange controls.

Answering a suggestion that the British government seek an agreement with other nations in an effort to create a low tariff bloc, Baldwin's memorandum cited two objections to such a policy:

1. It would involve discrimination against nonparticipating nations that might lead to retaliation or tariff wars.

2. Experience has shown that practical results are likely to be achieved only by bilateral negotiations.

Capper Lauds Traffic Series Printed in Post

Senator Urges Federal Law for Uniform System of Accident Inquiries.

Continued from Page 1.

safety; center aisles on new highways, for instance.

"Development of a uniform national system of investigating and reporting accidents can be worked out by the Federal Government in co-operation with local governments and with the aid also of insurance organizations."

Three Functions for Bureau.

"I believe it within the province of the Federal Government and within the power of Congress, and that it is the duty of Congress to provide a Federal agency charged with these three main functions:

"1. To provide for a national uniform system of reporting and investigating accidents.

"2. To act as a clearing house and central agency to co-ordinate the work of the Bureau of Public Roads, the States and the State highway departments in providing highways as safe as engineering, construction, maintenance and marking can make them.

"3. Co-ordinate the work of and cooperate with the National Safety Council, the State safety councils, the motor-car industry and similar organizations working for the common objective in an unending Nation-wide drive for highway safety. And last, but not least, that this Federal agency would head up a campaign of public education and develop a highway consciousness without which all of these other efforts must fail."

What's Going On And Where

Luncheons.

National Symphony Orchestra, Hamilton Hotel, 12:30 p. m.
Zonta Club, Seventeenth and K streets northwest, 1 p. m.
Rotary Club, Willard Hotel, 12:30 p. m.
Soroptimist Club, Willard Hotel, 1 p. m.
Lions Club, Mayflower Hotel, 1 p. m.
Electrical Institute, Carlton Hotel, 12:30 p. m.
Gyro Club, Lafayette Hotel, 12:30 p. m.
Midweek Luncheon Club, Lafayette Hotel, 12:45 p. m.

Dinners.

Association of Military Colleges and Schools, Mayflower Hotel, 7 p. m.
American Bankers Association, Mayflower Hotel, 8:30 p. m.
The Credit Bureau, Willard Hotel, 8:30 p. m.
Norman Goldman, Bowling League, Hamilton Hotel, 11 p. m.

Meetings.

Geological Society, Cosmos Club, 8 p. m.
Washington Photographic Society, Sixteenth and Lamont streets northwest, 8 p. m.
American Federation of Government Employees, District Department, Hamilton Hotel, 8 p. m.
Optimist Club, Mayflower Hotel, 7 p. m.
Association of Military Schools, Mayflower Hotel, 8:30 a. m.
Philatelic Society, Carlton Hotel, 8 p. m.
Masons Association, Wardman Park Hotel, 8:15 p. m.
Sigma Nu Phi, Lafayette Hotel, 8 p. m.
Agriculture Department, Local George Washington Student Union, Stockton Hall, 8:15 p. m.
Navy Yard Local, No. 250, N. F. F. E., Southeast Library, 8 p. m.
The Children's Community Theater presents "The Merchant of Venice" in the Roosevelt Auditorium, Thirteenth and Allison streets northwest, at 8:15 p. m.

for Lumber
Hechinger Co. Call Our Number
ATL. 1400

Lamb Quits as Traffic Head; Reorganization Is Forecast

Resignation Result of Poor Health; Inspector William E. Holmes Slated for Job, Headquarters Rumor Indicates.

Continued from Page 1.

nounced by the American Automobile Association's District Motor Club.

To demonstrate the laxity of existing regulations the club purchased an ancient truck for $20 which was supposed to conform to safety inspection regulations. The vehicle was towed to the Bureau of Standards where it was found to have defective hand and foot brakes, improper lights and other mechanical disorders.

The bill the Commissioners are anxious to have enacted would require inspection of all cars and trucks at municipal inspection stations. At present dealers are supposed to inspect a car's safety devices before it is sold.

At the last session of Congress a bill to require compulsory inspection died in the Senate awaiting Budget Bureau action. It had passed the House the year before.

The Budget Bureau refuses to allow the Commissioners to send proposed legislation to Congress without its approval. John L. Keddy, assistant to the Budget Director, is the official who passes on all proposed District legislation. He recently turned down a request for a supplemental relief appropriation with the explanation that it is the duty of the churches to care for unemployed men who can not find work.

"Vicious Circle."

Termining the present safety regulations a "vicious circle," the District Motor Club charged that used-car dealers are "flouting and disregarding" inspection laws.

"We have every reason to believe," Russell E. Singer, general manager of the association declared, "that the practice is not confined to fly-by-night handlers of used cars, but also that knowingly, or unknowingly, the agents of reputable dealers in new and used cars are participating in this unjustifiable racket."

"This widespread evasion of present inspection laws as they relate to used-car sales comes at a time when traffic fatalities are rising to unprecedented heights."

Several kisses cost Lawrence M. Pisani, 318 Bryant street northeast, $5 yesterday.

It seems he was motoring on Eleventh street southeast Monday, and according to Policeman M. M. Dodge each time he attempted to pass Pisani, Pisani swerved to the left.

The policeman stopped the driver and charged him with "emergency control," which means failure to always have your car in hand. Traffic Court Judge John P. McMahon fined Pisani $5 when the latter testified his girl friend continued to kiss him, diverting his attention.

The policeman stopped the driver and charged him with "emergency control," which means failure to always have your car in hand. Traffic Court Judge John P. McMahon fined Pisani $5 when the latter testified his girl friend continued to kiss him, diverting his attention.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Helena, Mont., March 23 (AP).—There'll be no beer in Paradise. So ruled the State Supreme Court yesterday, upholding regulations of the land company which laid out that western Montana railroad division of that name.

All needs to lots in Paradise include prohibitions against gambling, liquor, beer and immorality.

Pertinent Paragraph

Polka dots sprinkle white on a gray redingote which clings softly. Scallop outline the coat—bright cinnamon and chartreuse twist from throat to waist and fall in broad panels to the hem.

MISSIE DRESSES THIRD FLOOR

WOODWARD & LOTHROP
1011 F and G Streets
The Easter Store
Phone District 6300

WOODWARD & LOTHROP

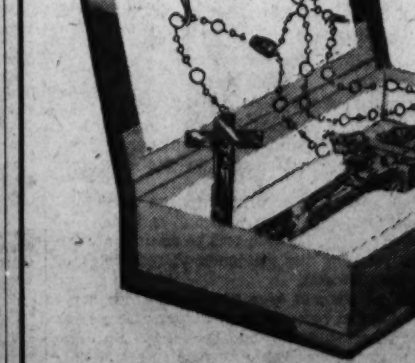

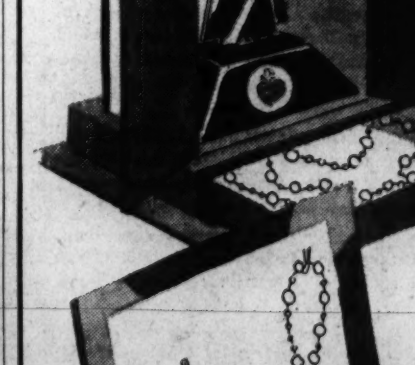

1011 F and G Streets The Easter Store Phone District 6300

Your Guests will like the Tea Room

Easter and the cherry blossoms will bring innumerable visitors to Washington. Solve the problem of luncheon or tea in town by bringing them to our charming Tea Room. Special parties will be arranged if you desire, and for large parties you may reserve a private dining room. Your guests are sure to like the quiet atmosphere, the delicious fare, and the competent service they had thought to be found only in private homes.

For your home entertaining during the Easter season, let us lighten the work by providing small, delectable sandwiches, tiny cakes, large cakes for centerpieces, or pastry desserts to vary family meals at home.

Sandwiches,
50c dozen, $3.75 hundred
Tea Cakes,
35c dozen, $2.75 hundred
Large Cakes, $1 to $1.75
TEA ROOM, SEVENTH FLOOR

STATIONERY, AISLE 13, FIRST FLOOR

DuBarry presents Derma-sec

at a special price for this week only

A Regular $3 jar for $1.50

Hold your head high this stately season. Youth rules in Spring, and a lined or withered throat can age the loveliness of your face. DuBarry Derma-Sec Formula will improve the softness and smoothness of your skin. Its penetrating and emollient oils make an ideal combination for the very dry skin of an aging neck or for preservation of a youthful neckline.

Miss Louise Purcell Special Hudnut Representative

—will be in the Toiletries Section through Saturday, March 27th. She will tell you about this unusually effective preparation, which is to be sold at this very low price only during her visit.

TOILETRIES, AISLE 13, FIRST FLOOR

Easter Gifts of Special Significance

Easter, and the sorrows and joys peculiar to it, carries a powerful depth of meaning to those who have lived in the shadows of its tradition. What then could be a more appropriate gift than a crucifix, a rosary, or medals. We have sketched two sets by La Tausca to show their beauty.

A—Miniature shrine with gilded crucifix and a black base, two medals, and in the drawer a rosary of simulated pearls and gilt links. $3.50
B—Book containing a small crucifix and a gilt and simulated pearl rosary. $3

Rosaries, $1 to $8.50
Crucifixes, $1 to $2
Medals, 50c to $1

STATIONERY, AISLE 20, FIRST FLOOR

W. & J. SLOANE 711 TWELFTH ST.
The House With the Green Shutters

With Excellent Example of Sloane Company of Mastercraftsmanship—and a verification of the Sloane slogan—"Always High Grade; Never High Priced."

Bennington Wing Chair

(Illustrated Above)

A skillful interpretation of the popular Early Colonial School, with all the grace and charm of that period. Cabriole legs of solid maple and luxuriously comfortable cushion filled with genuine down. The Chair handsomely tailored in attractive fabric.

$88.50

Charge Accounts—Courtesy Parking, Capital Garage

Watch your step and live . . .

One of the biggest hazards to motorists is the thoughtless action of small children when crossing a street. Very often they dart out into the street without looking or thinking. Every motorist should be extremely careful when nearing a school zone to avoid the possibility of injuring a small child.

BE SURE YOUR EYES ARE NOT AT FAULT

Driving in the crowded business areas as well as in school zones demands that the driver be alert and watchful every moment. Good vision is certainly one of the best aids for both motorist and pedestrian. Be sure your eyes and your children's eyes are as keen and accurate as they should be. Have Dr. Geo. E. Dodson examine your eyes today to make sure that your vision is correct—don't take any chances.

Glasses on Convenient Terms
JEWELERS—OPTICIANS
The CROSS Co.
1331 F STREET N.W.
WASHINGTON'S MOST BEAUTIFUL JEWELRY STORE

Not For Barbarians

By Theodore Hall

WE need not pretend that we find it very shocking when some observer stands up in meeting and declares that, by and large, we are a barbarian people. Grinning slightly, we are even a little bit pleased, as if there were in the word an air of vigor, of freshness, of that admitted strength with which we have taken over the continent. Surely the speaker was smiling when he said it, as Mr. Wister's Virginian advised; and why then should we be shocked, certainly, we are not.

But the point of Sherlock Holmes' dog in the night, you will remember, was that it quite failed to bark. And the point of our particular barbarism, the very nub itself, is that we do not understand the term sufficiently to see that it is a fighting word. We do not know what barbarism is. Not long back, in the Saturday Evening Post, there appeared an article by a young woman, an officer in a national sorority, in which she described co-educational college life as it is now lived among our sweet and brawny young things. It was an amusing piece of writing—I beg you to look it up—and no doubt at all every reader of it found himself chuckling over the folk ways of our campuses. How full of youth these colleges are! How charming! And if you but catch your breath and look upon them coolly—what an utterly abysmal pack of social and intellectual and emotional barbarians! But such a journal as the Saturday Evening Post would never knowingly print a castigation of its readers; a circulation of 3,000,000 would hardly relish such insult, if it understood; and we can only turn again to the conclusion that barbarism is naked of meaning to us.

NOW one of the best possible uses of a book is that of a yard-stick, a measuring-rod, against which we may lay our length to determine, however crudely, our own stature. To be sure, this is not a fashionable thing to do. In this day when everyone is something of an original genius, comparisons are not only odious but impertinent. And when I bring forward William Orton's "The Last Romantic" it is with a good sense indeed that the book is not fashionable, that it will not be popular, that it must search out its own rare band of readers. The book is a yard-stick of the first order. It is an accurate corrective of barbarism. It is—let me put all the cards on the table now—such a personal, thoughtful, deeply illuminating book that though it gives a very great deal to the reader, it asks even more from him.

I should not expect to find "The Last Romantic" on the best-selling lists, but I should expect to see it on the study-tables of people who are not yet purblind, not yet perfect in their own lights, not yet barbarians.

This is the story of a young Englishman named Michael, born in 1889 in the town where H. G. Wells was born; growing up in the family of a grocer—a status somewhere between that of a butler and a banker; going to a "dame's school" and to that home of liberalism, the University College School; reading much; studying art and music; exploring the glamorous realm of girls; becoming apprentice in a firm of architects; writing a little for the Westminster Review; teaching at a boys' school, falling two or three ways in love; becoming the friend of Katharine Mansfield; entering Christ's College, Cambridge; enlisting in the war; going out to Gallipoli; returning to the Western Front and dying in the mud.

That, in outward experience, is all. One would hardly read the book for vicarious adventure, you see. But Mr. Orton, who is an Englishman, a professor at Smith, and the author of books on labor, economics and American culture, gives the merit to the story by weaving into it an exceeding richness of personal, interior life. One of the means is Michael's diary, in which the lad from the age of 16, proceeded to enter his closest thinking. The other means is the store of memories of a cultivated, aware and integrated man. Michael, of course, is Mr. Orton himself. Mr. Orton growing up in the romantic mood of his time and place, Mr. Orton drawing a symbolic close to an era by the device of Michael's death in France. (The factuality of the experiences is not that of fiction, nor even that of an imagined counterpart to an actual diary. There is likewise suggestive evidence in the point that, in a book where most of the events are carefully dated, the author gives no date for Michael's "death.")

BUT Mr. Orton's mild dodge is not important. What is of great account is the relevance with which Michael's expansions of spirit and mind, his wrestlings with the continual deep problems of life, come home to us and cast a light upon our own train of days. Many of us, barbarians though we are, have been advancing along a similar road. Michael's reading list at 19, of his own ambitious devising, would reflect credit upon a Ph. D. We are not a little sincerely concerned in our own development—Michael's intense, clear reasoning on his own materials is in itself a criticism of our accustomed sopping-up of second-hand information. But Michael's pattern, the idealist and self-savior, has occurred many times among us, and these are the readers who will draw closest to the book and gain most from it.

For barbarism is not a particular code of outlandish life, Bushman or Papuan or 1937 Collegian, but rather an avoidance, really a sheer ignorance, of the attitude toward life which produced these reflections of Michael's. It does not matter that Michael happened to be a romantic; an easy label does not explain it. It matters extremely, however, that there be young people like Michael who are interested in something beyond advertised products and advertised amusements, who are aware of multi-dimensional world about them, who use yard-sticks bravely, and who have a horror of the word barbarism. Mr. Orton's book should be a vade mecum to such as these. Whatever we call him, it would be worse for us than a pity if Michael were really the last romantic.

"THE LAST ROMANTIC," by William Orton. (Farrar and Rinehart, $2.50.)

Inheritance of Frustration

"VERY HEAVEN," by Richard Aldington. (Doubleday, Doran, $2.50.)

It is a tribute to Mr. Aldington's writing skill that "Very Heaven" is an interesting, entertaining and at times provocative book. For it is hardly news that the world today offers no chaise longue of orchids for young men with nebulous schemes for saving the world by their grasp of prehistory but with nothing to offer in the way of practical experience.

Mr. Aldington's Chris Heylin is not Everyyoungman but he does represent a definite type—"whose inheritance is frustration," as the author says. He is near the end of his academic career when his family suffers financial reverses and he is removed from the calm of the campus and thrust into the hurly burly of every day affairs. His typical reaction is keen disappointment, some self-pity, and a feeling of helplessness.

His family offer a clever scheme for him to continue a life of action—he may marry a rich lady and dabble in prehistory to his heart's content. But Chris refuses this opportunity and sets out to make his own way. He has made little progress at the end of 344 pages, but he has had ample opportunity to think things through. Provocative indeed are his questions: Is it my fault that I was born into a society which has no place for me, can make no use of me? ... A society which is so infinitely ... A society which is so infinitely ... A society which is so infinitely ...

"Very Heaven" does not give him an answer to his query. Instead, he concludes that he shall never see the world of finer men and women of which he dreams, "that world which is so tantalizingly near and yet so far, which by an effort, it seems, we could so certainly attain were it not equally certain that we shall not make the effort." Here is a book which will appeal to many readers not only for its intellectual but also its amorous content, since Mr. Aldington seems at home in both fields. While hardly the thing to give your college friends for graduation, it might do them a world of good to read it.

DAN TERRELL.

Off the Record.

By Ed Reed

"That's the umpire at Griffith Stadium; she's getting him in training for the season!"

BOOKS

A Mid-Week Review of Current Publications

Experiences of a Woman in White

A Southern Belle Gives Up Life Of Ease For Profession.

By Marian Nichols.

Personally appeared in 1833, Mrs. Jane Hawkins, "wife of Richard Hawkins," before a Connecticut blue-laws court, to be admonished that she must no longer "meddle in surgery or phisick, drinks, plasters or oyles."

Writing in 1937, Dr. Rosalie Morton, well known in Washington as a physician and surgeon, compares this blighted medical career with her own back-ground of Berlin, Vienna, Russia, Paris, Bombay, Serbia, Washington, New York, Labrador and Florida! Two hundred and ninety-nine years, and a long road traveled since the days of poorly paid and her prohibited "phisicks," also, to quote Dr. Morton again, since the days of one Margaret Jones, a female physician who was the first person executed in Massachusetts Bay Colony for witchcraft!

Undoubtedly those unfortunate ladies, Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Jones—and the women pioneers in medicine who followed them—were driven by the urge that caused the young Rosalie Slaughter to brave critical friends and a protesting family to follow the same road. It is no particular wonder that she chose medicine; for the branches of her ancestral tree were 17 direct and 52 collateral relatives who were doctors.

These doctors, who have created a medical atmosphere, to breathe along with the perfumes of the old-fashioned Virginia garden of her childhood.

Probably also a contributing element to the career that was to take her to the world's end and back, was that Dr. Morton was descended, through her mother, from

"THEATER," by Somerset Maugham. (Doubleday, Doran, $2.50.)

Somerset Maugham must by now be sick of hearing that his work is very, very clever. And amusing. He's got no one but himself to blame. Read his latest novel, "Theater," and then try to talk about it without using the word clever.

It can be done, as Mr. Clifton Fadiman in The New Yorker cleverly manages to do, but he has had longer practice. You get the idea, all the same, from his review, that Maugham has written another clever story ("witty and graceful") and that's about all he has done. Perhaps we should accept it at that. If all the author is trying to do is to entertain, certainly he accomplishes that. While you're reading this sparkling novel (another Maugham adjective) you think that you are getting even more than momentary amusement out of it. The characters themselves are quite serious with their problems: Julia (and just how important is sex?) her Eltonian son and his search for reality; Julia's husband and his reputation as being "the most beautiful man in London." They are drawn so roundly that the reader is likely to be taken in, to think of the characters as seriously as they do themselves. But that likelihood seems strangely impossible 15 or 20 minutes after you have finished the story, let out at last laugh at the last pleasant paragraph. Why? It must be his technique.

Burton Rascoe says this is one of the really great novels in English literature, but I should guess that unless he is someday very desperate for a clever story he will never bother to read it again. Maugham, in the February number of the Literary Guild's "Wings," writes, "This novel 'Theater' is the first book in the new and final chapter of my life." If that is true, it's too bad, because he did write "Of Human Bondage."

Gardens And Gardening

"GARDENS AND GARDENING, 1937," edited by F. A. Mercer. (The Studio Publications, N. Y. C., $1.50.)

This book is devoted to garden design with a pictorial review of gardens from all countries. The editor has particularly kept in mind the new home-owner who finds himself with a queerly shaped rectangle of ground or an unmanageable circle. Sometimes a shrub will work wonders, or maybe a hedge.

The peaceful little English gardens in this book look as if they should have poems written about them. The more practical-minded will find out in these pages just how to attain this quaint effect.

Quaker stock. And Quakers have something—a quietly persuasive something—that conceals a multitude of firm-willed purposes. These usually lead to unobtrusive accomplishment, so that while the rest of the world goes around in chaotic circles, when the arc is completed, it finds the Quaker folk resting quietly at the goal, in the serene confidence that a straight line is still the shortest distance between two points.

Be that as it may, Rosalie Slaughter set a direct course from the guarded feminine oasis of Virginia bellehood to the stark desert of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, and an innumerable cessation of clinics and hospitals. Not that this represented any desert to her, for to persons privileged to be born with an understanding of human needs, and the skill to administer to these needs, any other field of action is unthinkable; the price is forgotten in the satisfaction of service.

This satisfaction is discernible throughout her book. A delightful aspect of it is the continual thread of anecdote, amusing or pathetic, to illustrate her theme that a doctor's reward for service is the power to untangle the twisted skeins of human lives and human suffering. Dr. Morton also is delightful in her own reactions—she does not lose her femininity because she handles scalpels rather than rose leaves. She speaks simply of the fact that she accomplished this or that difficult piece of surgery with the all too defensive explanation that her hands are small and can thus experience living tissue more easily than a man's; that a woman is naturally a seamstress, hence it is easy for her to do a competent job with sutures and catgut—as though surgery were an advanced form of embroidery. She tells of her early efforts to appear as dignified as her profession; and how, after a siege of typhoid, she wore a bonnet with a "bun" of her fever-sweated hair sewed firmly to the brim, and how, after making an impressive entrance into a sickroom, she bent over the bed, stethoscope in hand, the bonnet suddenly slid and landed on the floor, revealing a most unprofessional crop of baby-sheep curls. She also tells how she "joyfully squandered on clothes" the alumnae prize of $25 that she had won.

This buoyancy of spirit and a delicacy of understanding are constantly in evidence. The reader gathers a sparkling picture of medical student life in Germany and Vienna, of Christmas in Russia, and what is unique, a clear-cut remembrance of a surgical progress of hospitalization. Three interviews with Count Tolstoy, these, added to her treasured conversation with Ibsen in Paris, lend a literary world flavor to her tale.

Her description of the horrors of bubonic plague in India reveals a vigorous Anglo-Saxon impatience toward conditions arising from centuries of custom. This impatience can be understood in a direct action person who in later years was to gain such a broad grasp on the problems of social development, and the international progress of hospitalization, who was to have a prominent part in the establishment of public health education," one of the most far-reaching benefits of modern medicine; carry her gift of executive organization into war-torn Serbia, to founding of the American Women's Hospitals, and to the Council for National Defense.

More picturesque was her leadership in the founding of the international Serbian educational committee. From her moving love of Serbia as she saw it during those hell-ridden days came the idea, after the war, of educating 60 Serbian youngsters whose lives had been shattered by the war-torn Balkan kingdom. Her genius for organization accomplished the task of raising money for their passage to America and for their tuition. For four busy years she watched over them as faithfully as a mother of 60 children could do. Her analysis of the nervous difficulties that these war-torn boys and girls had to overcome is intensely interesting. She gives an actual picture—with 60 details—of the misery of children who had no part in the fighting, but who suffered nevertheless from the backlash of its results.

The end of the book is written in the same vein as the beginning—an informal tale of a woman who has lived vividly, but who has never lost touch with the intimate things of living, or the eternal sense of humor, with which a doctor braces himself against a too painful world.

"A WOMAN SURGEON: The Life and Work of Rosalie Slaughter Morton." (Stokes, $3.)

As a preface to his volume, the poet quotes a few lines from the early poems of T. S. Eliot, but that is unnecessary. A glance at his first stanza amply testifies to Eliot's influence.

He put the drouth pried open the wind shakes; the feathery V's fly toward the greener scope; the duldest worm keeps at the loom that makes a confident birth-cry of his silken hope.

In his swift moving and caustic lines, however, the poet presents us astonishingly original qualities of mind and technique of his own. Mr. MacIntyre's chief concern is men and women who are haunted with a sense of tragedy and frustration, and he pities, sympathizes and ridicules them.

By dream-mirages men are run thin—it is maggots sucking the sweet gray brain; but women set their hearts on emphatic something and sort much chaff to find one grain.

He addresses Alcestis: Lady, you like to die, I take it, but who falls once may be innocent to smiles that turned to the sere with autumn.

Which is enough to annoy any reader. On the whole, however, Mr. MacIntyre has much to say about the world he lives in and people he associates, and says it with a fine sureness of workmanship.

SHIO SAKANISHI.

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

George Gabby, who has written three murder mysteries, has just completed a fourth which he calls "Murder Half Baked." ... That doesn't sound half as mysterious to me as something on a menu known as "Baked Alaska." ...

There's a new mystery book out entitled "Murder in the Newspaper Guild." ... Ho Hum. ...

Dr. Rosalie Morton's Story As Thrilling As That Of Medicine.

health education," one of the most far-reaching benefits of modern medicine; carry her gift of executive organization into war-torn Serbia, to founding of the American Women's Hospitals, and to the Council for National Defense.

More picturesque was her leadership in the founding of the international Serbian educational committee. From her moving love of Serbia as she saw it during those hell-ridden days came the idea, after the war, of educating 60 Serbian youngsters whose lives had been shattered by the war-torn Balkan kingdom. Her genius for organization accomplished the task of raising money for their passage to America and for their tuition. For four busy years she watched over them as faithfully as a mother of 60 children could do. Her analysis of the nervous difficulties that these war-torn boys and girls had to overcome is intensely interesting. She gives an actual picture—with 60 details—of the misery of children who had no part in the fighting, but who suffered nevertheless from the backlash of its results.

The end of the book is written in the same vein as the beginning—an informal tale of a woman who has lived vividly, but who has never lost touch with the intimate things of living, or the eternal sense of humor, with which a doctor braces himself against a too painful world.

"A WOMAN SURGEON: The Life and Work of Rosalie Slaughter Morton." (Stokes, $3.)

As a preface to his volume, the poet quotes a few lines from the early poems of T. S. Eliot, but that is unnecessary. A glance at his first stanza amply testifies to Eliot's influence.

He put the drouth pried open the wind shakes; the feathery V's fly toward the greener scope; the duldest worm keeps at the loom that makes a confident birth-cry of his silken hope.

In his swift moving and caustic lines, however, the poet presents us astonishingly original qualities of mind and technique of his own. Mr. MacIntyre's chief concern is men and women who are haunted with a sense of tragedy and frustration, and he pities, sympathizes and ridicules them.

By dream-mirages men are run thin—it is maggots sucking the sweet gray brain; but women set their hearts on emphatic something and sort much chaff to find one grain.

He addresses Alcestis: Lady, you like to die, I take it, but who falls once may be innocent to smiles that turned to the sere with autumn.

Which is enough to annoy any reader. On the whole, however, Mr. MacIntyre has much to say about the world he lives in and people he associates, and says it with a fine sureness of workmanship.

SHIO SAKANISHI.

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

George Gabby, who has written three murder mysteries, has just completed a fourth which he calls "Murder Half Baked." ... That doesn't sound half as mysterious to me as something on a menu known as "Baked Alaska." ...

There's a new mystery book out entitled "Murder in the Newspaper Guild." ... Ho Hum. ...

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

George Gabby, who has written three murder mysteries, has just completed a fourth which he calls "Murder Half Baked." ... That doesn't sound half as mysterious to me as something on a menu known as "Baked Alaska." ...

There's a new mystery book out entitled "Murder in the Newspaper Guild." ... Ho Hum. ...

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

European Costumes

"PEASANT COSTUME IN EUROPE," Book II, by Kathleen Mann. (Macmillan, $4.)

Eight illustrations in color and 64 in black and white give an excellent idea of the peasant costumes of Denmark, the Baltic States, the British Isles, Holland, Poland, Germany and the Balkans. Miss Mann has also painstakingly drawn small details from headresses, embroidery motifs and jewelry.

The book is charming, as well as educational. And it would be a veritable godsend to anyone trying to concoct something colorful and different for a costume party.

"A WOMAN SURGEON: The Life and Work of Rosalie Slaughter Morton." (Stokes, $3.)

As a preface to his volume, the poet quotes a few lines from the early poems of T. S. Eliot, but that is unnecessary. A glance at his first stanza amply testifies to Eliot's influence.

He put the drouth pried open the wind shakes; the feathery V's fly toward the greener scope; the duldest worm keeps at the loom that makes a confident birth-cry of his silken hope.

In his swift moving and caustic lines, however, the poet presents us astonishingly original qualities of mind and technique of his own. Mr. MacIntyre's chief concern is men and women who are haunted with a sense of tragedy and frustration, and he pities, sympathizes and ridicules them.

By dream-mirages men are run thin—it is maggots sucking the sweet gray brain; but women set their hearts on emphatic something and sort much chaff to find one grain.

He addresses Alcestis: Lady, you like to die, I take it, but who falls once may be innocent to smiles that turned to the sere with autumn.

Which is enough to annoy any reader. On the whole, however, Mr. MacIntyre has much to say about the world he lives in and people he associates, and says it with a fine sureness of workmanship.

SHIO SAKANISHI.

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

George Gabby, who has written three murder mysteries, has just completed a fourth which he calls "Murder Half Baked." ... That doesn't sound half as mysterious to me as something on a menu known as "Baked Alaska." ...

There's a new mystery book out entitled "Murder in the Newspaper Guild." ... Ho Hum. ...

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

George Gabby, who has written three murder mysteries, has just completed a fourth which he calls "Murder Half Baked." ... That doesn't sound half as mysterious to me as something on a menu known as "Baked Alaska." ...

There's a new mystery book out entitled "Murder in the Newspaper Guild." ... Ho Hum. ...

Today's mail brought a note from Doris Schneider, of Longmans Green, telling me that she has read Ramona Herdman's "Today Is Forever," and wants to call attention to it, since Miss Herdman is in charge of publicity at Harper Brothers and never sends out publicity on her own books. ... I don't know what you think, but I think that's quite a beau geste on the part of Longmans Green. ...

John Farrar, whose book on Father Damien will appear March 26, tells a dramatic incident in a dramatic way. ... When Father Damien had been at Molokai 12 years, he was celebrating early mass one Sunday in June in the chapel at Kalawao. ... There was nothing to indicate that this mass would be different. ... But after the priest had advanced to the sanctuary rail, a shocker air went through the audience. ... For instead of addressing them with the usual "My brethren," he had said, slowly and significantly, "We lepers. ... It was his way of telling them that he had contracted their disease. ... To me that's one of the most beautiful little anecdotes that I have ever heard. ...

Luv and Literature: The engagement has just been announced of John P. Marquand, author of "The Late George Apley," to Miss Adelaide Hooker. ... Mr. Marquand will thus become the brother-in-law of the Irish author, Ernie O'Malley, who married Helen Hooker in 1935. ...

Pie in the 1937 Sky

By Constance Stratton

WHEN Aldous Huxley published "Point Counter Point" in 1928, a good many of his generation accepted it as a peculiarly personal answer, bitter enough but made palatable by the brilliance of its presentation and the cold clarity of its thought, to the question of the postwar world. If, indeed, there could be neither refuge nor solution in sex or the church, in Beethoven quartets or maternal whistles-and-sods, in the creation of art or the consciousness of faith in the dignity of man, there might at least be the superior pleasure of realization and resignation, of highly conscious surrender to futility.

It was true that not many of those who found in this book the comfort of a completely intellectual nihilism recognized the quality of positive anger which, quite as definitely as those of wit and a finely trained logic, composed that testament of confusion. But this was in 1928 and the articulate voices of that time were with the majority. ...

All this is by way of preface to Mr. Calder-Marshall's novel, "Pie in the Sky." Some changes have occurred in the nine years between the publication of these two novels; the dual problem of the 'twenties, that of sex and "art," has given way to the equally pressing one of the 'thirties, that of sex and economics. Mr. Marshall's characters lack the conversation and the income of Mr. Huxley's and it is possibly significant that the title of his book comes, not from Shakespeare, but from the old I. W. W. hymn. Nevertheless there is a noticeable similarity between the author of "Point Counter Point" (although not of "Eyeless in Gaza") and the author of "Pie in the Sky."

MR. MARSHALL'S novel seems to me a good and honest one and if his writing is not "of the utmost brilliance," as his publishers believe, it is witty, accurate and quite often of a brilliance which, if not "utmost," is at least of a very respectable degree. His profiteers, hack journalists, middle-class Communists, homely, unhappy girls, taris and confidence men and, particularly his bewildered small-town workers, living, puzzled, on the dole in the

AMUSEMENTS.

HEARLE

Last 2 Days

JESSIE MATTHEWS

in 68 songs

"Head Over Heels in Love"

— On Stage —

SYLVIA HANMON & CO. PERT WALTON and others

Coming Friday

FERNAND GRAYET

In Warner Bros. — Maryn Le Roy's

"KING & CHORUS GIRL"

with JOAN BLONDELL

On Stage

JAN GARBER & ORCH.

METROPOLITAN

Last 2 Days

GRACE MOORE

in Columbia's

"WHEN YOU'RE IN LOVE"

with Cary Grant

Coming Friday

CLARK GABLE ★ CAROLE LOMBARD

In Paramount's

"NO MAN OF HER OWN"

Brought Back by Popular Demand

MAT. 25c-50c. 25c. 50c.

NATIONAL

Today 2:30
Tonight 8:30

Eves. 25c to $2.75. Mats. Today & Sat. 25c to $2.50. (Inc. tax.)

Curtain Promptly
8:30 Evenings. 2:30 Matinees.

No Seating During First Scene

THE THEATRE GUILD, INC.

Presents

Helen Jerome's Dramatization of Charlotte Brontë's Novel

"JANE EYRE"

With

KATHARINE HEPBURN

(IN PERSON)

NEXT WEEK BEG. MON.

Mats. Wed. & Sat.

SEATS TOMORROW

MAX GORDON presents
the Shirley Musical Play Production Compelled & Directed by HASSARD

SHORT

"THE GREAT WALL"

TWO SEASONS
PHENOMEN-AL RUN AT THE CENTER THEATRE,
RADIO CITY IN ROCK-EFELLER CENTER, N. Y.

Eves. 25c, $1.10, $1.65, $2.20 & $2.75.
Wed. & Sat. Mats. 55c, $1.10, $1.65
& $2.50 (Inc. tax.)

NOW KEITH'S

A WASHINGTON INSTITUTION

★ Engagement Extended

TWO MORE DAYS

ALEXANDER KORDA'S

"FIRE OVER ENGLAND"

WITH STAR CAST

Starting FRIDAY...

★ KATHARINE HEPBURN

★ FRANCHOT TONE

IN SIR J. M. BARRIE'S

"QUALITY STREET"

TODAY'S Neighborhood MOVIES

ASHLEY 265 7th St. S.W.
8234
Glenda Farrell—"Smart Blonde."

(NEW) CIRCLE 2105 PA. AVE.
Phone West 0053
Elizabeth Bergner, Lawrence Oliver in
"AS YOU LIKE IT."
Cartoon.

DUMBARTON 1343 WIS. AVE.
Kay Francis, Ian Hunter, "STOLEN HOLIDAY."
Comedy.

FAIRLAWN ANACOSTIA, D. C.
Deanna Durbin, Ray Millard
"THREE SMART GIRLS."
Band Reel.

LIDO 3227 M ST. N.W.
Joseph Calleia, "Sworn Enemy."
"WHERE IN THE LEGION NOW."

SECO 2244 Ga. Ave., Silver Spring, Md.
Bing Crosby, Bette Davis
"PENNIES FROM HEAVEN."
Martha Ray in
"HIDEAWAY GIRL."

STATE-BETHESDA 6916 WIS. AVE.
8234
Dick Powell, Joan Blondell in "GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937."
News & Variety.

FALLS CHURCH, VA.

STATE NO PARKING WORRIES LEE

Kay Francis in Warren William,
Karon Morley
"STOLEN HOLIDAY" in "OUTCAST"

TAKOMA 4th & BUTTERNUT STS.
No Parkings Troubles
Lily Pons in
"THAT GIRL FROM PARIS."
John Howard in "EASY TO TAKE."

WILSON Opp. Colonial Village
Arlington, Va.
Sylvia Sydney in "THE WOMAN ALONE."

HIPPODROME 8 NEAR 14th
Double Show
Joe E. Brown—"Sons of Guns."
Randolph Scott—"Last of Mohicans."

CAMEO MY RAINIER, MD.
Today—Tomorrow
Charles Swarthout, "Champagne Waltz"

ARCADE HYATTSVILLE, MD.
Double Show
Conrad Nagel—"Sons of Guns"
Joan Bennett—"Wedding Present."

RICHMOND ALEXANDRIA, VA.
Today, Tom.
Jean Arthur in "Adventure in Manhattan"

JESSE THEATER 18th & Irving
8th & N.E.
Greta Garbo, Robert Taylor,
"CAMILLE."

SYLVAN 1st and N. E. Ave. N.W.
"MAN OF AFFAIRS."
With George Arliss

PALM THEATER DEL. RAY,
VA.
Double Feature
Bruce Cabot and John Travita in
"THE BIG GAME"
Ralph Bellamy in
"THE MAN WHO LIVED TWICE."

REMEMBERS

Direction of Sides Last

REMEMBERS

Direction of Sides Last

Invincible Italy Will Combat Bad Faith, Mussolini Warns World

Il Duce Brands British Attack As 'Hysterical'

Calls Condemnation of Ethiopian Act 'Hypocrisy' of Churchmen.

Rome, March 23.—Premier Mussolini, acclaimed by his Black Shirts followers on the eighteenth anniversary of the Fascist Party founding, branded a charge of "hypocrisy" at English church leaders today.

Standing on a balcony of the Palazzo Venezia, Il Duce told a Fascist throng that criticism by Anglican churchmen of the Italian suppression of an Ethiopian outbreak was "hysterical, hypocritical oratory."

(The English Archbishops of Canterbury and York recently attacked what they called the "general massacre" in Ethiopia after Ethiopians had tried unsuccessfully to kill Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, Italian victor.)

"To the bad faith of others," Mussolini shouted, "we shall oppose our indestructible will; to the castles of lies of others, the truth; to the blind hatred of others, our conscious contempt."

The remarks of the British churchmen, he said, indicated they were eager to find "notes" in others eyes while not noticing the "beams" in their own.

Press attacks on Italy in both Great Britain and France, the premier declared, were "a tempest of printed paper and an inundation of verbal ink."

Eighteen years after the establishment of the Fascist Party in San Sepolcro, Italy, Mussolini said, Italy is a strong Fascist nation of "impenetrable calm" which cannot be hurt by foreign attacks.

He denounced "professional pacifists" as trouble-makers but declared Italy sincerely wants peace. Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, he declared, forced a "surrender of the besiegers" of nations which applied sanctions against Italy.

Asserting the Fascist Party would rouse the nation if Italy should be "wronged" again, or should forget past "wrongs," the premier told the Black Shirts:

"Remember and prepare yourselves; that is the order of the day."

He denied reports that the reason for his return from a nine-day tour of Libya yesterday, one day earlier than scheduled, was motivated by the Spanish civil war or political matters.

The whole day was given over to Fascist anniversary celebrations throughout Italy—observances in which Mussolini was described as "the founder of the new Roman empire."

British Ministers Want Pay Raised

London, March 23 (P)—The Baldwin government proposed a salary increase estimated at $200,000 a year for itself today in a parliamentary bill to completely realign ministerial wages.

Under the bill, which deals with pensions as well as increased pay, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and his successors would have their salary raised to $10,000 ($50,000) from the present $5,000 ($25,000).

All prominent ministers would receive $5,000 ($25,000) and former prime ministers would be pensioned at $2,000 ($10,000). Salaries of cabinet ministers now vary from $2,000 ($10,000) to $5,000 ($25,000).

The bill also was designed to "level up" the salaries of junior ministers outside the cabinet who now receive between $1,000 and $2,000 ($5,000 and $10,000).

London Professor To Speak Tonight

"Europe and the Future of Democracy" will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered by Prof. Harold J. Lasky, of the University of London, at the first of two Bronson Cutting Memorial Lectures tonight, at 8 o'clock, in Constitution Hall.

In his second lecture, which will be delivered tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. Lasky will take as his topic "America and the Future of Democracy." This lecture also will be delivered in Constitution Hall.

The lectures are part of a memorial established by the mother of the late Senator Bronson Cutting, of New Mexico, to perpetuate his memory.

U. S. Neutrality Act Nullified By 'Joker' Clause, Says Bone

Washington Senator Sees President's Hands Tied by 'Personal Property' Phrase and Plans Fight in Congress.

Continued from Page 1.

In 1 Story, Laws, 83, 1 Stat. 112, providing that if any person, etc., upon the high seas, shall take and carry away, with an intent to steal or purloin, the personal goods of another, the person, on conviction be fined, etc. "personal goods shall be construed as movables belonging to and the property of some person which have an intrinsic value, and as including money, banknotes and coin."

Bone points out that a court, without a definition of personal property in the bill (there is none now) would be forced to construe personal property as movables owned by some person.

Thus, Bone says, "the President would be strapped helplessly into a veritable legal mummy case. This is not discretionary legislation. If the President has no discretion over the shipment of all the materials that are automatically declared to be war materials by nations at war, at war overseas."

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

this is not even discretionary neutrality legislation. It is not neutrality legislation at all, although the layman would have thought so."

Bone, with more than a score of years' experience in ferreting out "jokers" in State legislation, chiefly in public utility bills in the State of Washington, claims this as "the master joker" of any he has ever seen. He described it as "one of the most adroit devices I have ever seen to nullify a piece of legislation."

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

The reason given for the amendment was that by this means Americans could transport personal goods such as toilet articles and handbags filled with clothes and toothbrushes, etc., in and out of Canada although Great Britain was at war overseas.

The words "other than personal goods and effects" were not in the original McReynolds bill as reported out of committee, but were added as an amendment during debate in the House.

Rebels Beaten In 2 Assaults; Madrid Shelled

Loyalists Battle Slowly Ahead on Front at Guadalajara.

Madrid, March 23.—Gen. Jose Miaja's government troops, battered slowly ahead on the Guadalajara front today and held off two insurgent assaults near Madrid.

Following up their capture of many Guadalajara province towns last week, government soldiers drove forward on both sides of the Guadalajara-Zaragoza highway.

The government summarized the situation thus:

The main column, operating on the highway, was at a standstill less than a mile from the important town of Almadrones, 33 miles northeast of Madrid.

Resistance was increasing, however, and Gen. Emilio Mola, insurgent commander in that sector, apparently had brought up reserves.

A government force west of the road took two more small villages in the morning. Another column was moving in mountainous country to the east of the highway.

Rebels Are Repulsed. Just northwest of Madrid, in the Aravaca district, insurgents struck and were repulsed. To the south, on the Jarama front, they failed to advance but a struggle went on into the evening.

Insurgent gunners sent more shells into the center of Madrid. One landed so close to a motion picture house that the fumes penetrated the building. Patrons laughed nervously and stayed to see the picture through.

Gen. Miaja, chief of the government forces in central Spain, issued a new denunciation of foreign soldiers fighting on the insurgent side.

Declaring in a public interview that world democracies feared "the phantasmic German and Italian armies," he asserted his troops had proved they were "good only for parading."

Fighting in Cordoba. The Madrid-Valencia administration has asserted 30,000 Italians were fighting with the insurgents on the Guadalajara front.

Serious fighting was going on in Cordoba province of southern Spain, where one government defense line had fought off an average of three attacks daily for the last eight days.

Despite heavy machine gun fire, the insurgents penetrated the government line several times, but were repulsed in hand-to-hand fighting.

The trenches of the rival armies were, in some places, only 600 feet apart. At one section the insurgents had been unable to remove the bodies of their dead, which lay in "No Man's Land" for days.

Government soldiers in the Cordoba sector had received only cold rations for three days because of the almost constant fighting.

New York World's Fair Asks U. S. for 5 Million

Grover Whalen, president of the New York World's Fair 1939, Inc., told the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday the fair would stimulate a billion-dollar wave of spending in the country.

The former New York City police commissioner asked the committee to approve a $5,000,000 Federal appropriation for the fair, which he said would be worth $87,000,000 in taxes to the Government.

Edwin S. Stuart, Former Pa. Governor, Is Dead

Philadelphia, March 23 (P)—Edwin S. Stuart, former Governor of Pennsylvania and former Mayor of Philadelphia, died yesterday at his home in suburban Overbrook. He was 83.

Nazis Declare Truce in Drive On Protestants

Church Governments Are Renewed With View to Catholic Demands.

Berlin, March 23.—The Nazi government declared a truce tonight in its quarrel with rebellious Protestants rather than engage in simultaneous conflict with both Catholic and Protestant churches.

Hans Kerrl, reichsminister for church affairs, issued a decree reconstituting evangelical church governments as they existed before February 15, when Adolf Hitler ordered general synodical elections and maintenance of the status quo until the church elections, for which no date has been set.

The truce was declared, a spokesman for Kerrl's office explained, for the purpose of insuring freedom of faith and conscience as well as freedom of the election, which was announced as an opportunity for Protestants to choose the kind of government they want.

The object is to "suspend the quarrel over competence of existing church government bodies pending final regulation through a general synod" to which Protestants will elect representatives, the spokesman said.

Confessional synod leaders, who viewed the election plan with skepticism, rejected the truce and said they would prefer to continue the fight to keep the government out of church affairs.

The Kerrl decree, coming on the heels of the encyclical letter from Pope Pius that accused Germany of violating the Vatican concordat, was characterized by synod leaders as an attempt to divide Protestant and Catholics in their struggle for separation of church and state.

They indicated the fight for religious independence would continue despite the truce. All disciplinary actions.

Government sources expressed wary measures were suspended by the decree, but synod leaders said Kerrl's statement could not be supported until the government releases nine Leubeck pastors arrested for disobedience to official church regulations.

Nazi charges of unfairness against the Pope's use of an encyclical letter to state his grievances were rejected angrily by a Catholic spokesman, who said the holy father took his step only as a last resort.

Various Vatican notes to Germany were unanswered, the spokesman stated, and the Nazi government refused to receive Catholic bishops for a conference on church matters before the Pope resorted to his encyclical charging Germany with encouragement of anti-Christian movements.

Vatican City, March 23 (P)—Pope Pius' encyclical against Nazi religious doctrine was smuggled into Germany by airplane, a well-informed source said tonight.

Although the Vatican kept silent concerning the means of introducing the document into Germany, it was disclosed that the encyclical was read to German worshippers Sunday only after an airplane flight to Munich by an unidentified German.

This messenger conferred with the Pontiff in lengthy and secret audience Friday. He returned to the Vatican yesterday after the mysterious flight.

Make Easter Week-End a Travel Holiday

OLD GOLD AND SILVER will bring you CASH AT SELING'S

ESTABLISHED 1865

Barker Slat Ventilator Doors

Prepare now for the hot summer days and nights to come. Save money at present price levels. Four sizes in stock, ready for prompt, free delivery. Make your home or apartment comfortable!

GEO. M. BARKER & COMPANY

LUMBER and MILLWORK

649-651 N. Y. Ave. N.W. 1523 7th St. N.W. NA. 1348, "The Lumber Number"

Nazis Create Farm Program To Increase Production 30%

Vast Plan Announced to Restore Denuded Land and Extend Credit to Farmers as Part of Self-Sufficiency Campaign.

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, March 23.—The Third Reich made known tonight a vast agricultural adjustment program to restore denuded farm land, extend credit to farmers, record individual farm production and provide better homes for agricultural workers.

A 30 per cent increase in farm production is the goal. Five million acres of land would be improved, Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, guiding force of Germany's four-year plan for self-sufficiency, told farm leaders assembled here.

A grant of 200,000,000 marks ($80,000,000) was announced for advancing agricultural readjustment in 1937. By 1940, 1,000,000,000 marks ($400,000,000) would have been made available, Goering said.

The price of rye was increased to spur production, and Goering announced economic advisory councils would have power to force a laggard farmer to lease his farm if necessary.

"The system of economic advisory councils must be greatly extended," Goering said. "Every farmer must fill out a statistical farm card so that the Reich may know exactly what each farmer produces."

"I have set aside 300,000,000 marks for ameliorations of all sorts. This sum will gradually increase annually, reaching 300,000,000 marks by 1940. One billion marks thus will be made available, calculated in 1937. By 1940, 1,000,000,000 marks ($400,000,000) would have been made available, Goering said.

The price of rye was increased to spur production, and Goering announced economic advisory councils would have power to force a laggard farmer to lease his farm if necessary.

"The system of economic advisory councils must be greatly extended," Goering said. "Every farmer must fill out a statistical farm card so that the Reich may know exactly what each farmer produces."

"I have set aside 300,000,000 marks for ameliorations of all sorts. This sum will gradually increase annually, reaching 300,000,000 marks by 1940. One billion marks thus will be made available, calculated in 1937. By 1940, 1,000,000,000 marks ($400,000,000) would have been made available, Goering said.

The price of rye was increased to spur production, and Goering announced economic advisory councils would have power to force a laggard farmer to lease his farm if necessary.

"The system of economic advisory councils must be greatly extended," Goering said. "Every farmer must fill out a statistical farm card so that the Reich may know exactly what each farmer produces."

"I have set aside 300,000,000 marks for ameliorations of all sorts. This sum will gradually increase annually, reaching 300,000,000 marks by 1940. One billion marks thus will be made available, calculated in 1937. By 1940, 1,000,000,000 marks ($400,000,000) would have been made available, Goering said.

The price of rye was increased to spur production, and Goering announced economic advisory councils would have power to force a laggard farmer to lease his farm if necessary.

"The system of economic advisory councils must be greatly extended," Goering said. "Every farmer must fill out a statistical farm card so that the Reich may know exactly what each farmer produces."

"I have set aside 300,000,000 marks for ameliorations of all sorts. This sum will gradually increase annually, reaching 300,000,000 marks by 1940. One billion marks thus will be made available, calculated in 1937. By 1940, 1,000,000,000 marks ($400,000,000) would have been made available, Goering said.

The price of rye was increased to spur production, and Goering announced economic advisory councils would have power to force a laggard farmer to lease his farm if necessary.

"The system of economic advisory councils must be greatly extended," Goering said. "Every farmer must fill out a statistical farm card so that the Reich may know exactly what each farmer produces."

"I have set aside 300,000,000 marks for ameliorations of all sorts. This sum will

60,000 Mass As Crisis Nears In Auto Strike

Ford Next, Martin Asserts; Terms Court
Bane of Democracy.

Continued from Page 1.

stituted in this city, this State and this Nation.

"To Get Our Due."

"We, as workers, are going to get everything that is ours, even if we have to move every public official out of office to get it. We are going to get our just due."

The union head called upon the mayor and police commissioner to "get off the bandwagon of the industrialists and get on the bandwagon of the workers—if we decide to let them on."

Mentioning President Roosevelt and his court reorganization plan, Martin said: "We know that nine old men have been on a sit-down strike for six years. I don't know how you stand, but I stand squarely behind the President in his program." This brought a wave of cheers.

Court "Threat to Democracy."

"The Supreme Court of the United States," Martin went on, "is the greatest threat to democracy in the United States, outside of police fascism."

"As workers are going to get everything that is ours, even if we have to move every public official out of office to get it. We are going to get our just due. We can get that without hurting anybody or anything and we can get it simply by sticking together in our movement."

"Don't let anybody scare you, because there is nobody in the city that we are particularly afraid of. You should resolve that you not only will stick together and walk the picket line together but that you will vote together."

Addressing Mayor Cousins, Martin said: "Mr. Mayor, you join us in helping eliminate the dastardly working conditions of our people and we'll quit sitting down. Even a jackass has enough sense to sit down when he's overworked."

Addressing himself to Ford, Martin said: "You can't stop the union. The automobile workers of this city and Nation are going to organize, and we are telling you that is going to happen. You might as well get ready to do business with your organized workers."

Martin praised Gov. Frank Murphy, who, he said, "has been a real ally of the people and of human rights above property rights."

Thousands in Tangle.

"I want to pay my respects," he added, "to the gentlemen who expect to make law and enforce law by injunction. I have been asked when we will get some respect for the courts. I answer: When they operate above the table and not below the table."

An hour and a half after the speaking, the assembly developed. Thousands surged into the narrower streets leading from the broad square. They were equipped in a crush for street cars and buses.

The people of Detroit, accustomed by now to the unusual in labor developments, accepted the demonstration calmly.

Malcolm W. Bingham, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press, tonight issued the following statement revealing a typical viewpoint: "Stories and rumors floating over the Nation that there is a revolution starting in Detroit, as they were founded as any to the effect that Harry Lauder bought a round of drinks."

World Series Worse.

"The demonstration on Cadillac Square was far more orderly than the celebration of the Detroit Tigers winning the World Series—and only about one-tenth in size."

"This is a young man's town and spring is in the air."

"Revolutions don't start in a city that pays the highest standard of wages of any town in the Nation."

"Walter Chrysler and John Lewis—who both speak and understand the same language—will have an eyebrow-raising contest out at Lansing with Gov. Murphy, who is also quite an 'eye-brow,' and the controversy will be over, just as the General Motors affair was settled."

"As if the Dopester (Mr. Bingham's column title) says in this morning's Free Press: "I ain't afraid of any revolution in this country as long as the lads who have decided to raise hell have trouble finding places to park their cars before starting their demonstration."

Investigates Authority.

Richmond, Va., March 23 (AP)—W. D. Anderson, chairman of the Virginia Federation of Labor's legislative committee, said tonight he planned to determine whether Richmond police have the power to evict sit-down strikers without a court order.

Anderson said this decision was brought about because Mayor J. Fulmer Bright had expressed intention to see that 150 strikers were ousted from the Moore Brothers bag manufacturing plant had they not vacated voluntarily Monday afternoon.

Leather Strike Settled.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 23 (AP). Six hundred sit-down strikers reached an agreement with the Ohio Leather Co. at suburban Girard today.

The contract signed by the striking workers and the management provided for the recognition of the workers' union, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, as bargaining agent for its members and negotiation of wage and hour questions.

Washington to Richmond 4.00 for Easter Week-End
Corresponding Stations and Other Stations

Tickets good going Mar. 24, 25, 26 and 27. Good returning to leave destination and en route, Monday, Mar. 29. Tickets good in coach, also in sleeping or parlor cars upon request of children half fare.
Reserve and stop-over privileges.
RE & PRR

Imagine Her Embarrassment!

Imagine the embarrassment of Mrs. Magda Moesner (above) when she awoke and found an unclad burglar in bed beside her in her Brooklyn home. She screamed and he fled, grabbing only his overcoat in his haste. Through the clothes he left behind, he was caught and identified as Eugene Beagan, 20.

Lewis, Chrysler Rush to Parley; Murphy Ready to Evict Strikers

C. I. O. Chief, Angered by Governor's Curt Telegram, Sees Motors Head With Whip Hand in Detroit Crisis.

Continued from Page 1.

shutdowns, although Automotive Daily News placed the week's output at approximately 103,233 units, slightly above the previous week. Increased activity in General Motors divisions accounted for the increase, the publication reported.

Lewis was known to feel Chrysler holds the dominating position if Murphy maintains the attitude expressed in his telegram, that the automobile manufacturer needs only to refuse to bargain with Lewis in order to bring evacuation of his plants and thereby loss by strikers of their most effective weapon in the strike. Chrysler's telegram indicated he intended to maintain his stand, though what proposals Gov. Murphy might be planning had not been revealed.

Murphy's call to the conference pointed out that the Wayne County Circuit Court had placed in the hands of the sheriff writs requiring evacuation of the plants, and said, "It is expected that the sheriff will request assistance of State authorities in the execution of the writs."

Then, saying that the State will "protect property rights," he added: "In view of the large interests at stake, however, and the desirability of ascertaining whether adjustment is possible before taking extreme and costly measures with possible unfortunate consequences," he was requesting the conference "in a joint effort to find a prompt satisfactory solution without unwarranted delay in enforcement of the court's order."

Chrysler's reply said that the corporation "cannot directly or indirectly recognize any organization as the sole and exclusive bargaining agency for all of its employees," one of the principal demands of the strikers. He said the proper place for negotiating on the procedure for bargaining was in conferences now going on in Detroit and said he was willing for Lewis to attend those conferences along with any executive of the company.

Respecting the court order, however, he wired that "I shall expect the discussion of this aspect of the situation to lie between you and Mr. Lewis." Chrysler Corporation and its executives do not share Mr. Lewis' responsibility for any violence or bloodshed if his men resist the authorities.

chamber, which are in session next month.

Even if all of these ratify the amendment, however, approval by three additional States will be necessary. Miss Lenroot said yesterday it is hoped special sessions will be called to speed complete ratification.

Nevada, New Mexico, Kentucky and Kansas have ratified this year, while the amendment was rejected in 1937 by North Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Connecticut, New York and Massachusetts.

Television in Medicine Predicted by Druggists

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 23 (AP). The use of television by doctors in diagnosing patients' ills was predicted at the convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association here.

215,000 Gain In Employment Made in Month

Nearly $12,500,000 Weekly Added to Pay Rolls, U. S. Report Shows.

In the midst of strikes and threats of strikes, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins last night issued a report showing that between the middle of January and the middle of February 215,000 more workers had found employment in the manufacturing and nonmanufacturing industries surveyed monthly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Almost $12,500,000 weekly was added to pay rolls in that time.

Factory employment had a gain that more than offset the decline reported for January. The February employment index reached 98.9, the highest level since December, 1929. Weekly pay rolls rose to 95.7, the level for April, 1930.

Employment in the nondurable goods industries rose to the highest point since November, 1929, with the exception of last September. In the durable goods industries employment was at the highest level since March, 1930.

Noteworthy was the more rapid increase in pay rolls than in employment. In the month covered by the report wage-rate increases were reported affecting 135,968 factory workers and 25,469 in nonmanufacturing industries. Factory employment gained 2.5 per cent in the month interval, while pay rolls increased 5.6 per cent.

For the District of Columbia, the report showed 983 establishments employing 31,548 persons, a gain of 3 per cent, with weekly wages of $786,043, a gain of 7.7 per cent.

Meanwhile, a discussion of sit-down strikes broke out on the House floor. Representative Dies (Democrat), Texas, denounced them as an open challenge to law and order and offered a resolution for an investigation to determine who inspired the strikes, whether companies have employed agents to perpetrate violence and other facts.

Representative Bernard (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, attempted to defend the sit-down tie-ups, but was stopped by a parliamentary objection. Later he inserted in the Record the speech he had intended making, in which he said "these workers by fighting to protect their jobs and their means of subsistence are breaking no law."

Speaking as a union man, he said: "The physical property of an industry represents an investment on the part of stockholders—an investment of capital in dollars. But the workers also have made an investment in industry—an investment not so easily measured in dollars, but without which there could be no industry."

First Wife Given $25,000 in Balm

A jury in District Court Monday awarded Mrs. Rose Russo, 1913 Thirty-fifth place northwest, a verdict for $25,000 against Mrs. Vita Russo, second wife of John Russo, who allegedly alienated Russo's affections from Mrs. Rose Russo.

Mrs. Rose Russo said she had been married to Russo for 18 years when the second Mrs. Russo practiced "her wiles, blandishments, influences, and attentions" with a resultant separation and divorce.

Ship Movements

At New York.
Arrived Yesterday.
Astonia, from Havre.
Scythia, from Liverpool.
Vendram, from Southampton.
American Trader, from London.
Pan America, from Trinidad.
Paris, from Havre.

Arrive Tomorrow.
American Traveler, from Liverpool.
Calamarez, from Kingston.
Gerolamo, from Antwerp.
Musa, from Puerto Barrios.
Saturnia, from Trieste.

Sailing Today.
Manhattan, for Cebu.
Queen Mary, for Portsmouth.
Sailing Tomorrow.
Astonia, for Plymouth.
Black Hawk, for Antwerp.
Rydholm, for Copenhagen.
Scannall, for Copenhagen.

Democrats Fearfully Watch Outcome of Michigan's Vote

State Election, Usually of Little Importance, This Year May Affect Support of Court Plan on Capitol Hill.

By Franklyn Waltman.

Democrats continued their gains nationally, Michigan turned back toward the Republicans, electing a member of that party Governor by a margin of 82,000 votes, re-electing Senator Arthur Vandenberg, and recapturing four House seats lost to the Democrats two years previously. In 1936, however, the Democrats again surged forward, the President carrying the State by 317,000 votes and Senator Brown receiving a plurality of 190,000, the largest ever given a Democratic candidate in Michigan.

Except for the fact that interest in by-elections and local contests is not as intense as in Presidential elections and thus does not bring out the vote, the only developments since November that would change the trend toward the Democrats are the sit-down strikes and the Roosevelt Supreme Court proposal.

Reports from Michigan are to the effect that there is widespread sentiment in that State, particularly in the rural sections, against the sit-down strikes. Although Gov. Frank Murphy has been credited rather generally with having done a good job in handling these labor troubles, more recently since the sit-down strikes have spread to Detroit, it is reported, a feeling has been growing that he should have been firmer in evacuating the strikers from the General Motors plants at Flint.

All to Lose, Naught to Gain.

Concentration of this attention on the Michigan election has made the Democrats uncomfortable—for, generally speaking, they have every reason to lose and nothing to gain—and Senator Prentiss M. Brown and several of the Democratic House members from Michigan have gone home to help out the party candidates this week.

Observers here familiar with Michigan politics believe there is more than an even chance that the Democrats will hold the gains they have made in recent years. Seeking re-election to the State supreme court are two Republicans, Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic State highway commissioner, also is seeking re-election.

Should the Republican incumbents and Van Wagoner be re-elected, with the Democrats carrying Detroit and the Republicans doing well out in the State, the election would be without any significance, assert these observers.

But if Van Wagoner is defeated, or should he run very far behind his 112,000 majority of four years ago, or if Detroit goes Republican, then, it is argued, the election result could definitely be interpreted as popular disapproval of the Democratic regime both in Michigan and Washington—and this, it is held here, would be certain to have an adverse effect on the President's Supreme Court plan and an increasing hostility to "sit-down" strikes.

National Trend Ignored.

In recent years party labels have been worn lightly in Michigan, once a staunch Republican State. Nor has Michigan closely followed national political trends in the by-elections. The trend for the country as a whole has been Democratic since the 1930 election. But in that year in Michigan the Republican Brucker beat the Democratic Crampton for Governor by 126,000 plurality. In 1932—with President Roosevelt carrying the State by 182,000, the Democratic Crampton fared the incumbent Brucker by a 190,000 plurality.

But two years later, when the

The Weather

Today's Sun and Tide Table

(Furnished by United States Department of Commerce, Coast and Geodetic Survey.)
Sun rises.... 6:05; High tide... 6:52
Sun sets.... 6:23; Low tide... 12:37

Weather Conditions.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, Mar. 23, 7:30 p. m.
Forecast for the District of Columbia: Increasing cloudiness, followed by occasional rain beginning late Wednesday afternoon or night; Thursday rain with mild temperature, colder Thursday night and south Thursday.
For Maryland and Virginia—Increasing cloudiness, followed by occasional rain late Wednesday afternoon or night and on Thursday; mild temperature, followed by colder Thursday night and in west portion Thursday afternoon.

Conditions.

The Western disturbance has moved eastward to the Plains States with considerably increased intensity. North Platte, Neb., 29.02 inches, and it has been attended by precipitation over most sections from the Pacific Coast eastward to the Mississippi Valley. However, the rainfall was heaviest in the southern portion of the region and the western portions of Texas and Nebraska. The extensive northeastern disturbance is moving slowly northward with center off the east coast of Newfoundland. St. John's, 28.82 inches. Pressure remains low from southern Alaska southward to the North Pacific States. Tidal waves, Wash., 29.64 inches. High pressure prevails from extreme northern Alaska southward to the vicinity of Bermuda and over southern California. The temperature has risen in the Great Central Valley and in portions of the Gulf States, while colder weather has overspread the Rocky Mountain region and North Dakota.

Local Weather Report.

Temperature—Midnight, 43; 2 a. m., 41; 4 a. m., 39; 6 a. m., 37; 8 a. m., 40; 10 a. m., 49; 12 noon, 54; 2 p. m., 56; 4 p. m., 54; 6 p. m., 57; 8 p. m., 55; 10 p. m., 45. Humidity, 90. Lowest, 38. Rainfall, 0.78. Relative humidity—7:30 a. m., 66; 1:30 p. m., 73; 7:30 p. m., 44. Barometric pressure, 30.10. Hours of sunshine, 10. Per cent of possible sunshine, 65.

Departures From Normal.

Accumulated excess of temperature since January 1, 1937, 363 degrees.
Excess of temperature since March 1, 1937, 1.31 inches.
Accumulated excess of precipitation since January 1, 1937, 3.03 inches.
Deficiency of precipitation since March 1, 1937, 1.31 inches.

Temperatures and Precipitation.

Temperatures and precipitation for 24 hours ended Monday at 7:30 p. m.

	Lowest	Highest	Mo. Precip.	Tues. Night	24 Hrs. Precip.
Washington, D. C.	38	54	0.78	0.00	0.78
Albany, N. Y.	32	48	0.00	0.00	0.00
Albany, Ga.	34	40	0.00	0.00	0.00
Atlantic City, N. J.	34	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Baltimore, Md.	36	40	0.00	0.00	0.00
Birmingham, Ala.	38	44	0.00	0.00	0.00
Bismarck, N. Dak.	30	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Boston, Mass.	42	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Buffalo, N. Y.	34	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Chicago, Ill.	34	36	0.02	0.00	0.02
Cincinnati, Ohio	34	36	0.00	0.00	0.00
Charleston, W. Va.	34	36	0.00	0.00	0.00
Cleveland, Ohio	42	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Dallas, Tex.	30	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Dayton, Ohio	34	36	0.00	0.00	0.00
Denver, Colo.	42	32	0.12	0.00	0.12
Des Moines, Iowa	32	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Detroit, Mich.	48	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
El Paso, Tex.	30	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Helena, Mont.	32	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Huron, S. Dak.	36	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Indianapolis, Ind.	38	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Jacksonville, Fla.	68	74	0.00	0.00	0.00
Kansas City, Mo.	40	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Little Rock, Ark.	34	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
Los Angeles, Calif.	60	44	0.00	0.00	0.00
Louisville, Ky.	40	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Marquette, Mich.	40	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Memphis, Tenn.	36	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Minneapolis, Minn.	38	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Mobile, Ala.	76	50	0.00	0.00	0.00
New Orleans, La.	74	50	0.00	0.00	0.00
New York, N. Y.	48	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
North Platte, Neb.	22	24	0.00	0.00	0.00
Omaha, Neb.	32	40	0.00	0.00	0.00
Philadelphia, Pa.	54	36	0.00	0.00	0.00
Phoenix, Ariz.	52	62	0.00	0.00	0.00
Pittsburgh, Pa.	30	34	0.00	0.00	0.00
Portland, Ore.	50	42	0.13	0.00	0.13
Rapid City, S. Dak.	22	32	0.00	0.00	0.00
Salt Lake City, Utah	42	38	0.00	0.00	0.00
St. Louis, Mo.	42	40	0.00	0.00	0.00
San Antonio, Tex.	64	40	0.00	0.00	0.00
San Diego, Calif.	60	50	0.00	0.00	0.00

THE HECHT CO.

7 Street at 7th

First in Washington!

Two Change-Abouts

FOR YOUR SUIT

$1 EACH

"Talk of the Town"—frills and "frou-frou" for femininity. You'll be dainty and pretty for that very special date—and it turns your suit into a new outfit. Solid colors and bright prints.

$1.00

"Girl Scout"—this is the sporting thing to do—lie on this "changeabout," and loop the scarf through the ring effect. There! you're smart and fresh for sports and spectating. In solid colors and polka dots.

$1.00

Neckwear—Main Floor
The Hecht Co.

Here's an easy recipe for the South's FINEST ICE CREAM

Once, our housewives thought that good ice cream had to be made at home. But it didn't take them long to discover this easy recipe for the finest ice cream: "Simply call the nearest Southern Dairies dealer." Try it. Then ask yourself if Southern Dairies doesn't have the same fine flavor as your own ice cream—and even greater smoothness.

Southern Dairies Ice Cream

Join the Seaside Radio Party—Every Saturday at 8 P. M. (E. S. T.) NBC

Clear vision glass mirrors, measuring 14x50 inches. Neatly framed in ivory, walnut, mahogany or maple-finished hardwood. Long enough to give you a full-length view of yourself, and easily hung on your closet door or wall.

MAIL AND PHONE ORDERS FILLED!
Call District 94001

FOURTH FLOOR—The Hecht Co.

Band Plays On, Heeds Demand Of Sit-Downers

New Type Strike Brought to Light at Suburban Night Club.

By Chanticleer.

Something new in sit-down strikes. Out at the Boulevard Farms barn dance last Friday night. It seems that the Farms usually closes at 1 o'clock and so when that hour arrived the orchestra played something suggestive of "Home Sweet Home" and began to pack up their instruments.

The customers, however, felt differently about it. They applauded and applauded and the band just went ahead with its plans to leave—and finally 50 of the want-morers just sat down in the middle of the dance floor and alternately applauded and waited.

The customer is always right, of course. The band played until 2:15.

Rolling back sailor songs are highlighting the entertainment in the two floor shows at the Shoreham this week—with Lester Cole and his Midshipmen. Other highlights are the yo-yo exhibitions by the champion, Tex Schultz, and the dancing of Sylvia Harris. Gay, young collegians, home for vacation, are making the Shoreham their headquarters these days.

It's a new show at Coconut Grove this week. First there's Rita Gave, a torch singer who stands 6 feet 4 in her stocking feet, believe it or not. Then there's Raoul and Virginia, the widely known pair of "rude" and beginning Friday a line of Roxyettes will be on hand—and a new master of ceremonies.

Brand-new reason for dropping in at the Hi-Hat. Her name is Ethel Lee and she presides behind the cash register. Ethel just sits there and punches keys on her machine but many a young lady about-town has suddenly been forced to sit to her escort. "John, what on earth are you staring at over there?" It must be a little psychology of the management—making "em pay and like it."

La Paree headlines Morris Franks this week, a clever impersonator direct from Hollywood where he's seen them all in action. A clever adagio team is present, too—Diane

Spritley Band at Shoreham

Lester Cole and His Midshipmen, a highlight of the Shoreham Supper Club this week.

and Eddie Elkins, with a new sunburn, has brought his band back to the Raleigh's Pall Mall room. The sunburn having been taken on the deep South. Bill Owens, the violin-playing vocalist, is with him again and Don and Sally Jennings provide the floor entertainment. In case you're a newcomer to the local precincts, Eddie Elkins is making a return visit to the Pall Mall room in all that period.

Helen Forrest, the vocalist in Johnny Shaw's swing band at the Madrilion, has taken on a new name. You will be able to hear Al Sakol and his augmented radio band from WJWS each Saturday noon in the future.

Eddie Elkins, with a new sunburn, has brought his band back to the Raleigh's Pall Mall room. The sunburn having been taken on the deep South. Bill Owens, the violin-playing vocalist, is with him again and Don and Sally Jennings provide the floor entertainment. In case you're a newcomer to the local precincts, Eddie Elkins is making a return visit to the Pall Mall room in all that period.

Helen Hamilton, the lovely lady of the Russian Troika, doesn't spend all her time in New York appraising new talent. No, sir. The Troika is known as one of the most successful

Millions Faced With Starvation In Honan Area

Watchdogs Killed for Food; 2,000 Already Dead, Official Says.

By Dr. C. C. Chang.

Of International Relief Commission. Copyright, 1937, by the United Press.

En Route in Western Honan Province, China, via Peiping, March 23.—About 9,000,000 people in an area of roughly 13,000 square miles are face to face with starvation in the current famine in Honan Province.

The number is reported to be even greater in Szechuan Province.

We estimate that more than 2,000 already have died and there is a grave possibility that that number will be multiplied many, many times during the next few weeks.

In connection with my duties as an engineer for the China International Famine Relief Commission I have driven through 150 miles of the worst famine area in western Honan.

At End of Resources.

With the limited resources at our command there is little we can do and I can see little chance of averting an appalling loss of life.

We have seen evidence everywhere that the peasants have come to the end of their resources.

Conditions from now on are almost certain to get worse.

The will mean loss of life running into the hundreds of thousands.

Mile after mile, in the areas I have investigated, the winter wheat crop—chief staple in these counties—is ruined. Plants which should be about 5 inches high have been withered by the drought and many of them are dead. In some places, even if steady rains should come, would yield a fraction of a normal crop.

It must be remembered that parts of Honan and Szechuan have been suffering from intermittent droughts for years and that, in addition, large areas have been devastated by the warfare between the central government forces and the Communists and petty civil wars between rival military leaders.

Leather and Bark Eaten.

I have talked with thousands of peasants who have been reduced to eating anything they can find—gruel made by boiling leaves, grass, the bark from trees, bits of leather, and even scraps of wool.

Usually we find that the last bits of food in rural areas is in the hands of itinerant vendors who wander from town to town.

I encountered one of these men today and asked to see his stock.

Thinking I was a high tax official, he first was loath to show me, but when I offered him a coin he opened his basket.

It contained some packets of rancid cottonseed meal—ordinarily used for fertilizer.

Dogs Killed for Food.

Money had disappeared, the peddler explained, and he was trading the fertilizer, which contains some nourishment when eaten, for hinges, locks and other bits of iron which the peasants strip from their homes.

The peddler remarked that one beneficial result of the famine was the disappearance of watch dogs, which formerly bothered him.

"The dogs have all been killed and eaten," he said.

We are sending limited amounts of grain into the worst areas immediately, but our supplies, transport and distributing equipment are so limited that there is comparatively little we can do.

Famines will continue to ravage these areas of China until the government can effect a broad program of water conservation, population control and improved communications.

Divorce by Agreement Proposed in Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., March 23 (AP).—Divorce by mutual agreement would be possible in Wisconsin under a bill introduced in the Assembly yesterday by the committee on public welfare at the request of C. A. Gages (Progressive).

Only those who have been residents of Wisconsin continuously for two years and who have no unmarried children under 16 would be eligible.

AUTO RADIO SERVICE

PENN-WASH TIRE CO.

2014 14th St. N.W. NO. 8429

ARVIN RHYTHM RADIO

CALL RADIO CO.

FREE ESTIMATE

RADIO GUARANTEED SERVICE

636-18 H ST. N.E. LINCOLN 7733
652 PA. AVE. S.E. LINCOLN 9133
1767 COL. RD. N.W. LINCOLN 8800

Radio Control Improves Reception

"PERK UP" Your Old Set!

This little gadget may be just the "cure-all" for your sick radio. With it, no aerial is necessary. Interfering stations are "cut out" and street cars, elevators and electrical appliances no longer buzz in your set. Get one today!

Main Floor—Electrical Arcade—The Hecht Co.
Mail and Phone Orders Filled... District 9400

THE HECHT CO.
7 Street at Seventh NA. 5100

LET THE TELEPHONE BE YOUR Easter ERRAND BOY

Returns to Raleigh

EDDIE ELKINS.

'Radio Quarantine' Service Effective

The newly introduced system called "radio pratique," by which incoming steamers wireless reports of health conditions aboard ship to New York, is working successfully, the Public Health Service announced yesterday.

Until February 1, when the innovation went into effect, vessels bound for the port of New York had to stop at Quarantine for inspection before proceeding to their docks. Now, provided they have ship's physicians, they may obtain a clean bill of health by radio.

Up to last Friday 76 ships had made 112 entries under the new arrangement, at a time saving of one to nine hours per trip, the Health Service reported.

SCOTTY'S RESTAURANT

3642 GA. AVE.

SPECIAL SEA FOOD PLATTER 50c

COCKTAILS DANCING DINING

HOTEL HAMILTON

Casigrande

Bar Dance Tonight

Will Sully Band

Admission 25c

PRIZE WALTZ TONIGHT

$5.00 CASH PRIZE

To the winner of the Waltz Contest tonight. (This is a regular Wednesday night prize.)

CHICKEN DINNER $1.25

NOW PRESENTING PHIL LORRIA and His Orchestra from 9:00 P. M.

BOULEVARD FARMS

3 Miles Below Alexandria, on the Mt. Vernon Highway, Phone ALEX. 2683-W-2

DANCE

Johnny Rice and His Orch. From 9 P. M.

Full Course

DE LUXE DINNER 55c

Mixed Drinks of All Kinds by Union Bartenders

We have one of the largest and most beautiful halls in Washington.

Jimmy Crandall, Manager

Brinkley's

INCORPORATED

633 8th St. S.E.

BEFORE AND AFTER DARK

Smart Washington Gathers for Cocktails with DANCING The MAYFLOWER LOUNGE

*HOTEL MAYFLOWER

For Reservations Call Teddy at District 3000

DINNER from $1.50

Saturday Luncheon, 75c (With Dinner Menu)

DANCING

7 P. M. to 3 A. M. to the music of Duke Ellington and his Orchestra.

REVUES

Our Russian Group, twice nightly, 8:30 and 10:00 P. M. Finest European Artists.

Under the personal direction of Helen Hamilton

Never a Cover Charge BANQUET ROOM AVAILABLE

The RUSSIAN CLUB TROIKA

1611 Ohio Ave. N.W. 4141 OPEN SUNDAYS

Naylor's Sea Food RESTAURANT

ON THE POTOMAC 104 & WATER ST. S.W.

DURING LENT

Broiled African Lobster Tails

Drawn Butter French Fried Potatoes

Sliced Tomatoes 1.00

Jumbo Louisiana Frog Legs

With Tartar Sauce

Sliced Tomatoes

French Fried Potatoes 85c

Fried Deep Sea Scallops with Tartar Sauce

Sliced Tomatoes

French Fried Potatoes 50c

Most Popular place in Town

WHAT

Finest Drinks in Town

ONLY 5 CENTS OLD

Whiskey, Beer, or

ALL MIXED DRINKS

NO Cover or

Minimum

Entertainment to 2 & 3.

Havanna, Martini, Little Man, etc.

Tastiest Food in Town

Special Luncheon, 85c

5-Course Dinner, $1

Served 5:30 to 7:30

Nightlife in the Beautiful Ambassador Room

Ambassador

WASHINGTON'S NEWEST

500 ROOM-DOWNTOWN HOTEL

RATES FROM 14c

THEIR like... you never heard before

It's a fact that the "swing" music at the Madrilion is second to none. Johnny Shaw and his versatile Sextet are true exponents of that "heigh-de-ho" type of music.

HELEN FORREST "swing" singer

DANCING FROM 7:00 P. M.

RESTAURANT MADRILLON

WASHINGTON BLDG. 18th and N. Y. Ave. District 4881

ELKS DANCE

From 8:30 to 12:30

Thurs. and Sat. and Every Thurs. and Sat. McWilliams' Orchestra Ladies, 50c Gentlemen, 75c Public Invited 919 H St. N.W.

MAYFAIR

State of All Nations, 1200 & P. N.W.

Vapor Cooked OYSTER STEW

Any time Day or Night

It's Good Taste to Dine at O'DONNELLS SEA GRILLE

201 E St.

STOP DINNER

3 SHOWS NIGHTLY

8:00-10:00 P. M. 10:00-12:00 A. M. NO COVER CHARGE

Opening Tonight! Musical Comedy

Don't Miss It! Opening Tonight! Musical Comedy

Don't Miss It! Opening Tonight! Musical Comedy

THE CARLTON EL PATIO

SAWDE WILLIAMS LEADS

His baton is a bow that draws both entertainment and music... reason enough why he and his men

LEAD IN POPULARITY

HELD By Popular Demand! Portia Portar Last Week!

MINIMUM $1.00 Dancing from 10 M.E. 2628 18th and K

Always INFINITELY BRIGHTER!

CAFE LA PAREE

14th and H Sts. N.W. Nat. 9128

LUNCHEON, 40c, 50c

Sat., 50c, 60c

THE EASTER PARADE

featuring MORRIS FRANKS... DIANE and EDDIE and the TIP TOPPERS A BEAUTIFUL REVUE AL SAKOL'S MUSIC NO COVER

Springtime Revue

FEATURING DIAN and DUVAL

★ PAUL FLORENCE GIRLS

★ CAROL PILLARD Specialty

★ TROY & LYNN

★ ARTISTIC DANCE MASTERS

★ EVELYN KNIGHT

★ HENRY NESTOR

★ AL HORTON, M. E.

★ BILL STRICKLAND's Capellians

NO COVER CHARGE

LUNCH 40c DINNER 90c

Sat. 50c Sat. Sun. 42-50c

3 SHOWS DAILY 1:00-7:30

14th St. at NEW YORK AVE. and 11:30 P. M.

Announcing the triumphant return of

EDDIE ELKINS AND HIS ORCHESTRA

with DON and SALLY JENNINGS

Dancing Delightfully for You...

COCKTAIL HOUR 4-6

The Pall Mall

AT THE HOTEL RALEIGH

DINNER DANCE

LESTER COLE and his MIDSHIPMEN

Serenading Sailors

Maxim Lowe's Music, Barnes directing

Dinner Dance $1.75; Saturdays, Holidays $2

Supper Cover 25c; Saturdays, Holidays $1.10

Dinner Guests May Remain for Dancing Without Additional Cover Charge

The Shoreham

CONNECTICUT AVE. AT CALVERT

The Post Radio Time-Table

Wednesday, March 24 Washington Eastern Standard Time.

WRC 3100-500KC WMAL 4700-630KC WOL 2250-1310KC WJWS 2000-1400KC

6:30 Gordon Hittensmark 6:30 6:45 6:50 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45

8:00 News 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45

9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45

10:00 Mrs. Wiggs 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45

11:00 David Harn 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45

12:00 News 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45

1:00 Fidler's Orch. 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45

2:00 Cleveland 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45

3:00 P. Young's Fam. 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45

4:00 Chaslin's Blues 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45

5:00 Dari Dan 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45

6:00 Dinner Dance 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45

7:00 Amos 'n' Andy 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45

8:00 One Man's 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45

9:00 Town Hall 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45

10:00 Year His 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45

11:00 News 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45

12:00 Sign off 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45

1:00 Sign off 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45

2:00 Sign off 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45

3:00 Sign off 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45

4:00 Sign off 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45

5:00 Sign off 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45

6:00 Sign off 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45

7:00 Sign off 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45

8:00 Sign off 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45

9:00 Sign off 9:00 9:15 9:30 9:45

10:00 Sign off 10:00 10:15 10:30 10:45

11:00 Sign off 11:00 11:15 11:30 11:45

12:00 Sign off 12:00 12:15 12:30 12:45

1:00 Sign off 1:00 1:15 1:30 1:45

2:00 Sign off 2:00 2:15 2:30 2:45

3:00 Sign off 3:00 3:15 3:30 3:45

4:00 Sign off 4:00 4:15 4:30 4:45

5:00 Sign off 5:00 5:15 5:30 5:45

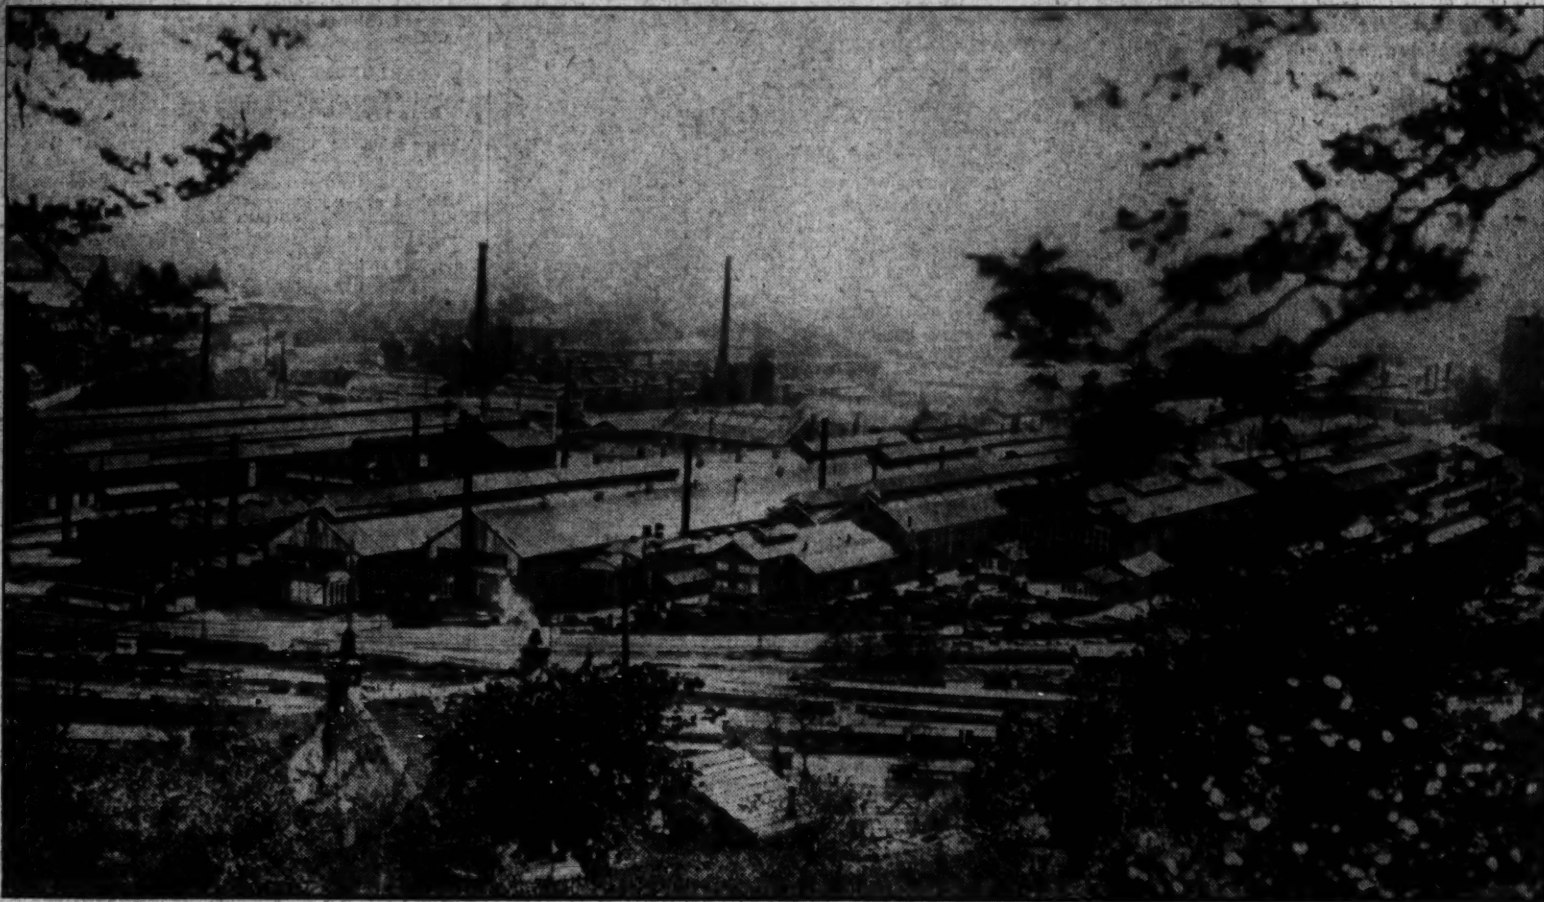

6:00 Sign off 6:00 6:15 6:30 6:45

7:00 Sign off 7:00 7:15 7:30 7:45

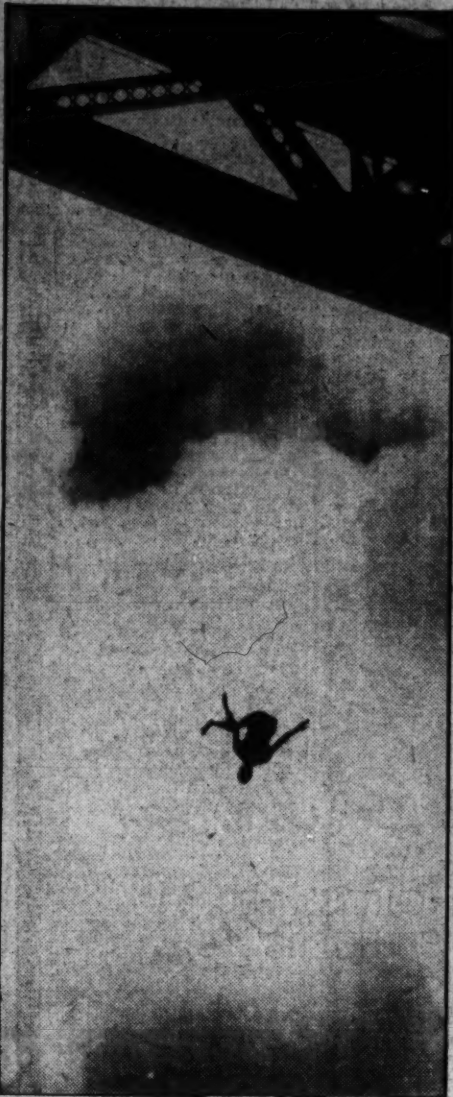

8:00 Sign off 8:00 8:15 8:30 8:45

France Continues to Take Over Arms Plants

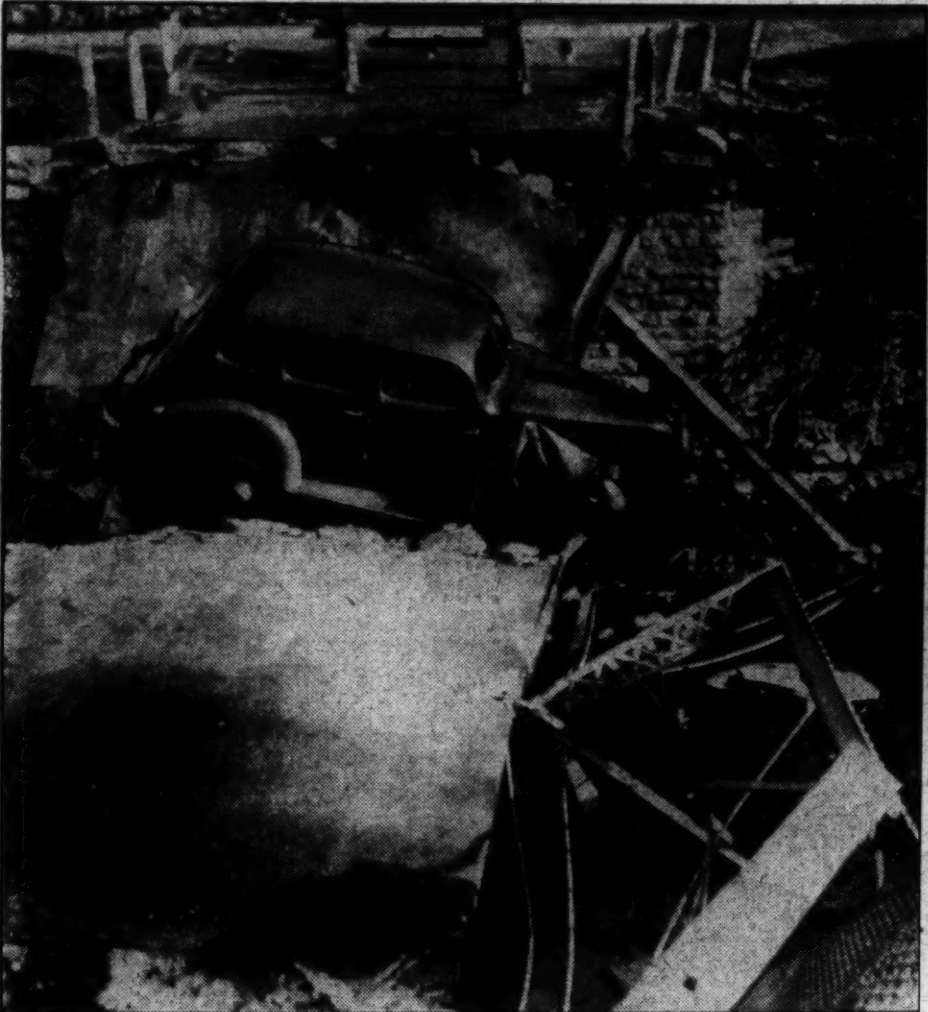

The Post is the only daily morning paper in Washington with A. P. WIREPHOTO Service.

BIGGEST ARMS FIRM in France, the Creusot works of the Schneider Arms Co., is one of a number of factories seized by the French government. A few days ago the government took over two airplane factories under the nationalization law.

BRIDGE JUMPER. Ray Woods, shown leaping from new San Francisco bridge yesterday, suffered a broken back and had two charges placed against him by police patrolling the span.

FREAK ACCIDENT WRECKS BRIDGE. When this machine skidded and struck a span of a bridge near Cincinnati, the bridge collapsed and the car fell with it. County officials estimated it would cost $20,000 to replace the bridge.

FIRST LADIES. While visiting Austin, Tex., Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt paid a visit to Mrs. James V. Allred, wife of the Governor of Texas, who recently gave birth to a son, named Sam Houston Allred, after Texas' famous historical character, Sam Houston.

TIPS FOR SIT-DOWNERS. With the advent of shorter skirts designed by stylists, a Buffalo, N. Y., model rehearsed the graceful sit-down technic. The pose at left, while not most flattering, is much better than that at the right, known as the "corkscrew" position, which went unnoticed under longer skirts.

FAIR STRIKER FAINTS. Chicago police went into action yesterday and evicted 800 strikers who have been occupying a stationery factory since March 18. Workers are assisting a girl striker who fainted when police arrived on the scene.

A FATAL RIDE. Instant death came to two young men, occupants of an auto that crashed into a milk wagon in New York City during the early morning hours. Their machine was literally driven into the pavement and the body of one of the victims can be seen lying in the street awaiting arrival of a medical examiner.

Easter Chic Is Measured By Gloves

Matching, Contrast, Both Smart, According to Type of Costume.

The Post's Fashion Editor, who recently studied spring styles at the New York sources, is giving Washington women practical advice on their spring wardrobe in a series of articles. Today she discusses gloves.

By Ethel Ehlen,
The Post Fashion Editor.

GLOVES are the barometer which measures the chic of your Easter costume. Whether you are appearing in an entire new ensemble, or contemplating wearing your favorite with spring accessories, it is imperative that new gloves be part of your buying scheme. There are two different schools of thought on the spring glove situation; one believes in matching the gloves to the costume, the other, in employing gloves as a striking contrast. Both ideas are considered smart, the choice depending upon individual preference, and the type of ensemble.

Because of the vogue for short sleeves, gloves are longer this spring: six and eight button-lengths being the popular choice. Both the slip-on and button types are being worn. In the slip-ons, there is a decided tendency toward flaring cuffs, gauntlet-like in styling. Glove kid, doeskin and suede share honors equally; there are also numerous interpretations of the fabric glove. Some of the new gloves are fashioned of just one kind of leather, others—and this is a newer idea—combine shiny and dull leathers as for instance, suede tops and kidskin palms.

Color Is Rampant.

In the realm of color, gloves are vying with the proverbial Easter egg—there never was such a wide and lovely range of hues and tints. Wines, subtle greens, bright and soft blues, yellow, orchid, rose, carnation, red earth, are appearing in doeskin, suede and glove kid. In the staple colors, there are black, navy, brown, beige, grey, eggshell and white. To be smart this spring, according to authorities, means to encase your hands in color! To be in harmony with current style trends, you can match gloves to handbag, thus keeping the contrasting color to your costume in one spot or match gloves with hat, or hat-trimming, or choose gloves, and shoes or belt in the same color and material.

Detail is important in the newest gloves. Perforations, stitching, cording, buckles, metal eyelets with leather laces, "Kick pleats," and bands—all these mark the 1937 glove. These dressmaker touches appear either atop or on the cuff of the glove. Another striking cuff trimming is a series of flat beads encircling the edge. For the monochrome tuxedo suits, gloves may either match in color or echo the tone of the blouse or sweater; this color note is often repeated in the hat.

To complement black, Paris is advocating white or bright color. There is also a vogue for yellow accents on all-black costumes. Grey and beige outfits are smart with black, brown or navy. For prints, either repeat the background color, or the predominating tint in the design. Navy, which is tremendously popular this spring, looks well with white, eggshell or navy; or, in the event, the costume is entirely dark blue, gloves of brilliant tones may be called into service for a striking contrast.

Today's HEALTH TALK

By
Dr. Logan Clendenen.

Since spring is traditionally the time for poets let me quote a medical spring poem which I find in Leslie J. Harris' "Vitamins in Theory and Practice," ascribed to C. H. A.: "Oh, nose and fat was Ralph the rat. And his eye was a clear cold gray. How mournful that he ate less fat. As day succeeded day. Till he found each corner daily hornier."

Lacking its Vitamin A, my dears, that rat was heard to say, "And you'll find your eyes will keratinize."

If you miss your Vitamin A! "The epiphyses of Jemima's knees Were a truly appalling sight; For the rickets strikes whom it fully well likes."

If the Vitamin D's not right, Though its plots we foil with our cod-liver oil.

Or our ultra-violet light. So swallow your cod-liver oil, my dears.

And bonny big babes you'll be. Though it makes you sick it's a cure for the rickets.

And teaming with Vitamin D."

The vitamins have gone through a long period of probation and seem to be now definitely established as having an important physiologic role in the body.

Used in Past Ages. As long ago as 1766 cod-liver oil was used in the Manchester, England, Infirmary for Chronic Rheumatism. And just the other day I saw as a brand new discovery, the results of the use of vitamin A in chronic arthritis.

Soon after the epoch-making work of Voit and Pettukof on the role of the different foodstuffs in nutrition (the date was about 1880), physiologists began to work with the idea of making a concentrated diet. This would furnish the food elements in pure chemical form, with the result that a person could carry his full day's rations around in a small bottle; take one capsule for breakfast, two for lunch and three for dinner. Why they thought this was a desirable state of affairs to achieve, I am sure I don't know. But it is with happiness that I am able to report that in 1880 Lunin, at Basle, Switzerland, published the report of a failure. Mice could not live on a synthetic diet with purified fat, protein, carbohydrate, salts and water. The addition of 2 c. c. of milk daily saved their lives.

Gay-Colored Gloves Brighten Easter Costumes

A "half and half" glove (below) designed by Paul Chanut, of Paris, combines suede and kasanova (a new leather). The edges are all hand-whipped, and an unusual back treatment of the glove uses this hand-work in zig-zag lines. Dusty pink suede fashions the smart gloves and handbag, which accent the navy blue tailored suit at right. Repeating the chosen color theme are the hat of novelty silk in navy blue and dusty pink stripes and the matching gilet. Both pairs of gloves shown are smart, spring-like and the last word in handwear.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Youth's Serious Lovemaking After Month's Acquaintance Repels Girl; He Asks How to Win Her.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am asking your advice in this matter, for I know that I can rely upon it. During the Christmas holidays I met a girl and right away we seemed to be attracted to each other. We went to shows and dances together and became very good friends. She is very nice and attractive and has a most pleasing personality. Well, to make a long story short, after I had gone with her about a month I knew that I loved her.

So one night when we were alone I confessed my love for her. She seemed to think I was only kidding, but after about a week she realized I was serious. The last night I saw her I asked when I might see her again. She said to telephone her later. Since then I have telephoned her many times but always she has some excuse. Finally I wrote and asked her what was wrong. She explained it was because I became too serious.

I now realize my mistake and have been trying to get in touch with her to apologize and promise to take a different attitude in the future. But every time I call her it seems she is out. She told me once that she cared for me but that we weren't meant for each other. I love her more than anything on earth, Miss Haworth, so won't you please tell me what to do to win back her comradeship? How to convince her that I will not be as serious as before? A million thanks.

L. C.

The Thing To Do.

DEAR L. C.: The first step toward convincing the young lady that you can control your ardor if you must is to stop calling her for at least two weeks. After that send her a corsage with a note inclosed, which might say something to this effect: "For a very level headed young lady from a very apologetic young man who has learned his lesson and would like to be friends with her for the good of his soul. Please forgive my mistake and help me live it down by having dinner with me one evening soon. We'll talk of ships and shoes and ceiling wax and cabbage and kings, or anything you like. I will telephone you tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock for your answer. Please don't be out to me. Sincerely, Jim."

If she grants you an engagement, weep your feelings completely under control and avoid all gestures of lovemaking and all words of love as you would the plague. Let her set the pace of the relationship. After dinner, suggest a show or dancing, and keep the tempo of the occasion lighthearted and impersonal. Don't let any emotional intensity creep into your leave-taking. Bid her a friendly goodnight and say "I'll be seeing you soon, I hope," but don't try to clinch another engagement on the spot. Call her again in about a week.

I imagine she was definitely repelled and possibly even a little frightened by the intensity of your love-making at the end of a month's acquaintance, and because: "The only way to play fairly with you was not to see you at all. In order to test her powers of attractiveness she may have encouraged you at first and felt

Ripe Olives Used In Old Fashioned Tuna Casserole

An old fashioned escalloped casserole of tuna, crab meat and ripe olives is an inspired combination for luncheon service during Lent. Not one, but two varieties of sea food contribute to its refreshing savor. Sliced ripe olives are especially agreeable as their ally in flavor.

Make this dish in the old fashioned way which many still prefer and which was routine procedure for making escalloped dishes in your mother's day. On the bottom of the well buttered casserole arrange a layer of finely broken crackers, then a generous layer of flaked tuna and sliced ripe olives, with sufficient milk to moisten, and pepper and salt to taste. Then another layer of cracker crumbs, a layer of flaked crab meat and sliced ripe olives, more milk and seasoning. The ripe olives may be mixed with the sea foods or arranged as a separate layer.

Ice Cream Frozen Best At Coldest Temperature

The secret of freezing ice creams successfully is to freeze them at the coldest degree possible. This prevents the formation of large ice crystals and produces a smoother texture. The Holpoint Refrigerator, with its new speed freezer, freezes ice creams very rapidly, thus producing velvety-smooth frozen dishes.

Menus for Today

BREAKFAST.
Pineapple juice
Creamed chipped beef on toast
Coffee
Milk

LUNCHEON.
Baked beans with frankfurters
Brown bread and butter sandwiches
Cabbage salad
Chocolate fudge

DINNER.
Spiced apple juice cocktail
Broiled steak
Mushroom gravy
Riced potatoes
Celery
Cloverleaf rolls
Butter

Stuffed Angel Cake.
STUFFED ANGEL CAKE.
Fill the center of an angel cake with hulled strawberries or drained mixed fruits and cover with whipped cream.

Spanking Is Not Advisable For All Types of Children

By Alice Clarissa Richmond.

MRS. Z. believed in spanking in an era when spanking was out of style. With her oldest child such punishment was rarely if ever necessary, and when administered was taken philosophically as a necessary evil. But the second child was a horse of a very different color.

The first time Mrs. Z. put her over her knee to chastise her she found herself faced with a little maniac. The child screamed and fought, and when the ordeal was over was still so enraged that it was days before she was normal once more. She felt outraged, humiliated, and her rancor increased with every spanking.

There have always been such children, but when corporal punishment was taken for granted they were not quite so conspicuous, since they took it for granted that it was part of life. But today the question as to whether it is wise to spank children is in the air. No child can help being conscious of the controversy. He has probably been told by someone that spanking is humiliating.

Whether spanking is wise or unwise becomes in such a case an academic question. The child who is changed to a wild beast by corporal punishment is not benefited by spanking, and should be corrected in some other way.

Some children, even today, prefer whippings to scoldings or solitary confinement. The spanking is soon over and leaves one with the sense of an obligation paid in full, and freedom to go about one's own affairs. It is really a comfort, very much like confession and absolution. But no two children are alike, and the wise parent will discriminate between children when he chastises them.

EASTER Fashions for Children

GIRLS' and TEENERS'

Easter Coats and Suits . . .

$8.44 Ea.

—Every style a fashion-wise youngster could wish for! Suits with chic little jackets, with coats that vary from jigger length to full length . . . some with suspender skirts! Coats in Princess styles, in swaggar and tailored models, in boxy and jigger types! Newest colors include beige, shrimp, gold, navy, grey, open and brown. Sizes 7 to 16.

EASTER DRESSES $2.98

—A beautiful array of dresses for the girls of 7 to 16. New styles with boleros, swing skirts, Dalmatian embroidery, basque bodices, youthful collars and cuffs.

—Also at $2.98, lovely Confirmation dresses of white georgette, crisp celanese taffeta and dotted swiss. Sizes 7 to 12.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE Hats . . . $1.95

—Felts and straws in styles that will make every young girl as winsome as the little movie star who first wore them. Off-facers, rollers and bonnets in bright Spring colors. Headsizes 20½ to 22.

Tots' Dresses & Little Boys' Wash Suits . . . 88c ea.

—Cunning little dresses of flowered organdy, lawn and shantung for little girls . . . And for little boys, broadcloth and shantung suits, in one color or two-tone effects. Sizes 3 to 6.

CHILDREN'S Coats . . . $6.88

—When little people of 2 to 6 go strolling on Easter Sunday they must have smart coats. Tweeds, serges and checks in princess, single and double-breasted styles. Newest colors for Spring.

Girls' and Children's Shops—Fourth Floor

Kann's District 7200

A WOMAN'S NEW YORK

By Alice Hughes.

New York, March 23. AS PREDICTED HERE and everywhere, the Residential Trailer is now a national problem, and learned gents all over the country are squaring their brains to solve the many problems the rambling homes present—taxes, sanitation and so on.

Harold Osterberg, a New York solon who is chairman of the committee which tries to cope with such matters, tells me that no less than 75,000 of these things will be bought this year, bringing the total in use to 375,000, with a wandering population totaling about 2,000,000 men, women and youngsters—not counting dogs, of course. This is indubitably something! Osterberg is actually aware of the many problems these rolling dove-cotes present, not the least of which is the sizable "trailer vote." Where is the modern gypsy to cast his ballot, if he insists on bounding all over the Nation?

Then, too, the coming of spring's good weather (we hope), is going to fill the country's highways with them—adding to the rural traffic troubles, already tough enough on account of big trucks and road-filling passenger buses. The time is not far off when the mere pleasure car will have to take to the plowed fields, leaving the paved routes to trailers, buses and interurban truck lines.

All in all, it's a situation. Trailers, naturally, are beginning to fight back. In Florida a trailing gentleman solemnly warned all cities which threaten over-regulation that the wandering citizens will avoid them entirely, thus taking money from the merchant's tills. Oh dear! What is our beloved land a-coming to? Remember when people had settled homes with cellars under them?

GIRL ABOUT TOWN—The Earl of Warwick, whom I interviewed on the Normandie last fall when he was on his way to Hollywood and the movies, doesn't seem to be doing any acting—even under his new nom de flicker, Michael Brook! Now I hear he has been down at Palm Beach, flashing his handsome profile and dancing attendance on lovely Gloria Baker, pettiest of the young post-dubs, daughter of the four-times-married Mrs. Margaret Emerson and half-sister of the Vanderbilt boys, A. G. and George. His Nibs is only 25, with a divorce on the way from his countess—a pip-pip herself.

No doubt about it—Nelson Eddy is the ace Wonder Man of them all when he steps out on the concrete stage and turns loose his high-class baritone! The other night, winding up his long concert tour, Nelson appeared at the Westchester County Center, in our suburban White Plains, and crowded 6,000 cash customers into a huge hall geared to seat 4,000! Aides and stage were filled, with plenty of standers. And, need I add, mostly members of our susceptible sex? What a man—to coin a phrase!

Strange didoes on Broadway! Katharine Cornell is to close here early next month, though her performances of "Candida" are drawing stander-uppers! And instead of finding a replacement for Margaret Sullivan, they are ending the run of "Stage Door," heaving a lot of actors out of work. Incidentally, did you know that Clive Brook broke Lucie, author of the smash hit, "The Women," is giving every cent of her royalties to charity? But she'll do all right—her brilliant spouse makes fortunes out of publishing "Time," "Fortune" and "Life." Clive can have a silver fox pelt, now and again!

Copyright, 1937, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Delicate Feasting Is Still Possible In Lenten Season

Contrary to the general impression, Lent can be a time of delicate feasting. Even though some of the usual articles of food are banned from the table there need be no tedious repetition of permitted viands during the fasting period. Fish, cheese and cereal dishes as well as eggs can be given as much appetite appeal as meat, provided the proper seasonings are added to enhance their natural flavor, and the cooking methods are not always the same. Each one of the dishes below, served with a green vegetable or salad, makes a delicious main course for any meal of the year.

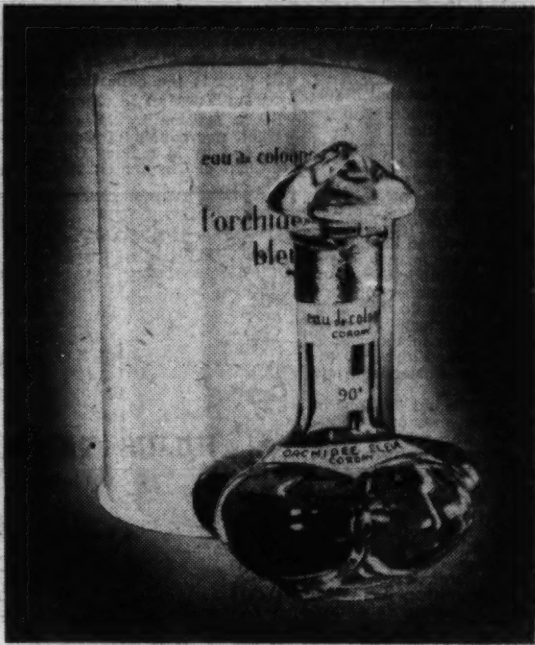

Tuna Fish Puffs.
1 cup stale bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 cups milk
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 cup tuna fish (flaked)
4 eggs
Combine the crumbs, salt, mustard, onion and milk in a saucepan and cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Then add the tuna fish, remove from the stove and pour over the eggs, which have been slightly beaten. Pour into eight greased custard cups, set in a pan of warm water and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes, or until a silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Excellent with green peas.

Louisiana Spaghetti.
4 tablespoons shortening
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
Dash cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 cup mayonnaise
2 cups shrimp
1/4 pound spaghetti
Melt shortening, add flour and salt. Stir until smooth. Add milk gradually. Stir and cook until thick. Add cayenne pepper, mustard, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Add cleaned shrimp to hot sauce. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Place spaghetti on a warm platter, cover with hot shrimp sauce, and sprinkle generously with paprika. Serves 4. A salad goes well with this.

Easter Morn Say it with Flower-Fragrances

Perfumes . . . Flower scents . . . Beauty! Symbols of Easter for those who bestow tokens of this joyous season. Romance for lovely ladies who use them to give their beauty the aura of Easter!

Jelleff's perfume shelves are enticingly arranged with precious perfumes from foreign lands and our own domestic creations. Our exclusive Arden Salon hardly needs introduction nor do the exquisite gifts of Beauty by Arden.

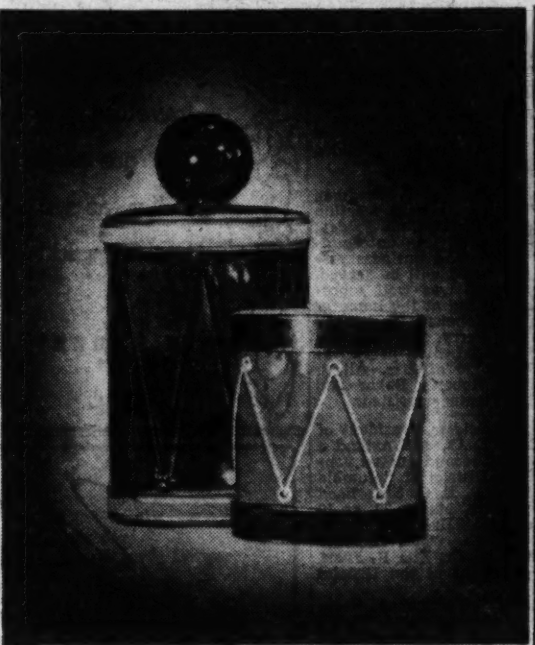

Corday's Orchidee Bleu

Easter bouquet of blue orchids! Their rare fragrance captured in Corday's famous Eau de Cologne . . . distinctive, lasting, lovely! In beautiful gift bottles, $1.50.

An Old Russian Tradition becomes an American Easter Custom

. . . since Prince Matchabelli introduced the three little Crowns of Perfume tucked into the most Easterly of boxes . . . the gaily colored traditional Russian Easter Egg. In these three famous Perfumes . . . Duchess of York, Ave Maria and Princess Marie. $3.

Charbert's Drum of Perfume

. . . will stir up heart-beats in the Easter Parade. Four lovely odors . . . "Of Thee I Sing", "Gardenia", "Drum Beat", and "Coronation"—in Charbert's new Easter drum bottles, $2.50. Same fragrances in Eau de Cologne, $1 and $2.

Easter "Flowers" from St. Denis

Gay and enchantingly perfumed St. Denis preparations, beautifully boxed and decked with flower corsages to match their fragrances . . . Lily of the Valley, Gardenia, and Madonna Carnation. Bath Crystals, Cologne, Bath Powder . . . each $1.25.

Lenthier's Silent Messenger

. . . will convey your tidings for a joyous Easter with a song of fragrance! A trio of daytime Eau de Cologne—Miracle, Shanghai, Gardenia—gaily ensembled in a "Bal Masque" box, $1.95.

Helena Rubinstein Foursome

For Easter beauty . . . four preparations fitted into an ivory bakelite column . . . Herbal Cream, Novena Night Cream, Water Lily Powder, Rouge in Peachbloom or Red Coral shades . . . wrapped in a bright cotton bandanna head scarf. $3.75.

Wemdon's Easter Basket

famous old-English Lavender fragrance in Cologne, Sachet, Water Softener and Soap . . . all tucked into a festive little Easter Basket—or in a bright Easter Box—$1.

Gardenia by Lucretia Allen

Meet this famous perfumer here tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. Really "true" fragrance of Gardenias in a haunting, romantic, illusive Perfume. Precious way to express Easter sentiments. $3.50. Other sizes, $5 and $10.

Essence Imperial Russe

It is both Perfume and Eau de Cologne. The essence that quickened the pulse of kings. Supreme favorite of Catherine the Great . . . beloved of great European beauties for two centuries! 6-oz. bottle with atomizer, $3.75. 3-oz. with atomizer, $2. New trial size, $1.

Roger & Gallet Special Set

Flours d'Amour . . . Springtime fragrance in this combination package. Full-size bottles of Sachet—to use as perfume or lingerie scent—and Talcum—silk-sifted and delightfully smooth. Regularly $1.75, special at $1.

$3.85 Dorothy Gray Kit, $2.50

To make you look pretty for Easter! Treatment kit with 5 Dorothy Gray beauty preparations . . . Face Powder, Skin Tonic, Cleansing Cream, Nourishing Cream, Foundation Cream . . . for dry, oily or normal skins.

A Word to Mr. Man—Call on Elizabeth Browner, our Personal Shopper, to select your feminine Easter gifts. She's well-informed! At the Store or phone METropolitan 0300.

Women's Press Group Hears Senator Lodge

Massachusetts Legislator, With His Wife and Mr. Charles Belden, Guest of Honor at Luncheon at the Willard Hotel.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., who is as familiar with newspapers as with politics, addressed the Women's National Press Club yesterday at its weekly luncheon at the Willard Hotel. He and Mrs. Lodge and Mr. Charles Belden, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were guests of honor.

Senator Lodge talked on the relationship between politics and newspaper work and the important place of women in both. He was introduced by Miss Mary Hornaday, president of the club, at whose right he was seated. Mrs. Lodge, who was at her left, wore a navy blue costume, her frock trimmed in white buttons and a narrow piping of white down the front and her turban of blue with white polka dots, trimmed with a rhinestone ornament. Miss Hornaday also was in blue, of a lighter shade, her soft felt hat matching her wool suit, the jacket of which had silver buttons.

Talks on Antelopes.

Mr. Belden, who is widely known for his photographs of the West, also has the distinction of owning a ranch in Wyoming, on which is the largest herd of antelopes in this country. He told of taking baby antelopes by airplane to various zoos, including Washington's, and of sending two to Germany aboard the Hindenburg.

Among other guests at the luncheon were Anne Cameron, noted short story writer, and Mrs. Walter Fertig, who had just arrived after a cross-continental motor trip from Hollywood. They were there with Mrs. P. T. Evans, Mrs. Cameron's sister.

Mrs. Cameron told several amusing incidents of their journey East with an automobile trailer, which they left safely housed in a garage in Richmond, Va., having had enough of that kind of traveling by the time they reached there, she said.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair had as her guests Mrs. Ralph A. Harris, Republican national committeewoman from Kansas, and Mme. Annerika Fries, who is a native of Sweden, but now making her home on Cape Cod.

Lectured in Boston.

Mme. Fries came to the Capital a few days ago from Boston, where she presented one of her lectures on Swedish literature, and will return there to speak before the Women's City Club.

Among others present were Miss Alda C. Bowler, superintendent of the Carson Indian Agency, in Nevada, who has 6,000 Indians under her supervision; Mrs. Carleton Putnam, Mrs. William Thomas Byrne, wife of Representative Byrne, and a columnist for a paper in Albany, N. Y., and Miss Anne Sherby.

Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, a member of the club, whose new book, "Written in Heaven," is coming out this week, told something of her experience in gathering material for it during her stay at Lixie last summer. She will have a display of dolls, costumes and books from there at St. Matthew's book store on Saturday, from 2 to 6, and will autograph copies of the book.

Miss Bloedorn To Entertain

Miss Helen May Bloedorn, daughter of Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn and Mrs. Ellen May Howard Bloedorn, of Washington, will entertain at a dinner dance at the Army and Navy Country Club, in Arlington County, Va., Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Her guests will be her classmates from William and Mary College, including Miss Frances Kemp, of Indiana; Miss Marion Munroe, of New York; Miss Sally Ann Gillespie, of Virginia; Miss Janet McKinley, of Washington; Miss Charity Ruland, of Connecticut; Miss Estelle Revkin, of New York; Miss Jane Upchurch, of Illinois; Miss Janet Amundsen, of New Jersey; Miss Marjorie Murch, of New York; Miss Marguerite Pentland, of New Jersey, and their escorts.

Other guests will include Messrs. Daniel Ruland, William Stanton Howard, Gerald Griffin, R. P. Dumont and Sidney Chaffee.

Capital Girls Chosen In Sweet Briar Fete

Miss Molly Gruber, of Washington, has been selected this year's May Queen to preside at the Elizabethan May Day festival of Sweet Briar College on May 1. There will be 35 members of the May Queen's Court, Washington girls among them are Miss Ellen Lee Snodgrass, Miss Helen Patton, Miss Florence Merritt, Miss C. Corcoran Hicks, Miss Margaret Dowell, Miss Nancy Gatch and Miss Jane Baker.

Entertain at Dinner.

The Air Attache of the Chilean Embassy and Senora de Puga entertained at a small dinner last night at their home, 2540 Massachusetts avenue. Their guest included the Ambassador of Ecuador and Senora de Alfaro, the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the Air Attache of the Italian Embassy and Signora Coppola. Mme. Ulysses Espallat and Maj. Robert Cummings.

Next Tuesday they will be hosts at a cocktail party for which they have issued cards, from 5 to 7.

To Correct An Erroneous Press Statement

The fire of Sunday evening at 1223 Connecticut Avenue was not in our building.

Our Entire Establishment and Health Club Now Open as Usual

Emile
Coffleur to Elite
Washingtonians Since 1907
1221 Conn. Ave. Dist. 3616

Granddaughter Visiting Mrs. William L. Dunlop

MRS. WILLIAM LAIRD DUNLOP, is shown with her granddaughter, little Betsy Dunlop Walker, who is visiting her while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mallory Walker, are in Miami, Fla.

Mashbirs Start Journey to Japan

Former Army Engineer and Family to Sail for Orient April 1.

Col. and Mrs. Sidney F. Mashbir and their son, Don, left Monday night for San Francisco, from where they will sail for Japan on April 1. Col. Mashbir, who was in Japan at the time of the earthquake, will introduce his methods there of building "quake-proof" homes and office buildings from concrete. He was in the U. S. Army, attached to the Embassy, just prior to the earthquake, and at that time rendered valuable service in first aid, reconstruction and recovery.

He is president of the Washington Institute of Technology and of the Scientific Concrete Service Corporation. The Mashbirs' home is at 2503 Waterside drive. They will spend some time in San Diego before sailing, visiting Commander and Mrs. Ellis M. Zacharias, formerly of Washington. Commander Zacharias was stationed at Navy headquarters here.

Officers of Texas Society Are Guests

Mr. Karl Crowley Is Host to Group at Mayflower.

Mr. Karl Crowley, president of the Texas State Society of Washington, entertained the officers of the society Friday evening at his apartment in the Mayflower Hotel. Those present were Mr. Clifford G. Beckham, of Fort Worth, Tex., first vice president; Mrs. Ewing Thompson, of El Paso, Tex., second vice president; Mrs. T. Lee Edmiston, of Yowell, Tex., third vice president; Mr. Lloyd Crosslin, of Lubbock, Tex., secretary-treasurer; Miss Alla Clay, of Prosper, Tex., official hostess; Mr. Victor Russell, of Arkansas, Tex., and Miss Margaret Black, of Clarksville, Tex.

Plans were made for the next party of the society, which will be the third of the season and will be held on Saturday at 9 p. m. in the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel. This will be a reception and dance.

Plans also were discussed for the fourth dance of the season, which will be held on April 1 and will be in celebration of the Battle of San Jacinto, that marked the end of the Texas revolution in 1836.

Stopping at Carlton. Mrs. Herbert Knox Smith, whose home is in Farmington, Conn., is staying at the Carlton Hotel in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sherby, who passed the winter in Long Beach, Calif., visiting their son, Ensign Sydney S. Sherby, have returned.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Take Apartment. Representative and Mrs. Robert E. Carter, of California, and their niece, Miss Dorothy E. Flynn, who have been staying at the Willard, have taken an apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue.

Mme. Pastoriza, wife of the Minister of the Dominican Republic, will not receive at her usual "at home" this Friday and will observe no more days at home this season.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Miss Betty du Pre is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. du Pre, of Chevy Chase. Mrs. du Pre's mother, Mrs. W. P. Hicks, also has returned from a four months' visit in the South.

Quota Clubs Set Program For Meeting

Atlantic City Convention to Discuss Woman's Future at 40.

Problems of Depression Victims to Be Given Consideration.

The problem of the business woman over 40 will be a feature of discussions at the International Convention of Quota Clubs in Atlantic City in June. Miss Elsie M. Yellis, international president, recently pointed out that the plight of these women over 40 whose careers might have prospered but for the severity of the depression is one that has to be given serious consideration by the women of the Nation.

A service plan for older women will be outlined at the convention. It has been the policy of Quota Clubs to confine their service work to girls and young women but the new service plan will extend this work to women between the ages of 40 and 65. There are more than 100 units of the Quota Club in this country with classified membership such as the Rotary Clubs have. They have contributed much to community and city life in their work for young women and girls, recreation centers, loan scholarships and family welfare work.

Miss Yellis points out that one of the great needs at present is assistance to women who are considered too old for private industry and yet not eligible for old-age pensions.

The committee for the card party to be given at the Woman's City Club March 31 is as follows: Mrs. Edgar T. Brown, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Mrs. Frank A. Birghoff, chairman of the house committee, Mrs. Harv. B. Hartman, Mrs. Caroline B. Stephens, Miss Loretta Barnes, Mrs. Albert Dodge, Miss Hazel Swift, Miss Margaret Vail, Mrs. Frederick Vail, Miss Jess Lane, Mrs. Frank Goldstein, Miss Elizabeth Raymond, Mrs. Gladys B. Middlemiss, Mrs. Don Sanford, Mrs. E. Richard Gasch, Mrs. Laura Waters, Mrs. G. E. Perry, Mrs. Bertha Butts, Miss Nana Budd, Miss Hartman will have charge of the cake and candy table.

Mrs. Randolph Blinn, whose pen name is Ethel Houston, reviewed her latest book "A Roof Over Their Heads" at the meeting of the Book Review Section of the Washington Branch of the American Association of University Women last night.

Miss Ruby Nevins, chairman of the book review section, presided and introduced Mrs. Blinn.

Willow Grove, No. 3, Woodmen Circle, will hold its next meeting in the Thomas Circle Club, Friday, April 2, at 8 p. m. An entertainment will follow the business session. Refreshments will be served.

The Imps Club was well represented at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Gibbons, Wednesday night, Mrs. F. Perry, guardian, presided. A post-Lenten party was held at the home of Mrs. Allen Dalkin, Miss Roberta Baker and Mrs. Carolyn Gentner assisted.

Miss Myrtle Seidler, president of Chapter C. P. E. O., will extend a welcome to the second annual convention of the District of Columbia Chapter of the P. E. O. Sisterhood Tuesday morning, March 30, at 10 o'clock, in Pierce Hall, All Souls' Unitarian Church. The response will be given by Dr. Ella R. Fales, first vice president of the District board.

Members of the sisterhood from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, as well as representatives of the 600 members in the District, will be in attendance at the two-day meeting. Mrs. Veda M. Jones, of Portland, Ore., will represent the supreme board of the sisterhood at the District convention.

The bride is a graduate of American University and is a member of Alpha Chi Fraternity, the American Association of University Women, and the Junior Woman's Guild of American University.

Lieut. Caldwell was graduated in 1928 from West Point and served from 1932 to 1935 as military aide to the Governor of Puerto Rico.

Arrive in Palm Beach. The Ambassador of France and Mme. Georges Bonnet arrived yesterday in Palm Beach, Fla., for a week's stay. They were guests for tea in the afternoon of the E. T. Stotesburys.

THRIFT SERVICE 7c LB. PIONEER LAUNDRY 920 R. I. N.E.—NO. 1315

STEINWAY PIANOS Music—Musical Instruments Radio—Gramophones RECORDS DROOP'S 1300 G Hammond Electric Organ

LET THE TELEPHONE BE YOUR Easter ERRAND BOY

????? DEAF try the new DEFOREST AUDIPHONE Bone and Air Conduction Newest Models FREE DEMONSTRATION Optical Department Jewelers, Platinumsmiths, Stationers

A. KAHN INC. Arthur J. Sundlin, President 45 Years at 935 F St.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES 7.95 OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS 9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES 7.95 OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS 9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES 7.95 OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS 9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES 7.95 OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS 9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES 7.95 OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS 9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

In Club World Today

Meeting Washington Section, Council of Jewish Women, vestry rooms of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, 11 a. m.

Social Studies Group, A. A. U. W., 11 a. m.

Leacyue Ari and Archeology League, Holton Arms School, 8:15 p. m.

Petworth Woman's Club music section, 7:45 p. m.

Meeting of the Garden and Nature Section members Twentieth Century Club, Y. W. C. A., 3 p. m.

Meeting of Red Cross Unit, Twentieth Century Club, 1730 E street, 11 a. m.

Luncheon meeting Zonta Club, Y. W. C. A., 1 p. m.

Luncheon, Soroptimist Club, Willard Hotel, 1 p. m.

tion and will speak at 11:30 each day.

Mrs. Maude N. Stockberger, second vice president of the District of Columbia Chapter of P. E. O., will present the educational work program Tuesday afternoon. She will be assisted by Miss Dorothy Wright, a graduate of Cottey College, and by Mrs. Lucy Claughton, president of Chapter G; Mrs. Letta

Peck, president of Chapter I, and Mrs. Harriet Fohrman, president of Chapter K. The program will be based on the sisterhood's two principal educational activities—Cottey College, a junior college in Nevada, Mo., which was presented to the sisterhood in 1927, and the educational fund, which in 30 years has received nearly $800,000 through contributions alone and has aided over 5,000 girls to complete their college courses.

The memorial hour for District members who died this year will be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and will be conducted by Miss Laura V. D. Hanson, past District president.

Mrs. Bertha M. Matlocks, president of Chapter D, will preside at the banquet at the Mayflower Hotel Tuesday night. Mrs. Veda M. Jones, of Portland, Ore., the supreme organizer of the sisterhood, will be the guest of honor. The banquet will be followed by a reception in honor of Mrs. Jones and the District board.

Dr. E. C. Higbie, president of Willson Teachers College, representing the B. L. L. of Washington, will make the principal after dinner speech. Mrs. Higbie is the corresponding secretary of the District of Columbia chapter.

Within the next three months 28 other State and province conventions will be held in the United States and Canada, in which representatives of over 68,000 members will take part. The biennial supreme convention will be held in St. Louis in September, and local delegates will be elected during the District convention.

TODAY AT

JULIUS GARFINCKEL & COMPANY

NEW DRESSES

A boon to smart women and misses looking for Easter fashion successes with individuality and charm of distinction . . . Our Third, Fourth and Sixth Floors are positively overflowing with these lovely new arrivals for street, evening, sports and for any Easter traveling you have planned to do . . .

We are eager to show them to you today, as we know full well they will add to your Easter joy.

F STREET AT FOURTEENTH

Youth GOES IN FOR Sports

Young moderns love the perfect nonchalance, the dashing informality of these new Arch Preserver SPORTS, created by Selby. They're as necessary to the casual mode as spring tweeds. And so light on your feet you'll fairly glide over the ground in them. Their special Arch Preserver features keep your feet young.

ARCH PRESERVER SPORT SHOES

7.95

OTHER ARCH PRESERVERS

9.50 to 11.75

Selby ARCH PRESERVER Sports HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

HAHN 1207 F St. N.W.

Brooks
1109 G Street flattering
HATS
For Women
For you "forty-ish or so" women who want hats with flattery, dignity and chic. Here's a charming new Easter group in fine quality straws . . . dressy or tailored styles. Headsize 23 to 24 1/2.
$5
MILLINERY—SECOND FLOOR

LET THE TELEPHONE BE YOUR Easter ERRAND BOY

Robert Whiton Stuart, of Princeton, N. J., Weds Miss Christine Davis in New York Ceremony

Miss Jane Platt, Daughter of Mr. Landra Platt, of Chevy Chase, Selects April 24 for Her Wedding to Mr. Donald Deveau.

By Dudley Harmon.

From spring until midsummer, coming to a climax in June, weddings hold the social spotlight usually devoted to dinners, receptions and cocktail parties.

Yesterday one of the important marriages of the spring took place in New York City, when Miss Christine P. Davis, daughter of Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's ambassador-at-large, became the bride of Mr. Robert Whiton Stuart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Whiton Stuart, of Princeton, N. J.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Elmore McKee, rector of St. George's Church, at the home of the bride's parents, on East Seventy-ninth street. Mr. Lawrence M. C. Smith, of Washington, was best man and the only attendant. Only members of the two families and a few intimate friends were present.

Mr. Stuart and his bride, after a wedding trip, will live in New York. Another marriage of interest to Capital society will be that of Miss Jane Platt, daughter of Mr. Landra Platt, of Chevy Chase, who has selected April 24 for her wedding to Mr. Donald Deveau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Deveau. The ceremony will take place at Miss Platt's home, and will be attended only by members of the family and close friends. Her only attendant will be little Caroline Elaine Miller, who will be flower girl. She is the daughter of Mrs. G. Brown Miller, of Washington, sister of Miss Platt's stepmother.

Mr. Harold Deveau will serve as his brother's best man, and ushers will be Mr. Richard Johnson, Mr. William Blum, Mr. Andrew Parker and Mr. Robert Dulin. As the bride-to-be, a member of the Junior League, has numerous friends in Washington, there undoubtedly will be much entertaining in her honor before the wedding. After a brief honeymoon the couple will reside in a duplex apartment at 8363 Sixteenth street.

Another wedding of interest to Washington, although not quite so close to home, will be that of Miss Peggy Tilson, daughter of former Representative and Mrs. John Q. Tilson. She will be married in May to Mr. Bryce Schaeffer, the ceremony to take place in the chapel of Yale University, at New Haven, Conn. Col. Tilson, whose home is in New Haven, lives in Washington at the Mayflower Hotel, but commutes to the New England city every week to teach a law class at Yale. He was majority leader of the House for several years until his retirement from politics during the Hoover administration.

Miss Tilson and her mother will join Col. Tilson Friday for a few days before going to the home which they maintain in the mountains of Tennessee. After her marriage, she and her husband will reside in New York City.

Col. Tilson's digress from the subject of weddings—was among the guests at the tea given yesterday afternoon for the Attache of the Egyptian Legation and Mme. Zoulikar by Mrs. Gerald Linke and her sister, Mrs. R. B. Buchanan, at their home on Bancroft place. It was somewhat in the nature of a farewell party, as the Zoulikars are leaving Washington March 27 for Egypt.

Spring prints in different colors were much in evidence at the party. Mrs. Linke chose a frock of black with a background of white flowers, and the guest of honor wore a gray print with a small black hat with a nose veil. Mrs. Buchanan was the exception that proved the rule, in a powder blue dress which tied in a bow at the neck.

Mrs. Louis MacArthur poured at the tea table, which was decorated with white candles and a bowl of spring flowers. Many members of the Diplomatic Corps were among the guests, including Dr. Hans Thomsen, Counselor of the German Embassy; the Minister of Guatemala and Senora de Recinos, the latter wearing a gray frock and a small black felt hat; Rear Admiral Robert Withoff-Emden, Naval Attache of the German Embassy, who recently returned from a trip to Panama; Mr. George Boncosco, Financial Counselor of the Rumanian Legation, and Mme. Popovici, wife of the former Counselor of the Legation, who is leaving May 2 to join her husband in Bucharest, and the Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy and the Marchioness of Sant' Orsola, whose silver, lame suit was trimmed with fur.

Other guests were Mrs. Thomas C. Dawson and her daughter, Miss Lilita Dawson, and several naval officers and their wives including Comdr. and Mrs. Henry Seiler and Comdr. and Mrs. Ralph Alexander. Mrs. Linke is the wife of Commander Linke, at present on sea duty.

Theater Benefit Is Attended By Graduates of Bryn Mawr

Bryn Mawr graduates in Washington turned out en masse last evening for the benefit performance of "Jane Eyre," starring their fellow alumna, Katharine Hepburn. Proceeds from last night's performance will be used to send a Washington girl to Bryn Mawr. At the end of the play, the local Bryn Mawr Club presented Miss Hepburn with a bouquet.

One of the boxes was occupied by Miss Susanna Wilson, daughter of Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, who attended Bryn Mawr College for two years. She was gowned in black velvet and had with her in the box Miss Helen Brereton, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. William D. Brereton, who like Miss Wilson, is a receptionist at Studio House; Mr. John Stenborough and Lieut. Alden Sibley. Among other boxholders were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss and Mrs. Alanson Houghton.

Mrs. Howell Moorhead entertained at a small dinner, later taking her guests to the theater. They included her daughter, Miss Anne Moorhead, who will leave shortly with her mother to spend the summer in Europe; Mr. Stuart Fuller, assistant chief of the Far Eastern division of the State Department, and Mrs. Fuller, and Mrs. John Barriger 3d.

Mrs. Harry L. Grant entertained Mrs. Casanova Lee and Mrs. Horace Hickman in her box. Mrs. Alger Hiss, president of the Bryn Mawr Club, and Mr. Hiss had with them the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr. Francis Sayre, and Miss Helen Bell. Other members of the club present included Miss Olivia Stokes, who wore a gown of gold brocade made with a full skirt and a tight bodice, and Mr. and Mrs. Elliot O'Hara.

Others in the distinguished audience were Mrs. Walter White, in a gray crepe gown trimmed with a red bow; Mr. Lynch Luquer, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. William Allen Hayes; Baron and Baroness Serge Korff—she was the former Miss Alice Graeme; Miss Lucy Howard, and Miss Rebecca Trucco, daughter of the Chilean Ambassador, who was accompanied by Miss Olga Patterson, Miss Graciela Trucco, Senor Don Ricardo J. Siri and Senor Don Erasmo M. Villa, of the Argentine Embassy and Senor Don Jose Marie de Lasa, Attache of the Cuban Embassy.

The Counselor of the Swedish Legation and Mme. Per Wijkman will leave Washington today for New York, whence they will sail tomorrow for Sweden. They will return to Washington early in July.

Mme. Wijkman is the former Miss Ruth Wallace, sister of the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Henry A. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll Visiting in Capital.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Driscoll, of Brookline, Mass., are at the Martinique for a brief stay.

Mrs. George S. Mills, of Leonia, N. J., is stopping at the Wardman Park Hotel while in Washington for a brief visit.

BONTEX SHADES
WASHABLE! DURABLE!
NA. 0904
Washington Shade & Awnings Company
1904 M Street.

Fresh Nuts Daily
National Peanut Corporation
15th St. N.W.
Between Post and Peoples Drug Store.
Only Washington
Store.
Open Every Evening and Sunday

HOLMES TO HOMES
FRESH PIES CAKES & BREAD
NATIONAL 4537
HOLMES
Modern Bakery

GLOVE CLEANING
ALL KINDS OF GLOVE REPAIRING
Leather Gloves Cleaned—25c
Black Gloves Retinted—35c
SOUTHERN STELOS CO.
613 12th St. N.W., NAL. 0442

LET THE TELEPHONE BE YOUR EASTER ERRAND BOY

Robert of Paris Inc.
Coiffure Designer
Mr. Robert and his staff of artists are ready to re-style your hair to complement your Easter ensemble.
At Both Salons:
1514 Conn. Ave.—NO. 2776-77
and the
Willard Hotel—Dist. 5445

Miss Christine Davis, daughter of Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's Ambassador at Large, became the bride yesterday afternoon of Mr. Robert Whiton Stuart, of Princeton, N. J. They are shown in the bride's home in New York, where the ceremony was performed.

NOTES OF SOCIETY Official and Residential

The Peruvian Ambassador, Senor Don Manuel de Freyre y Santander, was guest of honor at a dinner party given last evening by the Ambassador of Chile, Senor Don Manuel Trucco.

The Ambassador of Argentina and Senora de Espil will be guests of honor at a dinner to be given this evening by the Chilean Ambassador.

The United States Ambassador to Argentina and Mrs. Alexander W. Weddell arrived in New York yesterday on the Santa Lucia. They will come to Washington Sunday for a brief visit before going to their home in Richmond, Va.

Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, has returned to his apartment at the Carlton after a visit to his home in Clinton, Mass.

Representative and Mrs. Henry Ellenbogen and Mr. and Mrs. Evan A. Scholl, of Washington, are at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Atlantic City.

Miss Audrey Jean Ney Coming for Visit.

Miss Audrey Jean Ney, of Purdue University, will arrive Sunday to spend the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert

CARNELL Beauty Shop
3111 14th St. N.W.
CO. 9417-9166
Permanent Wave Start at $4.00

Security Storage
A SAFE DEPOSITORY FOR OVER 47 YEARS
1440 FIFTEENTH ST.

Embodying the Easter Spirit in Coiffure Creations

Robert of Paris Inc.
Coiffure Designer
Mr. Robert and his staff of artists are ready to re-style your hair to complement your Easter ensemble.
At Both Salons:
1514 Conn. Ave.—NO. 2776-77
and the
Willard Hotel—Dist. 5445

Adm. Leahy Will Honor Capt. Latham

French Officer Will Be Guest at Luncheon at Mayflower.

Naval Operations Chief, Wife Giving Dance Tomorrow.

The Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral William D. Leahy, is entertaining at a luncheon today for the commanding officer, Capt. Henri Latham, of the Jeanne d'Arc, the French naval training ship which docked in Baltimore Sunday night. The luncheon, which will be held in the Pan American room of the Mayflower Hotel, begins a round of festivity. Admiral Leahy's guests from the French Embassy will be M. Jules Henry, Counselor; Capt. Sable, Naval Attache; Lieut. Col. Lombard, Military Attache; Lieut. Col. Chamsaur, Air Attache, and M. Saint, Secretary of Embassy. Also Commander Hamel, Lieut. Lafarque and Lieut. Bonnet, of the Jeanne d'Arc; Mr. James C. Dunn, of the Department of State; Rear Admiral W. G. DeBose, Capt. W. D. Puleston, Capt. S. C. Rowan, Capt. Allan S. Farquhar, Capt. J. M. Irish, Commander L. Reissner, Commander C. H. Cobb, Lieut. Commander R. C. Alexander and Lieut. W. L. Freseman.

Tomorrow Admiral and Mrs. Leahy will give a tea dance and reception to the officers and midshipmen of the Jeanne d'Arc in the Chinese room at the Mayflower. Mrs. Swanson, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, will receive with them. Today the French Naval Attache and Mme. Sable are entertaining at tea for Capt. Latham and other officers of the ship.

Fifty midshipmen from the visiting ship will attend the Ball of the Nations Monday evening at the Mayflower. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, as chairman, and the Counselor of the French Embassy, M. Henry, are in charge of arrangements for the dance.

Among the later subscribers for boxes at the ball are members of the staff of the German Embassy, the Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. Aranha, the Polish Ambassador and Countess Potocka, the Secretary of the Yugoslavian Legation and Mme. Perazic, Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, Dr. Ellery C. Stowell, executive secretary of the advisory committee of the Hall of Nations, American University, under whose auspices the ball is being given, and Mrs. Stowell. Mrs. Elliot Deming Pratt, of New York also has taken a box, coming to Washington with a group of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters Here From Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Peters and their family are in Washington for a few days and are occupying a suite at the Carlton Hotel. Their home is in Great Falls, Mont.

The Misses Marion L. and Lucy W. Goshorn, of Washington, are guests at the Ambassador Hotel in New York City.

Mattresses $3 Remade
THE STEIN BEDDING CO.
1004 Eye St. N.W. ME. 9490

RIZIK BROTHERS GOWNS
1213 F Street
1108 Conn. Ave.

Camalier & Buckley

THE CIG-A-LITE
Delivers a Cigarette LIT and puffing. Attaches to dash board in a jiffy.

Brings new luxury, new convenience and new safety to motorists who smoke. $5.00
Just one of many of our new, unusual and appropriate Easter gifts.

Specialists GOLD SEAL Bags

1141 Conn. Ave.
2 Doors Above The Mayflower

Camalier & Buckley
Fine Bathrooms
Expert Repairing

Church Rally to Hear Miss Margaret Wrong

Author Will Address Gathering of Woman's Council of Federation Tuesday, After Six Month Stay in Africa.

The Counselor of the Canadian Legation and Mrs. Hume Wrong will have as their guest during Easter week the former's sister, Miss Margaret Wrong. Miss Wrong, who has recently returned from a stay of six months in Africa, will speak on Tuesday afternoon at the annual ingathering of the Woman's Council of the Federation of Churches, which will begin its yearly drive for membership on that day at 2 o'clock at the National City Christian Church. Miss Mabel Boardman will entertain at a tea in honor of Miss Wrong following the meeting.

Mrs. Harper Sibley, national vice president of the Federated Churchwomen, will conduct the consecration service at the ingathering and Mrs. Jessie Burrall Eubank, of Cincinnati, will speak on "Spiritual Power in the Woman of Today." Dr. R. H. Miller, rector of the National City Christian Church, will give the invocation.

Miss Wrong is a graduate of Oxford University and for a time was secretary of the Student Christian Movement in the University of Toronto and later first dean of women of the University College. For the last six years she has been a member of the staff of the International Missionary Council, serving as secretary of the Committee on Christian Literature for Africa. She has made a number of visits to the United States since she has been in the London office.

Miss Wrong will make a speaking tour in some of the other Southern cities, returning to Canada April 13 and sailing shortly thereafter for England. She is the author of a book on Africa, and Mr. Emory Ross, author of "Out of Africa," will also be present at the ingathering. Mrs. Eubank is well known in Washington, where she made her home for some years. During the World War period she organized and taught the Burrall Class, an organization of young women in Calvary Baptist Sunday School, which at one time had a membership of upward of 1,000, meeting on Sunday in the Rialto Theater. She then went to Stephens College, in Columbia, Mo., as instructor in religious education. Since her marriage to Dr. Eubank, dean of Cincinnati University, she has made her home in Cincinnati, where she has taught classes in personality in the university. She has visited Washington frequently to give lectures.

There will be 18 denominations represented at the ingathering and Mrs. W. G. Waldo, chairman of the denominational representatives, who has been spending two months in Florida, will return to Washington for the occasion.

Adlai Manns Announce Bar Mitzvah of Son

Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Mann, of 1755 Hobart street, announce the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Billy, Saturday morning, March 27, at 10:30 a. m. at the Washington Hebrew Congregation.

They will be at home to their friends Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock.

At Tarpon Springs.

Mrs. X. H. Price, wife of Lieut. Col. Price, and their daughter, Clair, have left Washington for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Price's mother at Tarpon Springs, Fla.

Mrs. Jenkins Married To Comdr. Creighton

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer Skinner announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances Skinner Jenkins, to Commander John Marie Creighton, of Washington. The ceremony took place March 17 in New York City and the couple are now honeymooning in Bermuda.

They will be at home after May 1 at 3225 Reservoir road in Georgetown.

Commander Creighton came to Washington last year from duty in China, and has been living at the Dupont Circle Apartments.

EASTER Fashions Preferred in Women's Sizes

...a collection of daytime and evening wear that brings many a fashion conscious woman, seeking sizes 18 to 44, direct to our "Gown Salon" on the second floor... for well are we versed in the youthful lines, the simplicity, the correct accents that suavely compliment the larger figure.

- Sketches from the collection:
- (a) Grey lace and marquisette dinner dress $39.75
 - (b) Navy wool dress and jacket costume with azure fox, $169.75
 - (c) Sheer redingote of beige crepe, the dress is highlighted by lace, intricately shirred on net $49.75

Orchestra Fund Is Expected to Reach Its Goal

Workers Seeking $110,000 to Have Their Final Luncheon Today.

Hoping their final contribution reports will place the National Symphony Orchestra's sustaining fund, over the finish line, workers will meet for their last luncheon of the drive this noon in the Hamilton Hotel.

Having staged an intensive effort to reach the $110,000 goal since the report meeting of last Friday when a total of $64,000 was reported, the campaigners, leaders said yesterday, believe they can bring the drive to a successful conclusion today.

A special plea was directed yesterday to all interested in the future of the orchestra, but who have not yet been approached in the campaign. They were asked to mail their contributions at once to National Symphony campaign headquarters in the Hay-Adams House.

The campaign office presented evidence yesterday that the final students' concert played last Saturday morning in Constitution Hall by Hans Kindler and the orchestra had been a stimulus to the campaign.

Several friends of the orchestra became enthusiastic financial supporters because they were convinced Washington must not be without symphony concerts for its young music lovers.

One donor who had already sent the orchestra fund a $25 contribution decided the amount was not enough after she attended the students' concert and watched the excited faces of the 4,000 children as they listened to Dr. Kindler's music.

She was so impressed with the concert and the work the orchestra is doing that she wrote a note to the campaign headquarters enclosing another check. It doubled her original gift.

The donor of $5,000 to be matched by new or additional subscriptions over last year has "generously extended" the Wednesday noon deadline, Harold A. Brooks, campaign vice chairman, said.

Armstrong Estate Valued at $201,575

Mrs. Lydia C. Armstrong, who died January 24, left an estate valued at $201,575.81, it was shown in District Court Monday when a petition for the probate of her will was filed. The estate made up of cash, stocks, bonds and other securities.

Through T. Stanley Holland, of the American Security & Trust Co., executor, it was shown that Mrs. Armstrong left the bulk of her estate to three Louisville, Ky., philanthropic institutions. After payment of specific bequests the three are to divide the remainder. They were the Free Hospital, Morton Home for the Aged and Bishop and Trustees of the Diocese of Lexington for the Mountain School.

5 Dead, 2 Badly Hurt As Band Truck Upsets

Austin, Tex., March 23 (AP)—Five persons were killed and two seriously wounded today when a Glenn Lee dance orchestra truck collided head-on with a sedan 9 miles south of her on the San Antonio highway. The orchestra van was en route to San Antonio from Shreveport to open an engagement tonight.

COAL

2,500 Pounds to the Ton
Blue Ridge, Va., Hard
Hard Egg $10.75
Hard Stone $10.75
Special Furnace $10.75
Special Stone $10.75
Chestnut $10.60 Per Ton
Buckwheat, $7.25
Pocahontas Stone, $10.85
Smokeless Egg, $9.50
Smokeless Coal $10.85 or Best 80% Lump $8.50
Blue Egg, $8.50
Hard-Discharge
Makes Only Thin White Smoke
75% Lump Coal, $7.50
50% Lump Coal, $6.75
Lump delivered in separate compartment from the Blue-Discharge coal at same amount of lump.
Coal carried from truck to your coal bin; we do not dump it on curb. Guarantees: If red smoke issues with our coal after burning it 48 hours, we will take it back and refund your money on portion not used. Over 50,000 New Customers in 2 Yrs. in Baltimore and Washington.
There is a Reason Why
World's Largest Retailers of Va. Anthracite
ORDERS TAKEN UNTIL 9 P. M.
BLUE RIDGE COAL CO.
Miners of Virginia Anthracite Hard Coal, Alexandria, Va., So. Wash. Va.
ME. 2545 JACK. 1909

Must you always have a REASON?

We can give you several reasons why the Benjamin Franklin is the traveler's choice. Not only is it within walking distance to all shops and theatres, but it is a hotel of surpassing hospitality. Here you may enjoy complete relaxation in quiet rooms... indulge in the superb culinary of four distinct restaurants... without any strain on your pocketbook. Room rates commence at $3.50.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN
PHILADELPHIA 1901 HOTEL
Special Rates for Travelers

Wirephoto: Puerto Rico Police Injured in Riots

After quelling riots at Ponce, which took ten lives, officers turn to the care of wounded comrades who fell during the bloody street fighting that resulted when nationalists attempted to stage a parade to emphasize their demands for independence from the United States.

Willard Coffee Shop Official Says Firing Cures Bargaining

Miss Mary M. Brim, pert, ash-blond assistant manager of the Willard Coffee Shop, yesterday told the National Labor Relations Board that summary dismissal is her cure-all for insubordination.

The "fire one—fire all" young woman, who stated that "strong union people are erratic" and that bargaining with the management is "insubordination," was a witness in the labor board's hearing into the causes for the discharge of Miss Mabel Norman.

Miss Norman, who claims her testimony at a previous labor board hearing was the reason for her discharge as a Willard Coffee Shop waitress, was shop steward for Local 781 of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Alliance. Her dismissal and that of Garland P. Webb, waiter, contributed to the recent sit-down strike at the Willard.

Questioned by Joseph Blum, who with Edwin S. Smith conducted the hearing for the board, Miss Brim admitted she deliberately made it "uncomfortable" for Miss Norman after the latter was an unfavorable witness for the hotel at the previous hearing.

Miss Brim was preceded on the witness stand by Miss Miller, who testified Miss Norman "strutted around" as if she were cock of the walk, and that repeatedly she asked Harry Summerville, hotel manager, to discharge her.

No Trace Is Found Of 'Flying Duchess'

London, March 23 (AP)—Alarm for safety of England's aged flying Duchess of Bedford mounted tonight when no trace of her had been found more than 24 hours after her disappearance on a routine flight.

Scores of land and aerial searches covered a 60-mile square area in the Bedford fenslands. Royal Air Force planes joined in search for the titled, 71-year-old flier, despite snow.

Floor Show to Feature Optimists' Spring Revel

Bologna, oysters and beer will absorb merciless punishment tonight when 1,200 Washington Optimists and their friends stage their annual spring revel at the Hotel Mayflower.

A 10-act floor show, arranged by Optimists V. Manning Hoffman and R. J. A. Koenig, will augment the refreshments. Music will be furnished by Phil Lampkin and his orchestra. Distinguished guests will include a number of District officials.

Osgood the Duck Eschews Traffic For Radio Test

Osgood the duck, who holds up traffic when he waddles across Dupont Circle and for whom life is just a traffic light that doesn't apply to him, has entered the air through Radio Station WMAL.

Radio Announcer Jim McGrath sat in a chair facing a microphone and facing Robert Browning, Osgood's co-owner, who sat in another chair facing another microphone.

Osgood sat nearby in a tub—given him by an admirer—and eyed a head of lettuce that matched the green of Osgood's emerald-feathered head. McGrath and Browning eyed each other, asking and answering questions about Osgood. Osgood, said Browning, likes to cross the street so he can play with some pigeons on the other side. Osgood doesn't like spinach; it has nothing to do with his being so big and fat.

Osgood has been holding up Circle traffic for some time now, and yes, Mr. McGrath, he likes to hold up Dupont Circle traffic.

Osgood never swims in the fountain in the nearby park, because the fountain hasn't had much water of late. "And say 'quack,'" said McGrath, but Osgood kept eyeing the head of lettuce, leaving McGrath to tell the Nation that Osgood wouldn't say "quack" and to add that "my powers of concentration must be getting bad."

MacMonnies, Noted Sculptor, Is Dead at 73

Creator of Controversial 'Civic Virtue' Statue Is Represented Here.

New York, March 23 (AP)—Frederick MacMonnies, 73, one of the world's most successful modern sculptors, died of pneumonia in Doctors' Hospital last night after an illness of a few days.

Among the greatest of the MacMonnies works are the Marne Battle Monument at Meaux, France, the Washington group at Princeton, N. J.; the Nathan Hale Statue in City Hall Park, New York, and the colossal fountain of the world's Columbian Exposition of 1893 in Chicago.

His noted works include the equestrian statue of Gen. George B. Meade, in Washington, the central bronze doors and the statue of Shakespeare in the Congressional Library, and the Pioneer Monument in Denver.

MacMonnies' most controversial statue is "Civic Virtue," in New York, although others of his works raised storms at the turn of the century. Civic virtue depicts a classical hero spurning the sirens of corruption with his feet.

His "Bacchante With Infant Faun," made in 1894, was done in France and the French government tried to buy it, but was outbid by Charles F. McKim, New York architect.

The library trustees, however, decided its figures were too nude, so McKim gave it to the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York, which received it with honor and installed it near the entrance of the building.

In 1923, MacMonnies' "Venus and Adonis" was draped with canvas in New Rochelle, N. Y., although 150,000 persons had viewed it in New York earlier in the year without objections.

His wife, Mrs. Alice Jones MacMonnies, survives, with two daughters of a previous marriage, Mrs. Donald Wyssong, of Port Washington, N. Y., and Mrs. C. S. Hazard, of New York.

Tennesseans Offer Low Hospital Bid

A low basic bid of $868,326 for construction of a five-story general medical building at the Kecoughton Veterans' Administration facility in Virginia, was submitted yesterday to the Veterans' Administration by Worsham Brothers, of Knoxville, Tenn.

The Knoxville concern's bid is exclusive of elevators and refrigeration equipment. Second lowest bid was submitted by the Virginia Engineering Co., of Newport News, which asked $876,000.

The Otis Elevator Co., of Washington, submitted a low bid of $43,544 for the installation of four automatic control elevators. The Haughton Elevator Co., of Washington, bid $47,500 and the Warner Elevator Manufacturing Co., of Cincinnati, bid $53,895.

Noted Sculptor Dies

FREDERICK MACMONNIES, one of the world's most successful modern sculptors, who died yesterday at a New York hospital.

No Bids Offered On Steel Bars Asked by Navy

Problem Believed Solved Two Weeks Ago Bobs Up Once More.

The Navy's difficulties in getting steel and copper for new construction, apparently solved two weeks ago when steel companies shortened working hours, broke out anew yesterday when no bids were received on 200,000 pounds of steel bars for the naval gun factory at the local Navy Yard.

The 200,000 pounds of steel bars were one of 37 items on which bids were asked. Officials offered no explanation of why bids were not made, although all other items each received several bids.

Only a week ago estimates were received on 25,000,000 pounds of steel, apparently solving the Navy's five-month battle over the Walsh-Healey act. Previously companies had refused to bid on Navy contracts, since the Walsh-Healey law restricted working hours of employees. Thirteen companies, however, joined in last Tuesday's bids, after the industry had generally adopted a 40-hour week.

That yesterday's absence of bids indicates a deeper trouble—a reluctance by private industry to undertake Navy work—was substantiated by figures showing a decided decline in the number of bids that have been received on all contracts.

According to Capt. D. B. Wainwright, official in the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, there has been a 20 per cent decrease in the number of bids submitted the last year.

This condition appeared more serious, however, in comparing figures for the last three months with a year ago, where a 30 per cent decrease in bids was noticed.

Davison Appeal In Alexandria Trial Is Denied

Directed Verdict Refused at Hearing on Assets in Bankruptcy.

A plea for a directed verdict showing that Mayor Emmett C. Davison of Alexandria, had no concealed assets when he filed a bankruptcy petition in 1935 was denied in Federal court in Alexandria yesterday by Judge Luther B. Way.

William E. Leahy, chief defense counsel for Davison, on trial charged with concealing assets in a bankruptcy proceeding, presented the plea as the Government completed its case against Davison late yesterday. Judge Way ruled that it was "the exclusive province of the jury to determine the weight and credibility of the evidence" and refused to take the case from the jury's hands.

Leahy's plea was based on the testimony of Mrs. Sadie Robinette, private secretary to Davison in his job as secretary of the International Association of Machinists.

Mrs. Robinette, a Government witness, testified that on November 15, 1935, three days before Davison filed his bankruptcy petition, she received a check for $387.61, covering Davison's salary and expenses for the first two weeks of November.

This check, she said, was placed in a safe to which she alone knew the combination.

Earlier in the day, the Government presented evidence intended to show that Davison had attempted to conceal assets by transferring a savings account to his wife and daughter.

W. E. Willin, assistant general secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Machinists, told the court that Davison was paid an annual salary of $6,500 by the organization.

Comedy Play Presented.

Special Dispatch to The Post.
Frostburg, Md., March 23.—Amy Pollock, of Mount Savage, Md., portrayed the leading role in "The Patsy," a comedy in three acts, the annual production of the Little Theatre, presented tonight at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Do Not Neglect Arthritis

Thousands suffering from arthritic pains have found help in Mountain Valley Mineral Water, direct from famous Hot Springs, Arkansas. Mildly alkaline. Deeply satisfying. Endorsed by physicians for over 30 years. Phone ME. 1062 for booklet.

Mountain Valley Mineral Water
ME. 1062 1405 K St. N.W.

Formal Attire
FOR RENT
Latest Styles
Complete
Accessories
ALL SIZES
W. STEIN & CO.
2114 L St. N.W.
Al. Corb. Ave.
NA. 2435

WINSLOW PAINTS

Under our Financing Plan you will not need any ready money to do the spring painting.
922 N. Y. Ave. NATIONAL 8610

Lozette
THE RETAIL DRUG STORE
801 14th N.W. 1200 P St. N.W.
1714 L St. N.W. 2114 P St. N.W.
1200 L St. N.W. 1405 K St. N.W.

Lansburgh's

SPRING SALE OF GABARDINE SUITS

$25

We'd never in the world be able to give you a suit value like this if we hadn't planned it six months ago! In fact after this advance sale they'll be marked up to a higher price... the price you expect to pay for suits like these! Tailored like Bond Street, London... of a fine quality Gabardine that drapes magnificently and holds a press like no other fabric does. Single and double breasted models in the new greys, browns, tans, blues and greens for 1937.

THREE WAYS TO PAY

- 1 Use your regular Lansburgh charge account.
- 2 Use our convenient Will Call Plan.
- 3 A deposit, with balance over an extended time, plus small carrying charges.

Men's Clothing Dept.—Street Floor.

Only a pair of hands but insured for a million

Can't drive nails...work a typewriter...cook or sew. But they can weave magic patterns of melody to delight your ear. Such skill is priceless. We can't play the piano or paint a picture. But we can brew a beer to delight your palate with its distinctive taste, matchless bouquet and unmistakable quality. We not only can, but do, — and you and all the world know its name.

MAKE THIS TEST!

DRINK Budweiser FOR FIVE DAYS
ON THE SIXTH DAY TRY TO DRINK A SWEET BEER. YOU WILL WANT Budweiser's FLAVOR THEREAFTER.

AS YOU LIKE IT
In Bottles In Cans

Budweiser
AMERICA'S SOCIAL COMPANION

Selecting and blending hops blossoms is one phase of brewing that cannot be done by laboratory rule-of-thumb. It is an elusive art that must be learned painstakingly. My grandfather had the gift of judging hops by their aroma—and he schooled my father, who in turn taught my brother and me.

Robert J. Busch
PRESIDENT

ANHEUSER-BUSCH • ST. LOUIS

Order a carton for your home
NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED

Odessa Lady, 5-1 Shot, Wins Tropical Feature Race in Rain

Filly Takes 2d Straight Sprint Test

Miss Apprehend Closes With Rush to Gain Second Money.

Tropical Park, Fla., March 23—Odessa Lady, steady going filly from the Odessa Farms, easily chalked up her second straight triumph in the four furlongs of the fourth race, a test for 2-year-olds that attracted the best field on today's program. With Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, the chestnut daughter of Macaw or Upset-Watcha sped through a driving rain and finished her trip over a sloppy track in 0:48 1/5 to win by three lengths. She was a 5-to-1 shot in the field of five.

W. H. Gallagher's Miss Apprehend closed with a rush to beat Joseph Pepp's favored Sing Low by a half length for the place. Radio Charm and Sherab Jr. completed the field. A steady rain began falling as the first race was decided, but a good sized crowd was on hand by that time. With the sudden change in the condition, late scratches were numerous. Sing Low, who had been the advance favorite for the Odessa Lady race, and Our Ketcham were withdrawn from the original field of seven overnight entries.

Odessa Lady's record at this track should be a perfect one, for in the first of her three local starts she was narrowly beaten because of bad racing luck.

Arcaro had the underrated miles away on her toes from an inside position, but the heavily backed Sing Low was right alongside and remained there to the stretch. Sing Low drew out after straightening out for home. Sing Low weakened enough to let Miss Apprehend steal up on the inside and earn second money. Radio Charm and Sherab Jr. found the pace too swift and were well beaten at the end.

The first purse went to the lightly regarded Justa Play, which survived a blanket battle to win by a head at odds of $2.80 for $2. Hermsita, paying almost 15 to 1 for place, beat Scintilla by a half length for the place with Mandos and King Bee close behind. Justa Play caught Chinese Indian early and, though unable to get clear, held on with fine courage in the returned drive to the wire. The time for the 6 furlongs, made over a good track, was 1:13 flat.

Alice Highland, an improved 3-year-old filly, scored her third straight victory in the 6-furlong second race, in which she was a $4.70 to $2 choice over 11 others of her age. Albert Schmitt had to put up one of his best rides to get the daughter of Kai-Sang first home by a nose in a photo finish. The long shot, Monon Lad, raced head and neck with the crowd and returned the altered a jump from home. Aftermath took the show, three lengths behind. Alice Highland has jumped with better company in each of her winning efforts.

Nigrette, showing excellent fondness for the going, defeated a capacity field of maidens, fillies and mares in the third and returned the long odds of $45.60 for a $2 straight ticket. She got home by two lengths, with Miney leading the highly-favored Proximity 8ths of a horse. Nigrette overtook the fast starting British miss after a quarter mile and opened up a long lead, but Apprentice Barbara rode out the filly when Miney closed ground in the stretch. Proximity barely saved the show from Nancy Mae.

Chartmakers could only distinguish the colors at the start and finish. Veiled Lady, $5.50 favorite, was seen to come from behind Hornet in the stretch. The filly won by a length from Torquil, with Hornet headed out of the place.

Oaklawn Park Entries.

By the Associated Press.

FIRST RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.
1. Marlenee, 110 7/10 1/2
2. Hankin, 110 7/10 1/2
3. Miss Drift, 103 9/10 1/2
4. Star, 103 9/10 1/2
5. Wex, 108 11/10 1/2
6. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2
7. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2
8. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2

SECOND RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 3-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

THIRD RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 3-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

NINTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

TENTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Eleventh RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twelfth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Thirteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Fourteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Fifteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Sixteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Seventeenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Eighteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Nineteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twentieth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-first RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-second RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-third RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-fourth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-fifth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-sixth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-seventh RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-eighth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-ninth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Thirtieth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Lead First Day's Play in North-South Open Golf

By the Associated Press.

Horton Smith (left) and Denny Shute, whose 5-under-par rounds paced a field of 120 golfers in the thirty-sixth renewal of the historic Pinehurst tournament yesterday.

A steady rain began falling as the first race was decided, but a good sized crowd was on hand by that time. With the sudden change in the condition, late scratches were numerous. Sing Low, who had been the advance favorite for the Odessa Lady race, and Our Ketcham were withdrawn from the original field of seven overnight entries.

Odessa Lady's record at this track should be a perfect one, for in the first of her three local starts she was narrowly beaten because of bad racing luck.

Arcaro had the underrated miles away on her toes from an inside position, but the heavily backed Sing Low was right alongside and remained there to the stretch. Sing Low drew out after straightening out for home. Sing Low weakened enough to let Miss Apprehend steal up on the inside and earn second money. Radio Charm and Sherab Jr. found the pace too swift and were well beaten at the end.

The first purse went to the lightly regarded Justa Play, which survived a blanket battle to win by a head at odds of $2.80 for $2. Hermsita, paying almost 15 to 1 for place, beat Scintilla by a half length for the place with Mandos and King Bee close behind. Justa Play caught Chinese Indian early and, though unable to get clear, held on with fine courage in the returned drive to the wire. The time for the 6 furlongs, made over a good track, was 1:13 flat.

Alice Highland, an improved 3-year-old filly, scored her third straight victory in the 6-furlong second race, in which she was a $4.70 to $2 choice over 11 others of her age. Albert Schmitt had to put up one of his best rides to get the daughter of Kai-Sang first home by a nose in a photo finish. The long shot, Monon Lad, raced head and neck with the crowd and returned the altered a jump from home. Aftermath took the show, three lengths behind. Alice Highland has jumped with better company in each of her winning efforts.

Nigrette, showing excellent fondness for the going, defeated a capacity field of maidens, fillies and mares in the third and returned the long odds of $45.60 for a $2 straight ticket. She got home by two lengths, with Miney leading the highly-favored Proximity 8ths of a horse. Nigrette overtook the fast starting British miss after a quarter mile and opened up a long lead, but Apprentice Barbara rode out the filly when Miney closed ground in the stretch. Proximity barely saved the show from Nancy Mae.

Chartmakers could only distinguish the colors at the start and finish. Veiled Lady, $5.50 favorite, was seen to come from behind Hornet in the stretch. The filly won by a length from Torquil, with Hornet headed out of the place.

Oaklawn Park Entries.
By the Associated Press.

FIRST RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.
1. Marlenee, 110 7/10 1/2
2. Hankin, 110 7/10 1/2
3. Miss Drift, 103 9/10 1/2
4. Star, 103 9/10 1/2
5. Wex, 108 11/10 1/2
6. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2
7. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2
8. Main Event, 108 11/10 1/2

SECOND RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 3-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

THIRD RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 3-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

FOURTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

FIFTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

SIXTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

SEVENTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

EIGHTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

NINTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

TENTH RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Eleventh RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twelfth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Thirteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Fourteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Fifteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Sixteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Seventeenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Eighteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Nineteenth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twentieth RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-first RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-second RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/2
5. Wex, 114 1/2
6. Wex, 114 1/2
7. Wex, 114 1/2
8. Wex, 114 1/2

Twenty-third RACE—Oaklawn course; purse, $600; claiming; for 2-year-olds.
1. Betty Affin, 114 1/2
2. Miss Pity, 114 1/2
3. Chet, 114 1/2
4. Wex, 114 1/

Braddock May Go Fightless as Slim is Seeks $10 Price Limit

Lakeland, Fla. "What, again?" That was the reaction of Joe Engel, foreman of the Nats' farm system, as he learned that Cliff Bolton had jumped the Washington club without notice and apparently returned to his high point, N. C. home.

"That makes four times for Bolton," said Engel. "He's no ball player, he's a homeing pigeon. He quit me in Chattanooga and this makes twice he's jumped the Washington team. Twice I've had to go up there in the mountains and bring him to his senses. I've handled home dillies in my day, but he's the prize."

"One year I found him up there at Muletown, near High Point, saying he was in the grocery business and that he was through with baseball. Why, he didn't have enough groceries in that thing he called a store to keep me from starving over the week-end. He was around there in hunting boots, oiling up his gun and ready to take off for the woods when I arrived."

"I told Cliff he was a fool—that he was making $1,000 a month in baseball and that he couldn't make $1,000 in two years with that little business of his. He said well he guessed I was right, maybe. But he had been a little homesick. He got on the train with me, boots, gun and all, and came back to Chattanooga to lead the Southern Association in hitting."

The guy must be a queer fellow. When he quit the Washington club last August with six weeks of the season to play, he turned his back on $1,400 in salary that would have been coming if he had played the season out. But he heard the call of the wild, or something, and he kissed off the dough and made his way back to the mountains.

So Clark Griffith, owner of the Nats, who knows the story of Bolton, is not subscribing to the belief that the stocky little catcher quit the team because his ailing arm and shoulder were wracked with pain and because he may never have fully recovered from the shaking up that Tony Piet gave him at the White Sox park last year when Piet came into the plate with knees high and knocked Bolton sprawling 20 feet away.

"Bolton's too husky a fellow to be hurt by anything like that. No, sir. He quit because he's just naturally a screwball. And it didn't help him when Shanty Hogan started reducing and began to shove him out of his first-string catching job. If you want my opinion, Hogan chased him out of camp. Bolton couldn't take it."

And then the silver-haired Nats' owner reflected that Bolton, who had been at Chicago, "Cliff did get hurt bad, I guess," he said. "That Piet didn't have any reason to come into the plate the way he did, with that defenseless. But if Cliff was a fighter, he'd want the chance to get back in there against Piet."

"There's plenty of ways for a catcher to get back at a baserunner who roughs it; you bet there is," added Griffith, and in his mind's eye he undoubtedly saw again the days of that rough-and-ready era of baseball in which he himself was a figure when glistering spikes rode high and the field was a veritable battleground.

"You know what our catchers used to do back in the old days when they got the works from some base-runner. They didn't bother to punch him in the nose and perhaps they'd have to wait too long to give him the knee the next time he slid in. They had another way of getting even."

"They'd wait until the fellow came to bat, and then they'd square themselves. It was the easiest thing in the world for a catcher to take the pitch, step back and try a throw to second base. If the throw was off line and the batter's head happened to get in the way of the ball, well, that was too bad. But the catcher was even."

The first season that Bolton was with Engel at Chattanooga, the latter realized that he had a bad actor on his hands. Violation of training rules had placed Bolton under suspicion and thus it was that Engel was hoping mad one day when the irate proprietor of an eating place on Lee's Island in the Potomac had phoned him that some of his ball players had engaged in a general fight with some patrons and smashed all the windows in the joint.

"I figured Bolton was probably mixed up in it, and I was going to slap a heavy fine on him. But I learned that another player, a fellow named Treadway, who died recently, was the ringleader."

"I caught Treadway in the dressing room. He told me he didn't start the fight, but I fined him $100 just the same. Then I saw Bolton."

"They started it, Joe," Bolton told me, "but I didn't hit anybody, honest."

"I didn't know whether to believe Bolton or not, but I was still sore at him and wanted to fine him bad. Finally, I thought up an excuse. So, you didn't hit anybody, eh, Cliff? Well, I'm fining you $150 for not helping Treadway."

Schmeling Offer Also Withdrawn

Promoter Says Fight Is Off if Measure Goes Into Effect.

If both Max Schmeling and the Illinois Assembly yesterday meant business, aloof Messrs. Braddock and Gould may find themselves out of business.

A few hours after Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock spurned the German challenger's final offer of $350,000 for a fight this spring in Berlin, the Illinois Legislature threw a body blow at the champ's forthcoming fight with Joe Louis in the form of a bill passed by the Senate yesterday to put a $10 maximum on fight seat tickets.

Enactment of that measure would: 1. Slice the gate far below the anticipated $1,100,000; and Braddock and Gould would be happily hoped for $400,000, and thus: 2. Kill the fight altogether.

Said Joe Foley, promoter of the affair, when he learned of the action: "If the Houses passes that bill and it becomes law with the Governor's signature, there will be no fight."

And if Max Schmeling meant it when he said his offer expired for good and for all at noon yesterday, then Joe Foley's words will be only too starkly true for J. Braddock. Esq. champion without a meal ticket.

The situation, should it develop as outlined, would be a veritable irony, since the champion and his manager, like the dog with the bone, dropped the sure bout they had with Schmeling to grasp at a more active measure.

The Illinois measure, sponsored by Senator Joseph Mendel (Democrat), Chicago, was passed, 36 to 0, following discussions in which charges were made that legislators were trying to "shake down" the fight promoter for free tickets.

Foley has scaled ticket prices from $2.20 to $27.50, for a possible $1,100,000 gate, for 80,000 persons.

New York, March 23.—Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock wasn't in a receptive mood today. Through his manager, Joe Gould, the titleholder definitely rejected Max Schmeling's $350,000 offer for a fight in Berlin. Meantime, Gould on a court order in Miami, Fla., Braddock was disclosed by his manager to be secretly en route to Chicago, where the champion plans to fight Joe Louis on June 22 in spite of all attempts to frustrate this objective.

The Berlin fight offer, understood to have bona fide backing from the Hitler government, disappeared when it came. Schmeling announced it was withdrawn when the time limit expired, at noon, without any further show of interest by Gould or Braddock. The German, who had been looking the outside looking in, leaves for home tomorrow.

Braddock eliminated any doubt as to his foot on the ground with which he side-stepped a series of Circuit Court orders in Miami. The order was obtained by an attorney representing the Garden and designed to compel Braddock to show why he should not be legally restrained from leaving the country. Braddock, without first fulfilling his contract to meet Schmeling in New York, under the Garden's direction, June 3.

The champion vanished from Miami just before the time offer was seeking to serve him. First reported heading for New York, where the Garden's legal agents would have formed a welcoming committee, it developed later, according to Gould, that Braddock is on his way to Chicago.

"Braddock never ran away from nothing," shouted Gould. "He's just going to the scene of action. That's all I've got to say except it looks like we outpointed the Garden in the first round."

Gould and Mike Jacobs, New York promoter who engineered the Braddock-Louis arrangements for Chicago, plan to join the champion in the fight. Jacobs, who has been intimating today he expects a quick show-down. He reiterated his confidence that nothing can stop the Chicago bout.

Illinois Limits Fight Tickets to $10 Top

Springfield, Ill., March 23 (AP).—A new obstacle in the way of the scheduled heavyweight championship fight at Chicago between James J. Braddock and Joe Louis loomed tonight when the Senate of the State General Assembly unanimously passed a bill to limit the price of tickets to the bout to $10.

Want Baseball Game.

Kappa Sigma fraternity's baseball club is seeking a game with a strong unlimited team for Saturday afternoon. They have a field. Call North 9047.

Jock Sutherland to Speak at Catholic U. Sports Banquet

Time Out! By Chet Smith

Must be the Phils at bat—nobody's on base!

Cambridge Is Choice in Oar Classic

Putney, England, March 23.—With a former Harvard student, T. H. Hunter, as coxswain, Cambridge's Light Blues are expected to add another victory to their sequence of triumphs over Oxford tomorrow when they meet on the historic Thames in their annual boat race.

Not for the last 13 years and only once since 1914 has the Oxford crew been in front at the end of the 4 1/2 miles row on the tidal waters from Putney to Mortlake. Tomorrow is expected to be no exception, although the Dark Blues will have a decided weight advantage and have broken two records during the ten-week training period.

The race is scheduled to start at 11:30 a. m. (6:30 a. m. E. S. T.) and end some 20 minutes later. Cambridge holds the course record of 18:03, set in 1934.

J. C. C. Stars Win In Handball Play

Jack Schwartz and Sam Shmukler, Jewish Community Center stars, advanced to the singles and doubles of the District of Columbia A. U. four-wall handball championships at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Schwartz (J. C. C.) defeated Moore (Y. M. C. A.) 21-10. Shmukler (J. C. C.) defeated Pines (Y. M. C. A.) 21-10. Schwartz (J. C. C.) defeated Pines (Y. M. C. A.) 21-10. Shmukler (J. C. C.) defeated Pines (Y. M. C. A.) 21-10.

Fight Results

At New York—Lew Raymond, 141 (Baltimore), defeated Johnny Bonito (New York), 135, over eight rounds.

Flint, Mich.—Lou Ambers, of New York, world lightweight champion, easily outpointed Roger Bernard, of Flint, in a ten-round bout here tonight.

Hockey Scores

Philadelphia, 5; New York Revs, 1 (exhibition).

Montreal Maroons, 4; Boston, 1 (play-off).

Red Wings, 4; Montreal Canadiens, 0 (play-off).

New York Rangers, 3; Toronto, 0 (play-off).

Springfield, 1; Providence, 0 (play-off).

Wrestling Results

At New York, Chief Little Wolf, 218 (Chicago), threw Mike Masurki, 228 (New York), in 25 minutes, 2 seconds.

G. W. in Debut With Buckeye Nine Friday

Slim and swarthy Vince DeAngelis, a veteran of two years' experience, and youthful Bill Lanier, a rookie, will handle the pitching against Ohio State. The East Elise diamond will be the scene of hostilities.

Coach Ed Morris hopes both will not have to be used in the curtain raiser, however, for he would like to have one available to shoot against the Buckeyes in the second game of the series Saturday. But if Ohio displays unusual slick play, he will have to use both.

Rookies Star As Nats Defeat Detroit 7 to 2

Travis' Triple With Bases Full Wins; Cohen and Lanahan Look Good.

Continued from Page 19.

first pitch for a triple to center and Pete Fox bashing Cohen's second pitch for a triple to right. Walker trotted across the plate, but Fox was too ambitious. Rounding third he started for home, realized his mistake, dashed back toward third and was run down by Shanty Hogan, who had taken the relay from the outfield.

After that they could get to first base against Cohen, but no farther. Sydney was pitching himself right into a starting role with the Nats when the regular season begins.

Washington bounced onto a 2-1 lead in the second inning when young Logan, a prize rookie from Indianapolis, apparently was upset by singles off the bats of Stone and Sington, who led off the inning. He wild-pitched one run home, walked two batters and saw a second run score while Shanty Hogan was hitting into a double play.

They upped it to 3-1 in the fourth without much trouble. It was done very passively in fact. Sington drew a walk, Stone singled to center, Sullivan walked Travis and Mihalic scored Sington with a single over second.

Those three Washington runs in the fifth resulted from a bit of incongruous collaboration by Sullivan and Cecil Travis. With two out the Tiger pitcher put Kugel, Sington and Stone on base with walks and Travis took over from that point. He took a lousy swing and three bases on his line drive to left center and the Nats took three more runs.

The Nats' no sense describing how the Nats scored another run in the seventh or how the Tigers got one back off Lanahan in the eighth. Really, you would not be interested.

The Nats face another battle with the Cards tomorrow at Daytona Beach.

Unbeaten since they lost their opening exhibition game to the Giants, the Nats have to their credit an incongruous collaboration by Sullivan and Cecil Travis. With two out the Tiger pitcher put Kugel, Sington and Stone on base with walks and Travis took over from that point. He took a lousy swing and three bases on his line drive to left center and the Nats took three more runs.

Mader Faces Williams in Arena Feature

Goldie Ahearn, Turner's Arena matchmaker, yesterday signed Hobbs Williams and Eddie Mader for a return match in the feature of next Monday night's fight card at the Arena. Mader, an 8-to-5 favorite, was held to a draw in their last fight.

Local fight lovers will see the first nine-round fight feature in the history of local boxing as a result of a compromise reached by Ahearn.

Mader, through his manager, Mac Herbert, demanded a 10-round bout, but Williams was just as insistent on fighting, but eight stanzas. After several long distance phone calls, Ahearn settled the difference by the unique nine-round distance.

Ugly Duckling Mihalic Is Now A Real Threat for Myer's Job

Special Dispatch to The Post.

Orlando, Fla., March 23.—Swarthy little Johnny Mihalic, whose presence in the Washington infield last season was more tolerated than demanded, is blossoming as a distinct threat to Buddy Myer's second base job.

In the month that has passed since the Nats pitched camp here, Mihalic has been haunted by the failure of Buddy Myer to round into playing form—and delighted with the performance of his young understudy.

Publicly the Nats' bosses make light of Myer's absence from the training games (he's appeared in only one of the Nats' seven), but privately they are concerned.

Myer, the batting champion of 1935 and popularly recognized as one of the great second basemen of baseball, was useless to the team last year when he was suffering with a stomach ailment. Here at Orlando his trouble has been wrenched neck muscles. But his dash and zip are still missing.

As the only other second baseman in camp, Mihalic took over Myer's duties. And like an opportunist he has proceeded to make the best of them. The little Slovenian, who like his fellow Slav on the Washington club, Joe Kugel, sprung from the Cleveland Ashtabula, has beat out a veritable drumfire of hits with his bat, and his fielding has been flawless.

Mihalic's hitting has, in fact, been the training season feature of the Washington club. In 15 times at bat he has whacked out 7 hits, all solid blows, and in at least 4 other instances superior fielding cheated him of safeties.

Harris is ready to accept Mihalic's performances here as his true worth, willingly dismissing the fellow's showing with the Nats last year, when he batted only 238.

"He was dog-tired after that long season in the hot Southern League," said the Nats' manager. "It's easy to see that he's clever around that bag—one of the best men on double plays I ever did see—and he looks like a hitter, too."

JOCK SUTHERLAND.

Nau, Court Ace, Takes Bride, Quits at G. U.

By John R. Vosburgh.

The secret marriage of Louis H. (Buddy) Nau, Georgetown University basketball star, to 18-year-old Mary Angela Regan was cautiously admitted last night by the modest bridegroom. Nau, one of the finest athletes ever turned out by Central High School, said he has left Georgetown and is working.

The 23-year-old former all-high baseball and basketball sensation declined further enlightenment on the subject.

"I don't know what my wife would say," he said. "She isn't here now."

Nau said he couldn't remember the name of the person who married them and would only add that the ceremony took place about a month ago. Shortly before his departure North on a basketball trip with the Georgetown team in early February, the athlete took up a marriage license in Upper Marlboro, Md.

His bride's residence was listed as 1948 Clifton street northwest. Nau said he is living at home at the present time. He preferred not to say where he is working until he has talked with Mrs. Nau.

Mrs. Nau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy P. Regan, informed some time ago that Mary Angela Regan and Nau had taken out a marriage license, refused to comment. Nau's people likewise have been uncommunicative.

Before entering Georgetown in the fall of 1934, Nau was a stand-out in high school ranks. In 1934 he was voted the finest player in the South Atlantic interscholastic tournament at Washington and Lee University.

Nau said he does not intend to go back to college.

Freshman Golf Team To Represent G. W. U.

George Washington University will send candidates for a freshman golf team in the gym at 3:30 p. m. today. Roger Squitieri, former assistant pro at the Mowhawk C. C. in Schenectady, N. Y., will handle linksmen.

Genial Scot Is Leading Grid Mentor

Is Popular as Speaker; Has Had Long and Colorful Career.

By Lewis F. Atchison.

Officials in charge of Catholic University's annual spring sports banquet, May 1, placed the ball in scoring position last night when they obtained Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, head coach of football at the University of Pittsburgh, as the principal speaker of the evening. The Wiley Scot, who is as much at home at the festive board as on the gridiron, will deliver the only address of a brief but entertaining program.

Recognized as one of the game's outstanding strategists, and in the matter of cold figures the Nation's leading coach, Sutherland's popularity as an after-dinner speaker is exceeded only by his coaching prowess. His native wit and personality augur well for an entertaining evening.

Sutherland's recent tiff with Don Harrison, which resulted in the latter's resignation as director of athletics at Pittsburgh after he had prophesied he would "break" the coach, is eloquent testimony to his popularity in the Smoky City. Civic leaders and organizations arose en masse against Sutherland's dismissal. If any had to go it must be Harrison, they decreed, and go he did.

The tall Scot with the military bearing is as much a part of Pitt as vine-covered Thaw hall, having been at the school since 1915 with the exception of a brief interruption of four years occasioned by graduation, the war, and his first collegiate coaching assignment. Sutherland played guard on "Pop" Warner's immortal teams of 1915, '16 and '17, and still is considered the greatest guard ever developed at the school.

Started in Army.

During the one year he served under the flag in the Medical Corps, he was stationed at Camp Greenleaf, South Carolina, where he was inducted into the fascinating business of coaching. His team won the Army Championship of the South in 1918.

Mustered out of service he immediately signed to coach Lafayette College, remaining there three years, during which time his teams won 33 games and lost 8, including two victories over his alma mater, the Philadelphia A's; Bob Duffy and Frank Schwartz, are the stars best remembered whom he developed.

There, his 1921 eleven was recognized as the undisputed national champion. Sutherland took up the reins at Pittsburgh the following year, beginning a long and glamorous career that thus far has brought the Panthers 104 victories against 13 defeats. Minnesota is the only team holding an edge in games on Pitt, having a margin of two victories on the Panthers.

Some of the stars discovered by Sutherland were Bill Kern, head coach at Carnegie Tech, and his assistant, "Muggsy" Skladany; Harvey Harmon, head coach at Penn; Mike Getto, Joe Donchess, Ed Hersberg, Andy Gustafson, Howard O'Dell and Ed Baker.

Born in Scotland, the amiable mentor returns to his native land each summer for a vacation with his aged mother.

College Scores.

Ohio State, 11; Wash. and Lee, 7. Virginia Tech, 5; Drexel, 1.

Midgets Seek Sponsors.

Manager Kenny Randall, of the Pop Boy Midgets, runner-up to the city midget champions last year, is seeking a sponsor for his team this year. Call Adams 3091.

BIT O' KENTUCKY
2 1/2 Years Old $1.75
100 Proof
Straight Kentucky
Sold Only at Full Quart
Milestone's Acme Liquor Store
927 Penna. Ave. N.W.

Take Care of That Cold at RIGGS TURKISH BATHS
15th & G Sts. N.W.

Here's a Treat!
SCHENLEY'S Golden Wedding RYE
BLENDED STRAIGHT WHISKIES
Three choice whiskies expertly blended to give you this really fine whiskey, 90 proof. Also available in BOURBON.
Copyright 1937, J. O. S. & F. CO., INC., SCHENLEY, PA.

LET THE TELEPHONE BE YOUR Easter Errand Boy

AUTO RADIOS REPAIRED BY Experts

Let us recommend your auto radio or home set. We specialize on Smith, Philco, Motorola and other makes. Prompt service and reasonable cost.

ZENITH RADIO HEADQUARTERS
LEETH BROS.
1220 13TH ST. N.W. MET. 0764
RADIOS • BATTERIES • TUBES

Curb Market Recovers Part Of Lost Ground

[illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible][illegible]

Baltimore, Md. March 23—Midland—	Yellow Task	12	13	Offered	Rate	Maturity	100	32-32	Ones
Receipts for the past week were 14 1/2	Thompson	12	13		31	Sept. 18, 1937	101	16-32	101 18-32 and sales 52 1/2 head. The market	Switzer	12	13		31	Sept. 18, 1937	101	16-32	101 18-32
dull, with little change in prices.	Butler	16	16		31	Mar. 15, 1938	102	14-32	102 16-32
Stock Jan. 1—1000. No conscript. 3944	Switzer	16	16		31	Mar. 15, 1938	102	14-32	102 16-32
common. 4410; medium. 10630; good to	Butler	25	27		31	Sept. 15, 1938	102	18-32	102 20-32
poor. 26640.	Switzer	25	27		31	Sept. 15, 1938	102	18-32	102 20-32
12—Common. 2415; medium. 76	Butler	13	13		31	June 15, 1939	102	1-32	102 1-32
poor. 30 to fine. 10000.	Switzer	13	13		31	June 15, 1939	102	1-32	102 1-32
N. B.—Unsound and badly mixed	Edison	117	119		31	Mar. 15, 1940	103	1-32	103 1-32
packs from 1000 to 10000.	Switzer	118	119		31	Mar. 15, 1940	103	1-32	103 1-32
Stock in Warehouses	Public Service $100 par	118	119		31	Dec. 19, 1940	104	1-32	104 1-32
Stock Jan. 1—23,939	Quaker	14	14		31	Mar. 15, 1941	99	27-32	99 27-32
Receipts since..... 29,339	Quaker preferred	24	24		31	Mar. 15, 1941	99	27-32	99 27-32
Stock Jan. 1—29,339	Borg-Warner	78	78		31	Dec. 15, 1941	98	28-32	98 28-32
Receipts since..... 36,429	Dr. L. M. Drake & Dredge	21	22		31
Delivered since..... 11,362		11	11		31
Stock Jan. 1—11,373

Stocks today	10,058	88	10.14	Electric Household	8%	8%	(Reported by Robert C. Jones & Co., Inc.)
This week	93	83	10.43	C. T. L.	28	33	Bid. Asked
Previously	544	54	8.71	C. T. L.	28	33
Totals	10,696	137	8.87
Grand Total	10,696	137	8.87

4% Mar. 1934-38	103%	103%	Movement has not been broad but the volume was better than for a month or longer.	Opp. Bell Tel. Co. 1934-38	100%	101%
4% Mar. 1935-38	103%	100%		Wabash Paper Co. 1934-38	100%	99%
4% November, 1935-38	104	100%		Warner Bros. Corp.	97	97
				West Union Tel. Co.	102%	103%

Straight Three-Year Loans which can be converted into monthly payment loans at any time without expense.

EQUITABLE LIFE INSURANCE

Y. Curb Stock Transactions

The Daily Legal Record

Daily Cross Word Puzzle

Table with 3 columns: Stock Name, Price, and Change. Includes various stocks like A. & W. Co., A. & W. Co., etc.

Curb Bonds

Table with 3 columns: Bond Name, Price, and Change. Includes various bonds like U.S. Gov. Bonds, etc.

Transfers

Transfers section containing various legal notices and court orders regarding property transfers and legal proceedings.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage Licenses section listing various couples who have obtained marriage licenses, including names and locations.

Deaths

Deaths section reporting on various deaths, including names, ages, and funeral arrangements.

Funeral Notices

Funeral Notices section providing details of upcoming funerals, including dates, times, and locations.

Vital Statistics

Table with 3 columns: Category, Count, and Percentage. Includes statistics on births, deaths, and marriages.

THE SMARTEST THING TO DO

Advertisement for Chambers Funeral Home, featuring the slogan 'THE SMARTEST THING TO DO' and listing services offered.

CHAMBERS HAS GOT IT!

Advertisement for Chambers Funeral Home, emphasizing their services and providing contact information.

LOOK AT THIS ONE

Advertisement for Chambers Funeral Home, highlighting their complete funeral services.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Advertisement for James T. Ryan, a funeral director, listing services and contact details.

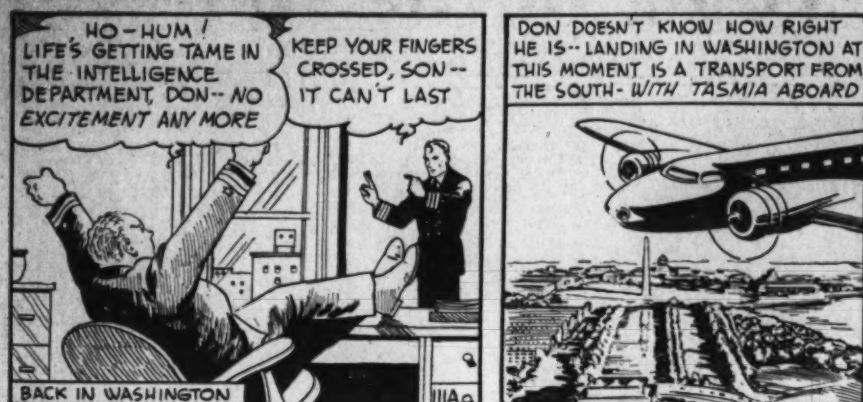

WE HAVE OTHERS

Advertisement for Chambers Funeral Home, stating they have other services available.

ONE OF THE LARGEST UNDERTAKERS IN THE WORLD

Advertisement for Chambers Funeral Home, claiming to be one of the largest undertakers in the world.

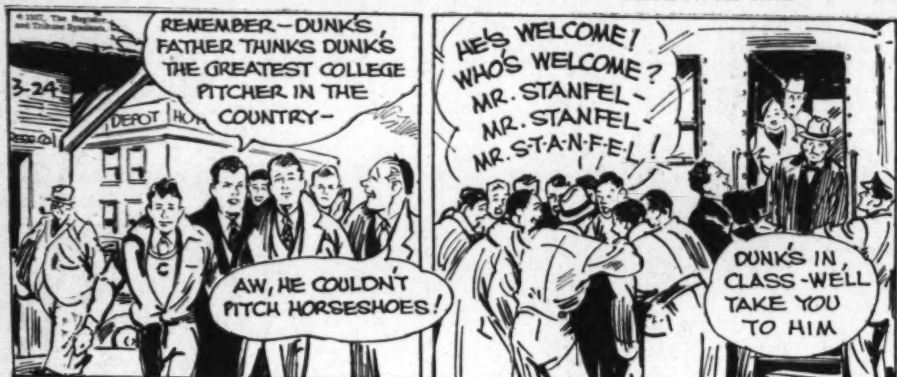

DON WINSLOW OF THE NAVY The New Neighbor By Frank V. Martinek

NED BRANT--A Story of College Athletics

By Bob Zuppke

Famous Football Coach.

Apple Mary

By Martha Orr

JANE ARDEN

Mutual Recognition

By Monte Barrett and Russell Ross

THE G-MAN!

BY GEORGE CLARK AND LOU HANLON

BIG CHIEF WAHOO

By Saunders and Woggon

LALA PALOOZA

She Goes on a Tear

By Rube Goldberg

MICKEY FINN

By Lank Leonard

DIXIE DUGAN

A Serious Dixie

By J. P. McEvoy and H. J. Striebel

JOE PALOOKA

An' Don't Dare Come Back!

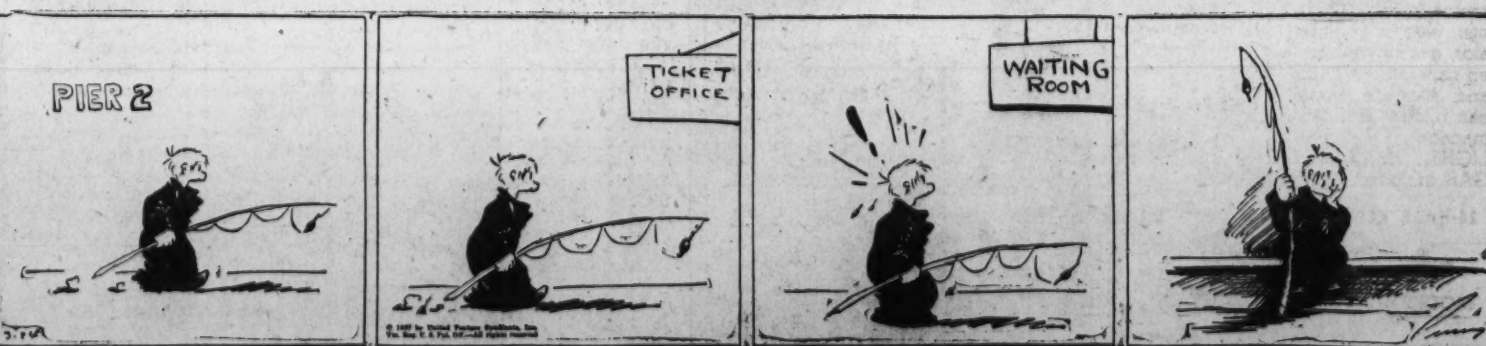

By Ham Fisher

BENNY

Just Waiting

By J. Carver Pusey

These Features, Every Sunday, in Section Seven

of The Washington Post

Nelson Bell's Theatrical Review of the Week
This Week and Next Week at Downtown Theaters
Week's Film Bills at all Residential Theaters
Chess - Bridge - Radio - Music - Art - Stamps

Order Your Sunday Washington Post Home-Delivered Today!

orning".

Post Classified Ads—National 4200.

Auto—Automobiles 95

YMOUIN-1934 Coupe, special series; 239. Just traded in: it's flawless; try and then swap price anywhere! we have $125; only $4 down, 14 mos. wk. 41 Water st. Sw. Open till 9 p. m.

YMOUTH (X) 1935 Sport Coupe. Beautiful original maroon finish, floating power, exceptionally clean inside and out. Our price, $445.

W. M. BRACH, L. F. STEUART, INC.
41 12th St. N.E. AT 6260.

YNTIAC (X) 1934 4-door Touring Sedan, beautiful gray Duo finish; very large, roomy trunk; spotless mohair upholstery;

1936 Fisher body. Our price. $3985.
 W. R. BRANCH L. P. STEUART, INC.
 41 12th St. N.E. AT. 6200.

NTIAC (X) 1935 "6" 4-door Radio Sedan. No matter where you live it will be worth your while to see this black beauty: knee action; no-draft ventilation; amous Fisher body. Price only $519.
 W. R. BRANCH L. P. STEUART, INC.
 41 12th St. N.E. AT. 6200.

NTIAC—1931 De Luxe Sedan: wire wheels; "Silver Flash" motor; very best condition; sacrifice. $119: terms, only $19 down. Evans-Palmer, N. Y., and its agents.

NTIAUC (X) 1936 "8" 4-door Touring Sedan. Beautiful Duco finish. Three to four hours min. These cars have been used as demonstrators by officials of this company. New-car guarantee and terms to suit. Use your car as the down payment. These cars have been used very little. All have very low mileage. See them now before it's too late.
J.E. BRANCH L. P. STEUART, INC.
41 12th St. N.E. AT. 6200.

3126 1/2 way finish. Turret top, no-draft
 Fisher ventilation. New-car guarantees.
 1/2 draft, 1/2 reduction.
 W. E. BRANCH & P. STEUART, INC.
 4121 13th St. N.E. AT. 6200.

UDEBAKER—1936 Dictator Custom coupe, $625. Alber & McNeill, Inc. 1418
 St. NW. DE. 1447.

ERRAPLANE $250
 1933 2-door Sedan. The "fella" who buys this car is going to be a bit proud of its "good looks"—a bit boastful of its fine performance and he's going to be tickled with the low price.

RICE MOTOR CO.
Hudson-Terraplane Dealer.
423 Irving St. N.W. COL. 10324.

5TH ANNIVERSARY SALE Used Cars.
URISMAN CHEVROLET CO. 625 H St.
e. and 14th at F st. n.w.

For Better Used Cars See
WALLACE MOTOR CO.
328 14th St. N.W. POL. 3900

STANLEY H. FORNER, INC.
Used Car Department.
14th St. N.W. and 1529 14th St. N.W.

USED CARS AT LOWEST PRICES.

ar reduced. Wolfe Motor Co., 8617
 Georgia ave. SH. 3400.
 2 Big Bargain Lots.
 COAST-IN, INC.
 h & Fla. Ave. N.E. 1355 Conn. Ave.
 Talk of the Town
 Our Used Car Values.
LUSTINE-NICHOLSON,
 yattsville, Md. GS. 2209.

1935 Ford
De Luxe Coach
With Trunk $395

Gunmetal gray finish that has not a scratch. Broadcloth upholstery; tires, battery and motor like new.

L. P. Stewart, Inc.

1935 FORD CO. N.Y. N.Y. 10009

Open Evenings

GUARANTEED
"OK" VALUES

'36 Chev. Mas. D.L. Sed.	$195
'36 Chevrolet Coach....	$489
'36 Ford Tudor	$465

35 Chev. Max. D.L. Spt.
Sed., R.I. Trunk and Radio.....$465
'23 Chev. Contr. Coupe.....$295
'34 Plymouth Sedan.....$265
'33 Ford Tador.....$195
Addison Chevrolet
1437 Irving St. N.W.
ADams 5411

1933 Plymouth
PD Coach
$295

Famous hydraulic brakes. Brand new dark blue finish with black trim. Motor has just been re-conditioned in our modern plant. See this car today.

L. P. Steuart, Inc.
1325 14th St. N.W. DE. 4803

PLYMOUTH $75 Down
25 Or your old car
monthly as down payment

TWO 1937 DEMONSTRATORS

Luxe 4-Door Touring Sedans with, in-trunk (one gunmetal, one black), all-steel body, hydraulic brakes, safety glass. New car guarantee, easily reduced.

SMOOT MOTOR CO.
 Chrysler-Buick-DeSoto

2 M. St. N.W. WEST 1830
 30 Wisconsin Ave. N.W. WEST 1832
 36 N. Moore St. (Rosslyn) WEST 1845

1935 Chevrolet
 Coach
$479

Beautiful black duco finish. no draft ventilation; spotless mohair upholstery. This car absolutely looks and runs like new.

L. P. Steuart, Inc.
1325 14th St. N.W. DE. 4803
Open Evenings

To Trucks & Tractors 99

EVROLET—1934 Dump Truck. This truck has been reconditioned in our modern plant and ready to go to work. The price has been reduced to $435 for cash sale.

ANACOSTIA MOTORS.
5 Good Hope Rd. SE. LI. 2077.

EVROLET $485
6 1/2-ton Panel; less than 10,000 miles; clean blue finish with black fenders and wheels; good tires; mechanically

TRUCKS

- '36 Chev. Cab & Chassis $495
- '35 Chevrolet Dump...$525
- '35 Ford De Luxe Panel $345

'34 Dodge D. L. Panel.....$315
'33 G.M.C. Cab. Chassis.
 Air Brakes.....$325
'32 Chevrolet Panel.....$135
'31 Ford 1½-Ton Panel.....$165

Addison Chevrolet
1437 Irving St. N.W.
ADams 5411

YOUTH!

the dream of every woman — for every woman, regardless of age as expressed in

Coat and Dress ENSEMBLES

Fashion this spring has done away with middle age! Every woman is young — and finds her youth expressed in clothes so skillfully designed that they're as becoming to what we used to call a "settled matron" as they are to a debutante! And because youth is always on the go, The Hecht Co. makes a specialty of coat-and-dress ensembles that are equal to anything. They're those sparkling clothes that are equal to any occasion! Take the printed dress with the cape — morning, noon or night, it's young and flattering for every occasion. Take the printed redingote over the printed dress — there isn't an hour of the day that this young ensemble isn't primed for action. We've scores of these coat-and-dress ensembles — and it's a real thrill to discover that so little money can buy so much fashion-rightness!

Yes! Sizes for women as well as juniors and misses!

$19.95

$12.95

Sheer crepe ensemble from the Young Washingtonian Shop. The shoulder cape is lined in print and the dress has a giraffe and bow of the same print. In navy or black. Sizes 11 to 17.

$19.95

Flower printed dress with wool coat for little women. Note the new lower neckline accented with a rhinestone clip. From the Better Dress Shop in sizes 16½ to 24½.

See these and other authentic new fashions in our F and 7th Street Windows.

$19.95

(Right) Spaced flower print dress with field flowers at the throat — and a squared shoulder cape of sheer navy wool to top it off. From the Better Dress Shop. In sizes 12 to 18.

$19.95

(Far Right) Starfish printed coat over crepe dress in the same young print with novelty white pique. From the Young Washingtonian Shop. Sizes 11 to 17.

THE HECHT CO.

F STREET at SEVENTH

NATIONAL BLDG